LONG SIEGE OF CONVICTS ENDED

FIND PRISONERS KILLED BY FIRE IN STRONGHOLD

Guardsmen Who Storm Prison Mess Hall Discover Bodies of Besieged Men ---Ammunition Exhausted.

(United Press)

EDDYVILLE, Ky., Oct. 6.—The siege of Eddyville prison ended tonight.

National guardsmen, who stormed the mess hall where the three convicts had stood off a small army for four days, found the prisoners had been killed.

Lieutenant Kelly, and Sergeant McCullom were the first to enter the upper story of the building. On the floor near the center of the room sprawled the bodies of Monte Walters, Lawrence Griffith, and Harry Ferland. Walters had been dead several days. The back of his head had been blown off by a hand grenade. The other two died of gun shot wounds.

Prison officials who saw the bodies said the men probably were killed in the firing early today.

National guardsmen rushed to the upper floor of the building after it had been flooded by ammonia gas in an effort to dislodge the convicts.

Last Firing Unnecessary.

Condition of the bodies indicated, it was said, that the bulk of today's attempts to break through the barricade had been made after the three prisoners had died.

The room in which the men had put up their desperate battle against overwhelming odds was a wreck.

Bullets from the beseiged fortress had splintered the furniture. Bits of bread and meat scattered about the room indicated the prisoners had found time to eat despite their long fight.

Military rule, which went into force at the prison this morning was relaxed at once.

Morrow Issues Report.

A statement from Colonel Morrow, personal representative of Governor Edwin Morrow at the scene of the siege, said:

"Disregard all previous reports. The prisoners have been killed."

The bodies were rushed to a morgue. Warden John Chilton gave orders to move all prisoners back to their regular cells during the night.

The mess hall where the three convicts barricaded themselves last Wednesday morning after killing three prison guards in a break for liberty will have to be rebuilt. Almost continuous firing by fifty national guardsmen and a dozen prison guards has weakened its brick walls and splintered its interior.

The beleagured convicts apparently did not give up the fight until they had exhausted all their ammunition. The three automatic pistols with which they fired on their guards last Wednesday morning lay empty beside their bodies.

Noted Writer Dead In West

OAKLAND, Cal., Oct. 6.—Col. John P. Irish, California politician and nationally known author, died here tonight.

Col. Irish, who was born in Iowa City, Ia., January 1, 1843 fell from a sidewalk into the street while walking in the downtown district late this afternoon. He died tonight at a hospital.

Struck by Auto; Slightly Injured

Harold Libert, 2336 Vine street, was struck by an automobile said to have been driven by B. T. Ferguson, 1705 North Twenty-fourth street, while about to board a North Twenty-third street car at Twenty-second and Vine streets about 7.30 Saturday night, aaccording to police information.

Libert was bruised and shaken, and his clothes torn, but was not seriously injured, the report stated.

HALF MILLION LOSS IN FIRE

ASBURY, N. J. Oct. 6.—Five hotels, the Garden Theatre, and a block of stores, were destroyed by fire tonight. The loss was estimated at $500,000.

The fire started in the Bristol Hotel, closed for the season, and it spread to other structures.

Two Are Reported Wounded In Battle With Bootleggers

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 6.—A running gun battle today between alleged bootleggers and prohibition investigators from the district attorney's offices in automobiles which led to the downtown streets of Los Angeles after extending over several miles along the Ventura boulevard, resulted in the serious wounding of two men, one of them a "dry" officer, according to reports to the police and district attorney's office late today. The officer reported to have been wounded was George K. Christie.

Bodies Recovered Total Eighteen

CASPR, Wyo., Oct. 6.—Cole creek, scene of last week's death dealing disaster to Burlington passenger train No. 30, which buried itself in water and quick sand by the collapse of a bridge undermined by flood waters, today gave up two more bodies—J. A. Griswold of Cedar Rapids, Ia., and F. Elnes E. Causey of Taft, Calif.

Recoveries late today brought the total number of dead recovered from the wreck to eighteen, an interval of thirty-six hours having intervened with workers toiling in the shifting sands since the body of the sixteenth was brought to light early Friday.

HEAR A FAINT DISTRESS CALL

Wires Stations On West Coast Pick Up "S. O. S." From Vessel Presumably 2,000 to 3,000 Miles at Sea.

MAY BE WARSHIP.

(International News Service.)

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 6.—S. O. S. calls which have been broadcasted all over the Pacific Ocean tonight by an unknown source, were said shortly before midnight by a Harbor Radio station here to have come from a ship signing S. J. X. A.

This is the call of a Japanese warship and the S. O. S. appeal is believed by the harbor raido staff to come from somewhere between Honolulu and Panama.

(United Press.)

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Oct. 6.—The Radio corporation of America wireless operator stationed at Wilmington harbor reported tonight that he faintly heard over his apparatus an "S. O. S." from "JXA," supposedly the call of a ship at sea.

A search of the ship list failed to reveal a vessel with the call "JXA." The "buzz" through the ether was scarcely distinguishable, according to the operator, and if in truth an "S. O. S." call was being sent it may have been from a great distance, farther out than 2,000 miles, the radius of the Radio corporation machine.

The operator reported that "air lanes" were being cleared to give the "phantom" sender every chance to get the S. O. S. over in case it is a ship in distress at sea.

Heard at Portland.

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 6.—A faint "S. O. S." call, presumably coming from some vessel hundreds of miles at sea was picked up here tonight by the Federal Telegraph company.

Wireless operators reported that they first heard the appeal for help, presumably direct from the ship, and later received relayed messages from other vessels which had also picked up the distress signal.

Boats that messaged the call here estimated it came from at least 2,000 miles and possibly 3,000 miles to the southwest.

Subsequent efforts to hear additional signs from the ship failed.

Canada Gives Lloyd George Real Welcome

(United Press.)

MONTREAL, Oct. 6—Greeted by a tremendous crowd, which smashed the lines of white-helmeted bobbies, Lloyd George, former prime minister of Great Britain, arrived in Montreal tonight.

As Lloyd George emerged from the railroad station after his trip from New York and entered an automobile, the cheering throng brushed the police aside, and surrounded the car, bent on seizing the Welshman and giving him a ride on the shoulders of husky volunteers.

The bobbies, however, managed to keep the people back and Lloyd George was whisked away to the hotel Mount Royal.

As he stood inside a few minutes later at a reception, admission to which was by card only, thousands of men and women jammed the streets, and squares outside, chanting in unison.

OUTLINES PLAN TO SAVE NATION

German Chancellor Indicates Special Legislation May Be Necessary to Tide Country Over Present Difficulties.

HOSTILE RECEPTION FROM COMMUNISTS

Stresemann Claims Germans Suffering Shabby Treatment From Allies, But Asserts People Anxious to Settle Debt.

ALLIES SEND NOTE.

BERLIN, Oct. 6.—France and Belgium have sent a note to Germany demanding new measures to control the armed bands of GGerman nationalists, it was learned tonight. The note referred especially to the Kuestrin incident of last Sunday night when nationalists seized the Kuestrin forces. They were ejected by reichsuehr a few hours afterwards.

Addresses Reichstag.

(International News Service.)

BERLIN, Oct. 6.—Addressing the reichstag this afternoon, Chancellor Gustav Stresemann outlined his plans for saving the German nation. He said special legislation would be introduced in the reichstag, if necessary, to tide over difficulties where labor was at loggerheads with capital.

Chancellor Stresemann introduced his new cabinet to the reichstag. The government is virtually the same as the old save for minor changes. He received a hostile reception from the communists, but declared that he was willing to assume full responsibility in the future.

The chancellor defended the decision to end resistance in the Ruhr, saying he was willing to go into a state court to defend his course, if necessary.

An anti-trust policy was announced. Stresemann bitterly assailed the industrialists. He thanked the reichswehr (national defense troops) for their loyalty to the reich and denounced nationalists agitation in the Bavarian press.

Democrats Give In.

In the face of a threat of nationalistic dictatorship, which would have been their death knell as the strongest party in Germany, numerically, the social democrats bought

May Try Wealthy Butcher Despite His Plea of Guilt

STOCKTON Cal., Oct. 6.—Despite the fact that he has pleaded guilty to a charge of murder, Alex Kels, Lodi butcher, may yet face what amounts to a trial.

It may even go as far as empanelling a jury to pass on his case.

Officers, it was learned tonight, have their doubts as to whether the whole story of the murder of an unidentified stranger, to which Kels has confessed, has been told.

Kels is proving a most remarkable prisoner. He eats and sleeps well and converses freely at times.

Yet at other times he seems in a daze and does not appear to comprehend what is transpiring.

It seemed practically certain tonight that he would not be sentenced Monday but that court proceedings then would be devoted to examination of witnesses, both as to Kels' sanity and as to details of his crime.

BARTLEY MAN IS HELD FOR MURDER

Farmer Who Shot Boy Near Melon Patch Must Answer In Court.

(Special to The Star.)

McCOOK, Neb., Oct. 6.—Preliminary hearing of Steve L. Carver of Bartley, charged with first degree murder of Wilbur Jennings of Hartley, September 29, was held in county court here today.

Defendant Carver ws held to appear at the January term of district court to answer to a charge of second degree murder.

He gave bond in sum of $10,000 for his appearance, which was signed by neighbors.

Present Evidence In John Knight Case

PHOENIX, Ariz., Oct. 6.—Further evidence was presented today at the preliminary trial here of Tudie McBiles, charged with participation in the murder of John Knight, wealthy Dallas, Tex., oil operator.

Cross examination failed to shake the story of Ruby Laub, star witness for the state, who testified that McBiles told her, that he "tapped Knight on the head with a hammer."

Radio Report McKelvie Hurt Is Unfounded

A rumor that Former Governor S. R. McKelvie had been injured in an automobile accident in New York Saturday was dispelled late Saturday night when Mr. McKelvie issued a denial of the report. He was found at a hotel in New York through the United Press.

Mrs. McKelvie was advised Saturday evening that a radio message hgad been received in Lincoln announcing that the former governor had been injured in New York. She immediately sent inquiries to New York but the press association furnished the assurance that the report was unfounded.

Mr. McKelvie left last week for the east on a business trip. He will go on to Washington and also attend a meeting in Chicago on his return trip.

RELEASE STOKES TO APPEAR LATER

Refuses to Discuss Charges That He Conspired to Besmirch Wife's Name.

(United Press.)

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—W. E. D. Stokes, New York millionaire, surrendered to the criminal court following his indictment on charges that he conspired to show his wife had visited certain notorious resorts here.

Stokes, with Daniel Nugent, his New York attorney, and Mrs. Hattie Johnson, negress, for many years the millionaire's housekeeper, appeared before Chief Justice Caverly of the criminal court, and were admitted to bond. They were then released to appear at another date.

Bonds were fixed at $5,000 each. They will not be required to enter a plea to the indictments until the conclusion of the Stokes divorce hearing according to an understanding reached between Stokes' attorneys and the state's attorneys.

Stokes and Nugent were served with subpoenas calling for display of all letters written by them in the alleged plot to corrupt the reputation of Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes.

"What's the meaning of this," attorney Frank Jordan, appearing for Stokes, asked as the papers were served. "You are merely trying to delay the divorce case in New York. This is a subterfuge on the part of Mrs. Stokes' attorneys."

Leave Immediately.

Nugent and Stokes left the court room as soon as their bonds were fixed.

"We intend to leave for New York tonight," Nugent said.

Assistant State's Attorney Wharton told Stokes' attorneys that no delay in the New York divorce case was sought and gave his sanction to their immediate return.

Stokes merely smiled in answer to the barrage of questions from reporters.

"We do not intend to fight this case in the newspapers," Nugent said acting as spokesman. "When the case comes up in court we will talk. We are ready to go to trial as soon as the New ork case is over."

"I don't believe there is anything to the charges," he added.

CORN CROP IS OUT OF DANGER

Little Possibility of Frosts Predicted for Next Week Doing Damage In Nebraska, According to Agricultural Expert.

The corn crop throughout Nebraska is now practically safe from damage by frost, according to Prof. W. W. Burr of the Nebraska university agricultural department. Nothing less than a heavy freeze can possibly injure the crop in his opinion and the prospects are the brightest in five years with estimates of yields throughout the state averaging between thirty and forty bushels to the acre. This practically eliminates all danger of damage by frosts predicted for next week.

The total corn yield for the state is estimated at 257,418,000 bushels. This total would surpass the record of any one of the past five years, and would top last year's mark by 75,018,000 bushels.

The average yield per acre over the greater part of the state is estimated at about thirty to forty bushels with some districts going as high as sixty and seventy bushels.

A few of the southern and southeastern counties along with a few scattered districts over the state drop down to twenty and twenty-five bushels per acre due to a lack of moisture during the latter part of July and August. These are few and scattered however.

The western counties have been particularly well favored with rain this year as compared with former years and the corn crop in these sections is the best in years.

COMPTROLLER AT ODDS WITH DENBY

(International News Service.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Attorney General Daugherty tonight added more fire to the row between cabinet officers and the comptroller general by upholding Secretary of the Navy Denby in defying the authority of the comptroller. In an official ruling, the attorney general held the comptroller had no right to overrule the secretary of the navy when the latter relieved bondsmen of liability for deficiencies in the accounts of naval officers, exonerated by court martial.

The row between Denby and the comptroller, J. R. McCarl, had developed into a bitter factional fight within the administration. Other cabinet officers, similarly situated, were solidly lined with Denby against McCarl, charging the comptroller with usurping the authority of cabinet members. With Denby a temporary victor, it is expected President Coolidge will render a decision to clarify the situation.

Two naval officers, tried for shortages, were held blameless. Denby decided their bondsmen should not be held responsible. McCaarl ruled the bondsmen should pay the loss. This started the row.

WALTON CALLS EXTRA SESSION

(United Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 6.—Governor "Jack" Walton in a daring and spectacular move to prevent impeachment by enemies, who he claims were incurred as a result of his fight against the Ku Klux Klan, tonight summoned the state legislature to meet in special session October 11.

The executive's proclamation ordered the legislature to enact laws "to protect the people from masked and lawless marauders and mobs and secret organizations."

The date for convening of the extraordinary meeting of the legislature by the governor is six days ahead of the time of gathering set by the "insurgent legislators," demanding removal of the governor. A proclamation issued by W. D. McBee, leader of the "rebel" legislators summoned a special session for October 17.

The governor said the legislators could impeach him if they wanted to.

"That would no doubt be legal," he said.

"But if I am impeached, I will never be convicted. You can depend on that.

Declares Fight Won.

"I have won my fight against the Ku Klux Klan and the state legislature will be forced to recognize defeat of the invisible empire in Oklahoma."

The governor said in his proclamation that the evidence against the "invisible empire" had now been brought to the light and the time had come when the organization should be held responsible for its "lawlessness."

"It is imperative that legislation be immediately enacted which will unmask the organization responsible for these crimes of violence and prevent their recurrence."

Referring to the reign of martial law established four weeks ago to curb a state of insurrection in Oklahoma, the governor said he had now "restored order and investigated hundreds of mob whippings and murders."

"The sworn evidence as to the existence of this system of lawlessness and the identity of the organization responsible for this system of operation, the membership of which is secret, has been secured by duly authorized military commissions and is now available for the use of the proper authorities, both legislative and judicial."

Wants Law Enacted.

He then called on the legislature to assemble under the "constitution

POLICE QUESTION LINCOLN MAN IN PROBE OF MURDER

May Take Osterman to Leavenworth to Check Story of Whereabouts.

Claims to Have Been in Kansas Town On Night of Killing Here.

Plans are being made by police to take John F. Ostermilleer, held for questioning in the Homer D. Williams murder case, to Leavenworth, aKn., where he claims to have been on Monday night, and check his story. Williams was killed last Monday night during a holdup of the oil station at Eleventh and B streets.

A telegram from Leavenworth, where Ostermiller claims to have spent the night, says that the man has not been there within the past two weeks, police say. Ostermiller, in his story, is a bit confused, but says he can straighten things out at Leavenworth, according to the police.

When taken by police Ostermiller was wearing a black shirt, light khaki trousers of the loose kind, and a light gray cap. His physical description is quite similar to that given of William's assailant, it is said.

Ostermiller is the man held by the Kansas City police for investigation following a hold-up in that city, he says.

In Lincoln Ostermiller at one time lived near Eighth and Plum streets. He was for a while employed by the Burlington and some local firms.

Thousands of Miners Vote To Quit Work

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 6.—A strike of 25,000 miners, employed by the Hudson Coal company, effective Monday next, was called tonight at the conclusion of a special meeting of the general grievance committee attended by 100 delegates representing 25 local unions.

The strike vote was unanimous and means that many of the largest producing mines in the hard coal belt will be shut down indefinitely.

The miners charge the coal company with fifteen violations of the ne wcontract. One of these is that the miners' pay has been cut because o fimpurities in the coal. Another complaint is that arbitrary changes in working hours have been imposed and other objectionable working conditions instituted.

TEAR GAS HOLDS ROBBERS AT BAY

Barneston Bandits Leave Empty Handed After Blowing Door of Money Box. State Sheriff's Forces Following New Clue Picked Up at Sterling.

State law enforcement officers who investigated the robbery of the bank at Barneston, Neb. Saturday found that the yeggmen failed to get into the money box in the vault and that no money was taken from the bank. The cracksmen used six charges of explosives in blowing the vault door.

After blowing a huge door to bits with high explosives, the robbers blew off the safe door but were unable to get to the money box in the safe because of the tear gas which had been placed in the safe as a precaution against safe blowers.

The terrific explosion shattered the vault door and scattered a small pile of dollars and pennies all over the bank. Soap which had been used in preparing the explosives was spattered in every corner of the room.

Before using explosives to get into the vault, the yeggmen attempted to dislodge a huge stone with a crowbar, pick and a heavy hammer which they left. According to state officials the same tactics were used in the other four robberies in Gage county within the past month.

Pick Up New Clue.

The state law enforcement bureau picked up a new clue at midnight Saturday, which was furished by an automobile party at Sterling, Neb. It was reported that a car believed to be a Marmon, in which four men were riding, helped fix a car which was stalled on a bridge outside of Sterling. According to the report the men answered the description of the four men who attempted to rob the Barneston bank.

Says Wife Beat Him Unmercifully

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 6.—Charging that his wife beat him unmercifully, blackening his eyes, and making his nose bleed, Oscar Hayden, 44, today asked a divorce from Ida L. Hayden, 39.

They were married in Grantsburg, Wis., January 25, 1907.

LINCOLN YOUTH IS ACCUSED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Henry Branch, Jr., Charged With Failing to Stop After Injuring Woman---Must Return From Eastern School.

A charge was filed in Justice W. T. Stevens' court Saturday afternoon against Henry Branch, Jr., 19, who is alleged to have been the driver of the car which failed to stop, after colliding with a taxi at Sixteenth and D streets, Friday night, Sept. 28, injuring Mrs. Augusta Heidenreich, 1126 D street.

The complaint charges that young Branch did "seriously injure, maim and disfigure Augusta Heidenreich, lacerating the skin, breaking the collar bone and severing certain arteries in the right arm" by means of a collision, and after the accident "unlawfully and feloniously refuse, fail and neglect to stop the car and give the names of the occupants of the car and the license number of the car."

Branch is a son of Henry Branch, Lincoln business man, and is now attending preparatory school for Princeton university at Princeton, N. J.

Coming Back to Answer Charge.

According to County Attorney Matson a telegram has been sent by the boy's father, and the youth is expected to return to Lincoln for arraignment about Wednesday.

Following the accident a reward of $200 was offered for information leading to the disclosure of the identity of the driver of the car.

Officers investigating the case found that the Branch car, a Buick sedan, had been damaged, and the disclosure followed.

A heavy rain was falling at the time of the accident and it is thought this may account for the collision.

Occupants Tell of Crash.

With Branch in the car were Morris Roberts, Mary Burnham, Helen Ryons, university students, and Katherine Branch, a cousin. According to depositions taken from the other occupants of the car, the taxi was seen to crash into the curbing. The stories conflict as to whether the car was stopped for a moment or not, Mr. Matson said.

The party then proceeded to the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity house, where Joe Burchell was added to the group. From there they went to the Sunset party house to a dance.

After the dance, in an effort to make a satisfactory explanation to Henry Branch, Sr., it was decided

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 6.—The weather outlook for the week beginning Monday follows:

Upper Mississippi and Lower Missouri Valleys: Considerable cloudiness with showers first half of week; temperature above normal first part of week, cooler latter part, probably frosts.

Nebraska: Showers Sunday and probably Monday; little change in temperature.

LABOR DELEGATES ARE CONSERVATIVE

Radicals Receive Scant Attention at Federation Convention.

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 6. — The forty-third convention of the American federation of labor will go down in history as one of the most conservative ever held.

The deduction is made after a week's attack on "sovietism" "I. W. W.ism" and all the other "isms" which the right wing of the federation has so bitterly opposed.

Only on two occasions has the left wing in the convention gained the floor and then its occupancy was short and uneventful.

Monday, if the administration machine functions according to program, as it undoubtedly will, the resolutions committee, will bring in its report and debate on the big resolutions before the fedration will commence. In every instance it is predicted arguments will be heated but the vote will be in line with the conservative policies by a large majority.

The resolutions to be reported in by the resolutions committee include the following topics:

Ship subsidy, centralization of government, United States department of labor, soldiers bonss, miners' wages, organization of third party, compulsory labor, mediation and conciliation, conscription, anti-injunction bills, compensation for occupational diseases, Muscle Shoals project, supreme court, evolution in the trade movement, banking and credits, recognition of Russia, fascisti and the shopmen's strike.

Near the end of the week, Samuel Gompers will be re-elected. No one predicts otherwise. Talk of a successor to the venerable leader, heard in other conventions, is lacking this year. John L. Lewis, president of the united Mine Workers, considered the likely candidate for the presidency held by Mr. Gompers, when the latter is through, is here for the convention.

STATE TEACHERS TO HEAR OWSLEY

Alvin Owsley, national commander of the American Legion, will be in Lincoln, November 1, to address the state teachers' convention, according to Adjutant Frank B. O'Connell. Commander Owsley dedicated the new state capitol last armistice day.

The teachers are inviting all ex-service men to listen to the commander's address at St. Paul's church in the evening. If possible for the commander to arrive in the forenoon, a luncheon will be held at the chamber of commerce. Members of various organizations will be invited if such plans work out.

Wife of Gotham Credit Man Says Charges Untrue

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Oct. 6—"Mr. Ardinghe is entirely innocent of any wrong doing in connection with those bonds!"

This was the emphatic statement made here tonight by Mrs. Peter Ardinghe, wife of the assistant manager of the credit department of the National City bank of New York, commenting on the charges said to have been preferred against her husband alleging theft last November of $10,000 worth of bonds from the Western Life Insurance company of SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Oct. 6. — President Obregon of Mexico, who has been ill for several days, has suffered a relapse and is growing weaker, according to dispatches from Mexico City, tonight.

Physicians announced after a conference that President Obregon is "critically ill," the dispatches state, but the nature of his ailment was not disclosed.

Brother-In-Law Says Kels Was Model Husband

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Oct. 6.—Alexander Kels was a model husband and a favorite of his family, said H. A. Staples, brother-in-law of the confessed murderer of an aged ranch hand at his Lodi, Calif., home.

"Alex was well to do, but had always possessed a craving for money. Staples said. "I believe he went insane in his passion for funds. Otherwise he could not have done such a thing."

Staples is an employe of Santa Fe shops here.

Sixty Dead In Stampede at Kieff Church

RIGA, Oct. 6.—Sixty persons were trampled to death and one hundred injured today when panic ensued in a synagogue at Kieff, after the electric lights failed. Two thousand persons were at worship when the synagogue was thrown into darkness and a cry of "fire" was raised.

Insurgent Solons' Spokesman Says Will Be On Hand

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 6—That's fine. We will all be there," said W. D. McBee, the spokesman for the insurgent legislators, when told tonight of the special call issued by the governor for the legislature to convene October 11.

Legislative headquarters have been established in the hotel Skirvin. Leaders of the lower body will be here Sunday for an informal caucus, when their plan of action will be outlined.

With the exception of the above statement, McBee and other legislators refused to comment on the latest move of the chief executive, but indicated they would give out an official statement tomorrow.

CODE SYSTEM STILL COSTING LARGE AMOUNT

Maintaining Useless Department Which Solons Refused to Abolish.

Governor Bryan Trims Off 43 Percent In Two Months Time.

Code government is still costing the taxpayers of Nebraska a large amount of money in maintaining useless departments which the legislators last winter refused to abolish; but enough trimming and pruning has been done under Governor Bryan's direction to reduce the outlay for administrative purposes in the code departments by 43 per cent during the first two months of the present biennium, as compared with the some months in 1921 which started the previous bitnnial period.

In July and August this year the code departments expended $78,305, not including what was paid out for road and bridge construction. Their disbursements in July and August, 1921, came to $139,752.

Road and bridge work cost the state $107,396 during the wto months this year, as against $528,014 for the same period in 1921. Practically nothing in the way of new highway projects is being attempted this year, owing to the depleted condition in which the state general fund was left by the preceding administration.

There will be a resumption of activities in 1924, when the treasury has had a chance to catch up on some of its unpaid obligations.

Some Reductions Elsewhere.

These items account for a total of $482,000 in outgo for the sixty-day period of 1923 in comparison with two years ago. Some other departments also operated on less money, and the state's entire disbursements were $609,000 lower. In July and August, 1921, payments from the state treasury amounted to $1,566,215; in the same months of 1923 they were held down to $957,413.

Herewith is a comparative tabulation showing the expenditures by governmental divisions for the two periods:

Total Expenditures.

July and August.

	1921	1921
Judiciary	$ 19,011	$ 18,539
Executive Depts.	25,601	37,175
Code Depts.	78,305	139,752
Sundry Depts.	59,253	87,344
Special funds	1,387	21,747
Uni. and normals	494,520	476,011
Penal and charitable	171,940	247,631
Roads and bridges	107,395	528,014
Total	$957,413	$1,566,215

State Has Smaller Payroll.

The regular payroll of the state was reduced about $91,000, but an increase of $24,000 is shown for temporary services of extra employes, so that the net decrease in salaries and wages paid is $67,000. Last July and August the state paid out 19,000 less for supplies than it did in the corresponding period of 1921; $5,700 less for general expense; 13,000 less for repairs and upkeep; $28,000 less for new equipment; 28,000$ less to activities receiving state aid, other than roads and bridges; and $10,000 less for miscellaneous items.

Lands and buildings are the only classified expenditure to show an increase this year, costing $4,000 more during the two months than they did in 1921.

Following are the sums paid for different governmental purposes:

July and August.

	1921	1921
Salaries and wages	$430,538	$ 521,322
Supplies	141,692	160,591
General expenses	99,076	104,787
Repairs and upkeep	32,140	45,185
Equipment	34,459	62,753
Lands and buildings	80,319	76,198
Roads and bridges	107,396	528,014
State aid, etc.	27,833	56,955
Miscellaneous	3,960	11,406
Total	$957,413	$1,566,214

Less Traveling Done Now.

Traveling expenses of state officials and employes have been reduced more than 50 per cent, compared with two years ago. A proportionate decrease in printing is seen. Purchase of office furniture is another item on which more than half of the former outlay has been saved.

Only a little more than one-third as much was paid out in July and August this year, as in 1921, for automobiles, trucks and other vehicles. Repairs on motor equipment are 35 per cent lower, but the cost of auto supplies increased 100 per cent, notwithstanding the lower price of gasoline.

Comparison is Made.

Here are some comparisons on some of the principal items of expense and equipment:

July and August.

	1923	1921
Printing, etc.	$5,337	$14,444
Postage	4,897	4,453
Telephone and telegraph	2,612	3,391

Miss Frances May Of Fremont Dead

(Special to The Star.)

FREMONT, Neb., Oct. 6—Miss Frances May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. May, died last night in a hospital in Omaha. Miss May was prominent in social affairs of Fremont and was a charter member of the Bachelor Girl's club. Her sister, Miss Etta May, died over a year ago. She is survived by her parents and one brother, Burt May. The family are well known over Nebraska on account of their connection with the May Bros., wholesale grocery house.

SALVATION ARMY FORMAL OPENING

To Hold Meeting Sunday Evening at New Headquarters In Lincoln.

Brigadier and Mrs. William Andrews, divisional commaanders of the Iowa-Nebraska division, will preside at the formal opening meeting in the Salvation Army Hall, 131 North Eleventh street, Sunday night at 8 o'clock.

They will be assisted by Adjutants Lundgren and Miller and Captain and Mrs. Foreman, the local officers.

City representatives and fraternal and civic organizations have been invited to assist in the formal dedication of this hall for the Work of the Army in Lincoln.

This meeting will be an opportunity for the citizens of Lincoln to secure first hand information in regard to the religious principles, and policies of the Army and a line on thei program for the coming winter, the officers say.

Double Funeral For Wreck Victims

FREMONT, Neb., Oct. 6—A double funeral service will be held at the undertaking parlors of Fred Bader & Co., Sunday afternoon for Ora E. Thompson, farmer near Ames, and his little niece, Dorothy Hooper, 6, of Fremont, who were killed when an automobile in which they were riding was struck by a fast Union Pacific extra freight train near Ames. Rev. E. L. Baker of the Methodist church will officiate.

Dorothy Hooper, who was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hooper of Fremont, attended the Nye-Hawthorne school in Fremont. She was spending the vacation, granted on account of the teachers' institute, with her uncle on his farm and they were riding to town together when the accident occurred.

OPEN FIRST NIGHT SCHOOL HERE FOR ADULT STUDENTS

Practically All Lincoln Schools to Be Used for Evening Instruction.

City, State and Nation Combine—Chief Object Is for Americanization.

Lincoln's first night school for adults, sixteen years old and over, will be opened Monday night at 7 o'clock in Saratoga, Clinton, Whittier, Bancroft, McKinley, Park, Longfellow and Hayward school centers. Work will be given only to those who do not attend day school Sessions will be held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings and will be under the direction of the department of extension education of the Lincoln board of education, working in co-operation with the state, under the Smith-Hughes act of congress. The course of study will continue about six months. There will be no tuition charges The primary object of the night schools is to give to those who do not have a chance to attend day school, an opportunity to become better educated and thus better their position in life. It is also the purpose to prepare the foreigner, who has just come to America, to go before an examining board and comply with the requirements for citizenship Another class that the school reaches is the person who had to leave school before completing his work in the lower grades. But underlying it all is the teaching of Americanization, not only to the foreigner but to Americans as well. "There is not a day, not an hour, during the entire course but what something of Americanism is being instilled into the mind of the student along with his study of three Rs," Wayne W. Curfman, director of extension education, said, in outlining the purpose of night schools.

Smith-Hughes Course.

In addition to the regular public school work that will be taught in the night classes work prescribed under the Smith-Hughes act will be carried on. This includes industrial trades, home making courses, commercial work and physical training.

Under the industrial trades, auto mechanics, electricity, mechanical drawing, printing and furniture making will be taught. Child care, mother training home furnishing and home nursing will be included in the home making course and the commercial course will embrace every phase of business training All branches of gymnasium work and swimming are included in the physical training classes English will be taught to foreigners along with their work in the citizenship classes Under the head of dramatics, chorus and glee club singing will be taught along with orchestral work and public speaking

The courses of study are outlined by the board of education for the different schools

Saratoga Americanization citizenship and Smith-Hughes

Whittier, Clinton and Bancroft, will have the citizenship and Smith-Hughes courses

McKinley, Americanization and Smith-Hughes

Park, Americanization, Smith-Hughes and citizenship

Longfellow and Hayward will teach Americanization and citizenship, and the Smith-Hughes course as demanded.

At the high school the gymnasium and swimming pool will be in use along with the auditorium where community programs will be held.

Will Extend Work.

The night school work will be extended to other school centers as fast as there is a demand for it.

It is estimated that at least 2,000 persons were taught each week in the regular class work last year.

Explaining the work of the night schools, Mr. Curfman said that it was his belief that the sessions would open this year with an average attendance of fully 800.

Mr. Curfman said he believed there would be a greater number of aliens attend classes this year than heretofore. He said there will be an examination for citizenship November 17, and that there will be a large class take instruction in citizenship especially for the purpose of passing this examination.

If the Will-Maker was a Partner

Suppose you are in partnership; you have also personal property and real estate in your own name; the partnership has debts and so have you You wish to make your Will. How will you manage about the partnership?

Article V of Chapter 15, Compiled Statutes of Nebraska, 1922, cover this question. There are four General Sections numbered 1332 to 1335

Now, your partnership may be engaged in buying and selling farm lands or city real estate. The title may stand in the name of Yourself & Company, the partnership But in your Will, your share in the partnership is simply personal property.

We learned several weeks ago that under the Will the Executor is entitled to possession of all the real and personal estate of the deceased. Nevertheless, the Executor has no right to possession of any of the property belonging to a partnership in which his testator was a partner

General Section 1332 authorizes the Executor of a deceased partner to sell at public auction the partnership interest. Or, more strictly speaking, this section gives the County Court power to authorize the Executor to make the sale; and the Court directs the execution of such paper titles to the property sold as the circumstances require

General Section 1333 requires the Executor to account for the partnership interest sold at the price sold And Generald Section 1334 gives the Executor the right to settle with the surviving partner all the dealings and transactions of the partnership, subject to examination and approval or rejection of the County Court. But if the Executor and surviving partner cannot agree upon a settlement, then the public auction method must be employed

Where the surviving partner has been named as Executor of the Will, the County Court appoints a special administrator to handle the partnership affairs The leading case in Nebraska is Enyart v. Enyart, 101 Neb. 25; 161 N. W. 1030.

The Enyart case is interesting because the testator, Logan Enyart left two separate, distinct Wills, both of which were probated (covering different property) and certain other property not covered by either Will. There were two Executors and a general administrator—and a lawsuit or two.

COMMITTEE FOR ARMISTICE DAY

Chairman Chappell Suggests Anniversary Be Observed Saturday, Nov. 10.

Judge E. B. Chappell has been selected by the Legion as the chairman of that organization's committee to prepare plans for armistice day. That committee, according to Judge Chappell, recommends that since the day falls on Sunday, the day be observed on Saturday, November 10.

Since the big Notre Dame football game is scheduled here in Lincoln on Saturday, it is believed that such a day will meet with the approval of the majority. Many out staters can come to both the celebration and game if Saturday is observed.

Judge Chappell is requesting other organizations to select a representative for one big committee for this day. Plans for an unusual parade are being formulated in which the University of Nebraska cadets and prominent army men are to take part.

LEGION CONTROLS CITY AUDITORIUM

Will Be Little Change Under New Management, Committee Reports.

James Kinsinger Heads Board and Harper Will Be Booking Agent.

The auditorium will be run on about the same basis as it was under city management, according to a statement made by the Legion board of directors Saturday. The local post of the American Legion took over the lease of the building for the coming year, last week.

Existing contracts with the city will also be respected by the ex-service men and the dates for the various events will be reserved. The rates charged for the use of the building will be practically on the same scale as were previously made. All organizations of a like character will be charged at the same rate.

Repairing Heating Plant.

The heating system, is being repaired and it is probable the rooms near the entrance will be fixed up for club rooms for the organization when the lease on the present quarters at Sixteenth and O streets expires next February.

The board of directors consists of James Kinsinger, chairman; George Craven and John Curtiss. Service Secretary Henry Harper will look after all the booking for the season. While the city and chamber of commerce met with a great deal of grief while those organizations held the lease on the auditorium, the Legion is willing to take a chance on making it at least a paying proposition.

Kucra Opens An Agency for the Gray Automobile

M. Kucera, who has been a resident of Havelock for the past seventeen years, has opened an agency at 1634 O street for the Gray automobile which has been on the market since 1920. The Gray motor has for the past twenty years been one of the leading engines used in motor boats and since 1920 when it was built for automobiles, it has been making a reputation in the automobile world.

According to Mr. Kucera the Gray automobile holds a record of running from San Francisco to New York on an average of 33.6 miles on a gallon of gasoline.

The display room at 1634 O street is open at all times for demonstration and visitors will be shown the most courteous attention.

FARMERS STAGE EDUCATION WEEK

County Union Will Put On Campaign Throughout Outlying Districts.

An educational campaign for agriculturists will be put on this week by the Lancaster County Farmers' Union.

Moving pictures will be shown at various places throughout the country during the week and on Saturday the national secretary, A. C. Davis, and the state president, C. J. Osborne will speak. Two programs will be presented on this day, one at Hickman at 2 p. m., and one at Davey in the evening.

The meetings at which the pictures will be shown throughout the week are as follows:

Tuesday—At Cheney.

Wednesday—At Waverly.

Thursday — Woodman hall near Woodlawn.

Friday—Schoolhouse in district No. 35 in the northeast part of Lancaster county.

Have You a Daughter-

Omaha, Neb.—"Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best remedy I have ever known for the ailments of women. It benefited me so much that when my daughter was on the verge of womanhood and was in frail, delicate health, I gave it to her without any hesitancy, and it removed all discomfort and regulated her system. It also put an end to fainting spells, which had been the cause of a great deal of worriment to us, and from a frail young girl she has grown into a healthy-looking young woman. I believe that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription saved her life and I often recommend this good medicine to the mothers of other young girls who are in need of just such medicine." — Mrs. Mary Wenz, 2825 Seward St.

Fire Destroys Property Worth $993 Every Minute

Fire Prevention Week—Oct. 7-13 Inc.

America's fire loss, last year, was $521,860,000. The number of fatalities was about 15,000.

When you consider that 90% of this loss was due to carelessness, it behooves us, one and all, to do our part to obliterate this common hazard.

By observing precautions and helping to keep our home and city clean and neat we may help to do our part.

Remove all rubbish within and outside our homes. Watch lighted matches and smoking materials—for here many fires are born.

Illinois Defeats Nebraska In Opening Game by 24 to 7 Score

HUSKERS YIELD TO ILLINOIS IN OPENING GAME

Green Nebraska Forward Wall Fails To Halt Zuppke's Backs; Illini Wins 24-7.

BY "CY" SHERMAN.

URBANA, Ill., Oct. 6.—Coach Fred Dawson's desire to give the 1923 Nebraska Cornhuskers a stiff gridiron inaugural was quite convincingly and decisively realized today when the scarlet-jerseyed warriors from the Lincoln camp were drubbed, 24 to 7, by Coach Bob Zuppke's fighting Illinois.

Pitting a green and inexperienced line against Zuppke cohorts, the Huskers had their workout, beyond the slightest doubt. And just for good measure, they also had their lesson. The line performed better, perhaps, than Dawson had anticipated, for the Illinois could not puncture it for consistent gains. Offensively, however, the Nebraska forwards displayed their chief weakness by permitting the Illinois line to sift through and break up attempts of the Cornhuskers at end runs.

Grange Big Factor.

Halfback Harold Grange of the Illinois backfield was the prime factor in the triumph of the Illinois, although Fullback Britton's faultless forward passing contributed in large measure to the success of the Zuppke eleven. Grange snared forward passes with uncanny persistance, twice sprinting to touchdowns after the Illinois advance had been halted by the stiff Nebraska defense

The third Illinois touchdown resulted from Grange's electrifying return of a Lewellen punt, the flashy Illinois back side-stepping and whirling loose from three Nebraska tacklers in a sixty-yard dash to the Nebraska goal. Britton's successful goal from placement accounted for three additional points, swelling the Illinois total to twenty-four points

While Nebraska plunged to three first downs during the first period chiefly due to off-tackle drives by Halfback Dave Noble, the Cornhuskers displayed their only scoring parade of the game in the third period, after the Illinois had taken a ten-point lead.

Lewellen's Long Run.

With the ball in midfield in Nebraska's posseession, Captain Lewellen swung around the opposition's left wing and racing back of a perfect barrier of interference, cleared forty yards. The Illinois goal was only eight yards distant when Brown's tackle dumped Lewellen to the turf.

Three line smashes gained the Cornhuskers a scant two yards, but Noble followed with a sweeping sprint around Illinois' right end and planted the ball back of the goal for a touchdown Halfback Herb Dewitz's successful placement kick added the extra point and rounded out Nebraska's only scoring achievement of the conflict.

Although Illinois both out-yarded and out-downed Nebraska, the Britton-Grange forward passing combination factored most in placing the Cornhuskers on the short end of the score. The two stars of the Illinois backfield are playing their first season of varsity football at the Urbana institution and their display of today gives Illinois followers the right to hope that Coach "Bob" Zuppke has the groundwork of an aggregation which will be batling for another "Big Ten" championship to the end of the western conference campaign.

Mistake of Strategy.

A mistake of strategy on the part of Halfback Herb Dewitz helped to start the Illinois on their scoring way. After playing the Zuppke team to a standstill in the first period, the Husker defensive forced Britton to punt from the middle of the field during the second period The kick had the power to carry the oval over the Nebraska goal to a touchback. Dewitz however, caught the oval on his five-yard line, where he was downed for no return. A Nebraska punt and then an Illinois drive, followed by Britton's first successful pass to Grange netted a touchdown.

Statement By Dawson

"Illinois beat us chiefly by reason of its fine success in getting way with forward passes," Dawson said. "Illinois has a good team and is much stronger than Illinois' followers had appreciated. Our green line stood up surprisingly well and I am convinced that the Cornhuskers will play much better football as a result of the lessons derived from today's defeat. Oklahoma and Kansas come next on our schedule and the Cornhuskers will be there to give them a battle worthy of Nebraska traditions."

Statistics of the game gave Illinois the edge. The Illinois team reeled off eight first downs and the Cornhuskers accounted for five. The yardage totals were 228 for Illinois and 143 for Nebraska. Illinois completed three of seven forward pass plays. While Nebraska attempted seven and completed none. Each eleven was set back fifteen yards as a result of penalties.

Chicago U Needs Breaks to Trim Colorado Aggies

STAGG FIELD, Chicago, Oct. 6.—Coach Stagg's Maroons had a harder game today than they had anticipated, and needed all the breaks to beat the Colorado Aggies, 10 to 0. The first break came when Hauser's punt was blocked and Henderson, Chicago's big right tackle, recovered it and dashed across the line. Rohrke kicked goal, and the first period ended with Chicago 7, and the Aggies 0.

In the second quarter a penalty brought the Maroons within striking distance and Rohrke put over a perfect dropkick from the 82 yard line. This added three more to the Maroon tally, and at the end of the period the score stood, Chicago 10; Colorado 0.

That was as far as Stagg's machine got In fact that was farther. For in the third period, uncorking their "million dollar" triple pass the Aggies marched from their own thirty yard mark to within scoring distance, then punted when the triple pass would not gain again. Twice they held when the Maroons seemed certain to score.

Score by quarters:

Chicago	7	3	0	0	—10

HORAN LEADING WESTERN HITTER

Des Moines Pastimer Sets Pace in Tearney Loop for Past Season.

Horan of Des Moines finished the Western league season with a percentage of 411 This is 36 points higher than his nearest rival, which happens to be Bauman of Tulsa Horan finished stronger than he began. Few have surpassed him in consistent hitting the latter part of the season

It was not alone in averages that Horan scintilated Among other feats he is credited with 122 runs. He has compiled 57 two baggers, a brilliant record in itself. He has been up among the leaders in circuit drives, having a total of 23

The leading run getter in the league is Blakesley of Wichita with 151. McDowell, also of Wichita, carries away the honors in the most homeruns, with 37 His team mate, Blakesley, is only one behind, while Davis of Tulsa winds up with 33.

Witches Busy on Bases.

Smith and Conlan of Wichita are the leading base stealers the former having 56 and the latter 44. Four are tied for totals in sacrifice hits, Lamb of Tulsa, McNally of Oklahoma City, and McPhee of Denver and Cirriden of Des Moines, each having 35 to his credit.

In two baggers, Lamb of Tulsa leads with 71. This is a mark to shoot at in any league, and is phenomenal considering the standards of the majors.

Tulsa finished the season with the tat batting percentage of .327, with Des Moines second, fifteen points behind. Tulsa also leads in fielding, four points removed from Omaha. Tulsa collected the most runs, the total of 1,175 being about as top heavy as is to be found.

The leading pitcher in the league was Maun of Wichita, with Yde of Oklahoma City only a shade behind. Black of Tulsa and Songer of Oklahoma City are next in the rating.

Sub Quarter Is Scoring Machine For Iowa Eleven

Hermetet's dropkick of thirty yards in the final period saved the visitors from a shutout.

Fry's spectacular runs provided one of the features of the game. The Hawkeye quarterback carried the ball for ten and fifteen-yard gains throughout the contest. He scored three touchdowns, making two of them in the second period after thirty-five and thirty-nine yard runs.

Captain Miller also scored three touchdowns for the victors. A lone field goal was kicked from the thirty-yard line by Halfback Fisher in the first quarter.

Parkin, hero of Iowa-Yale game last year, started both the first and second periods, but was supplanted by Fry.

WESLEYAN WINS OVER NORMALITES

Methodists Prove Too Much for Fred Dale's Wayne Pedagogues.

Glen Preston's Nebraska Wesleyan Methodists launched the 1923 gridiron campaign Saturday afternoon by smothering Wayne Normal on Johnson Field, 25 to 0.

The Methodist victory was a well-earned one, the Yellow and Brown gridders closing the first half with a lone touchdown marging and spurting ahead in the final period with a trio of tallies

Hurlburt elongated guard who played an end last year, featured in the Wesleyan victory. He scored two touchdowns. Alabaster, shifty quarter, also tallied twice by the touchdown route and kept the Wayne guessing with his shifty footwork.

Wayne Takes to Air.

Wayne rested its attack for the most part on aerial football but failed to connect with any degree of consistency. Coptain Rennick of the Weyne team featured the Pedagogue play but was handicapped on account of a bad ankle.

Wiberg, Danker and Sowers led the Wesleyan line plunging attack while Alabaster and Gembler circled the ends.

Wesleyan scored in the first quarter when Alabaster scooped up a Wayne fumble and carried the ball to Wayne territory. A series of line plunges enabled him to carry the ball across for a touchdown.

Hulburt Scores Twice.

Hulburt intercepted a Wayne forward pass during the third quarter and ran fifty yards for a touchdown.

During the same quarter Wayne punted and the ball went straight into the air. Hulburt grabbed the oval and ran twenty yards for a touchdown.

Alabaster went over for a touchdown in the last quarter as a result of straight line plunges. Alabaster dropkicked the try-for-point.

Shubert Hi Plays Salem Close Game

SHUBERT, Neb., Oct. 6.—Shubert was defeated 19 to 18, by Salem, in the first football game played in Shubert for many years. The green, but heavy and fast Shubert team, playing their first game together faced a 19 to 6 handicap at the end of the first half, but bucked the line for two touchdowns in the last half, failure to dropkick necessary points casting them the game.

The feature was an eighty-yard run from kick-off by "Skinny" Henderson, Shubert fullback. Shubert is being coached by K. R. Anderson of Crete, Neb. The locals want a game with some southeastern, Nebraska team for November 9.

LEXINGTON ELEVEN BEATS CAMBRIDGE

Goal After Touchdown Gives Margin of Victory to Brown's Team.

(Special to The Star.)

LEXINGTON, Neb, Oct. 6.—Lexington, Friday, was the scene of one of the fastest and hottest football games ever played on the local gridiron when Lexington took all of the hopes of aspirations for the state high school football championship from Cambridge. Lexington winning by a score of seven to six. Engler, Lexington fullback and captain, crossed the line for a touchdown in the second quarter after a series of line smashes and end runs from midfield. Richards kicked a clean goal for the point. Cambridge made its touchdown in the third quarter on a fluke play and in kicking for the extra point their kick was blocked by the Lexington lads.

The outstanding players of the game were Sherman and Easter for Cambridge and "Dutch" Engler, captain, and Ruddy Richards for Lexington.

Exeter Hi Squad Wins Game From Crete Grid Team

(Special to The Star.)

EXETER, Neb., Oct. 6.—Exeter won from Crete, 13 to 2, on the local field yesterday. Crete never was within scoring distance throughout the game.

The lone Crete tally came when Moore, Exeter safety, fumbled a punt back of the goal line and was downed.

Delaney's passing and kicking for Exeter featured in the game.

Hastings Wins Easily.

HASTINGS, Neb., Oct. 6.—Hastings high school opened the 1923 grid season here westerday by smothering Minden, 32 to 0.

Sutton Blanks Friend.

Fairbury Noses Out Geneva.

FAIRBURY, Neb., Oct. 6.—Fairbury nosed out ahead of Geneva in a tight high school football game here yesterday, 7 to 6.

SEWARD, Neb., Oct 6.—The Saward Lutheran Academy defeated Wahoo high in football here yesterday, 19 to 7.

Exeter Eleven Defeats Crete Hi In Opening Game

(Special to The tSar.)

EXXETER, Neb., Oct. 6.—Moor, Exeter's safety man, fumbled a punt and let the ball roll over the goal line, but recovered it only to be downed by a Crete man, was the only score that the Crete team made against the Exeter aggregation on the local field last Friday. The first half showed a considerable amount of ragged playing on the part of the Exeter team but during the second half, with a string of second team men playing, Coach Copenhaver's team was able to put over two touchdowns and kick one goal making the final score 13 to 2 in favor of the locals.

Exeter was outweighed nearly ten pounds per man but still the green line than Copenhaver had to make did remarkably well against the giants from Crete. Exeter's backfield showed up exceptionally well. F. Ryan, Finn, J. Delaney and Capt. E. Ryan made several long runs for the Exeter team. The passing of J. Delaney was a real feature of the game also his kicks were beyond reproach, both the passes and kicks were gotten off in fine shape and were accurate.

Guide Rock Hi Wins Game; Has Two Open Dates

(Special to The Star.)

GUIDE ROCK, Neb., Oct. 6.—Guide Rock high school broke into the winning column by defeating Republican City, 6 to 0, here yesterday. The local team was within scoring distance several times, but lack of experience which kept them from carrying the ball across. The lone touchdown of the game was the result of a forty-yard pass, Bushee to Parker. Every man played his position well and with a little experience it will be a hard team to beat. Republican City played well on the defense but was unable to make substantial gains and at no time threatened the goal.

The business houses here have closed for every home game and are giving their loyal support to the team.

LINCOLN TEAM TRIUMPHS OVER KEARNEY SQUAD

CAPTAIN BROWN LEADS LINCOLN HIGH ATTACK

Capital City Leader Reels Off Two Brilliant Runs for Touchdown; New Lincoln High Stadium Used for the First Time Saturday.

BY GREGG McBRIDE.

Lincoln high school celebrated the opening of its new stadium Saturday by smothering Kearney high, 27 to 0 before a crowd of three thousand people. The Red and Black moleskin warriors out-classed the Buffalo county gridsters from start to finish, the Kearney eleven putting up a defensive battle for the most part until the final period when an aerial display brought the pigskin into Lincoln territory.

Captain "Jug" Brown, as ususl, was the big scoring machine for the capital city lads. He counted two touchdowns, scored three times in as many oportunities on the try-for-point and twice booted a goal from the field.

Valiant and whole-hearted support on the part of his ten team-mates made Brown's performances possible. In his 80 and 65 yard runs for touchdowns he was aided by almost perfect interference. On the two goals from field the Red and Black forwards held like a stonewall and Brown made good by sending the ball hurtling over the cross-bar.

Lincoln Shows Stuff.

Browne's Lincoln gridders presented a well-balanced game. They had a sufficient variety of plays to keep the visitors guessing and varied the attack with enough of the aerial display to keep the game interesting

Kearney opened up with a double pass behind the line of scrimmage. This pet play was seldom productive of much other than fumbles, Lincoln receiving its first opportunity to tally when a Kearney back thumbed the pigskin in home territory.

The Buffalo county lads had particular trouble in connecting within their passes during the early stages of the game. During the second quarter Shields was loose across the Lincoln goal but butter-fingered a perfect pass from Easterling and the danger was passed.

Lincoln Scores Early.

Lincoln scored in the first five minutes of play. On a double pass behind the line, Keenan fumbled and Ward, Lincoln end, pounced on the ball. After three futile attempts to pierce the Kearney line, Brown dropped back to the Kearney 25-yard line and dropkicked the ball for three points.

Kearney looked dangerous the first quarter when F. Wimberley downed Curtin's fumble on the Lincoln 48-yard line. After an exchange of punts, Lewis fumbled and Captain Bowker fell on the prolate spheroid 25 yards from the Lincoln goal. Shields then muffed a pass over the goal line.

The tide of battle shifted quickly.

Brown's Long Run.

Easterling missed a place kick and it was Lincoln's ball on its 20-yard line. On the first play Brown, aided by some good interference, side-stepped his way eighty yards to a touchdown. He dropkicked the try-for-point.

Lewis kicked off to Easterling who returned to the Kearney 28-yard line. Following an exchange of punts, a forward pass, Curtin to Brown was good for 30 yards and the quarter ended with the ball in Lincoln's position of the Kearney 20-yard line.

The second quarter was a scoreless affair which ended with Lincoln in possession of the ball in midfield.

A sixty-five yard run down the west sidelines for a touchdown started the scoring soon after the opening of the third quarter. Brown dropkicked the try-for-point.

Ward Intercepts Pass.

The third Lincoln touchdown was more or less in the nature of a fluke Easterling elected to pass from the

Chacolet Wins Second Annual Kentucky Special

LATONIA RACE TRACK, Ky. Oct. 6.—Hal Price Hadley's five year old mare Chacolet with Larry McDermott in the saddle, won the second annual Kentucky special by a half length after a sensational drive down the stretch.

The mare, never prominent in the first mile, came with a cyclonic rush in the last quarter and got up just in time to beat In Memoriam for the $50,000 purse. The victory of Chacolet came as a great surprise for she had always been rated as a fairly good placer. The light weights, however, and a really good ride on the part of McDermott brought a rich victory. In Memoriam ran a game race and suffered none in defeat for he gave the winner many pounds. The crack eastern racers were completely overwhelmed none being able to get in the money.

Never depend too much on brakes for quick stops.

Many who have heretofore been content with lesser cars are now buying the Packard Single-Six.

The reason is that a car as finely built as Packard, does give better satisfaction and costs less for maintenance, than any car, which frankly does not assume to be built as finely as Packard.

That is a simplified statement of why hundreds of men and women who heretofore have been content with automobiles ranging in price around $1200 and up, are now Single-Six owners.

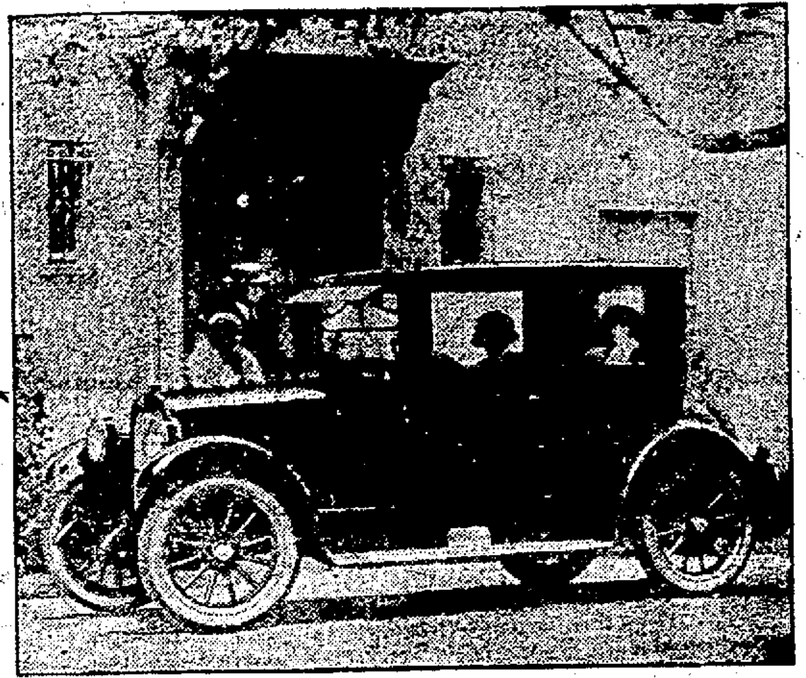
Cleveland Six Models Have Greater Power



"The universal demand of motorists since the inception of the first motor car has been power. Automobile manufacturers have expended hundreds of thousands of dollars in experimental efforts to increase power, at the same time decreasing the cost of operation and reducing size and weight of material in mechanical features of the automobile," says Card Adams, local Cleveland Six distributor.

BUICK OFFICIAL EXPLAINS BRAKES

BY H. E. SIDLES.

With several American car manufacturers, including two pioneers, already offering four-wheel brakes as standard equipfent, and with other prominent manufacturers issuing statements as to why they are not now offering this new developmente in deceleration, the motorist is naturally interested to know what it is all about. He is ready with a dozen or more vital questions bearing on the subject and is keenly interested to know the facts so that he can discuss the topic intelligently when the neighborhood auto fans start an argument.

First and foremost, he wants to know:

What advantage are four-wheel brakes?

One manufacturer claims that two-wheel brakes answer the purpose of normal stopping because they will lock the rear wheels. But that is just where the four-wheel brakes offer an interesting advantage. They stop the car without locking the wheels.

Effective Stopping Proved.

Drivers know that the quickest and safest stop is always had by applying the brakes just short of the maximum, which explains why careful drivers always give the brake pedal a few moderately vigorous depressions when desiring to stop quickly, instead of one deliberate shove that locks the wheels and transfers the braking surface to the tires where they are in contact with the roads. By actual test the brakes on all four wheels offer at least 10 per cent more effective stopping; and even if they did lock the wheels it is apparent that the extra friction of the sliding front tires against the road surface would double the stopping efficiency.

Do the new brakes have a different "feel?"

Some drivers notice this when first trying out a car so equipped. It is similar to the feeling one has when going from a car with small brakes bands to one with larger brakes. You have a desire to press the brake pedal harder than necessary. You feel at first that the brakes are not going to operate as effectively as they should, but you soon get over this when the car surprises you with a stop that gives the driver and the passengers a new sense of security.

Is the stopping abrupt?

This is the surprising feature. The car comes to a velvety pause, with much the same feeling one experiences when after driving fast the throttle is closed and the engine's compression is momentarily used for braking. The sensation is as though the entire car were stopping instead of hind wheels alone.

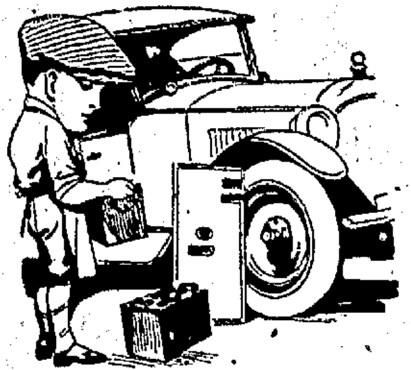
Is the steering affected in turning corners?

This point should be settled once and for all. On another car, which is a hydraulic system, the oil leads go through the front axle direct to the front wheels, thus offering no interference with the steering. On the Packard and other mechanically operated brake systems, like Rickenbacker and Buick, special brake shafts run from the side of the frame near the front to the brake bands, being free to move any way the wheels turn by means of small universal joints.

Since the brake rods or cables, depending upon the system, operate the brake shafts close to the universal joints of the front brake system, which is as near the frame as possible, they are but slightly disturbed even when the car is making its sharpest turn. This slight distortion is compensated for by means of the old fashioned "whiffle-tree" idea or a miniature differential, again depending upon the system.

CRASH

and then what do you think of? Getting is repaired of course. You look at the damage and sum it up vis. Radiator badly smashed, body and fenders bent or torn, the frame twisted out of shape or broken. This kind of an accident generally means your car must go to two or three repair shops before it is fully repaired as one shop is only equipped for Radiator work, another for Radiator and Fender work, and our claim is this: We are the only repair shop in Lincoln that is equipped to handle it all the way thru. Broken and twisted Frames Fenders, Bodies, Radiator and Welding. This work is done by the most efficient and skilled men in their trade in the city of Lincoln. Bear this in mind Mr. Auto Driver it means this to you—a saving on the repair bill as it is not necessary to repair your body and fenders and then hand your car somewhere else to have your axle and frame repaired and welded. Call us by phone B6385 or come to us for an estimate, of the cost of repair and we will be glad to assist you in anyway possible as our Motto is Service and Satisfaction and we are not satisfied until you are. Lincoln Auto Tinners. Mart DoRan and Son, successors. 224 South Tenth Street. B6385.



Time for a New Battery in your car, no doubt—and we suggest that you make it a McLaughlin next time. It will surprise you with the amount of power and endurance you will get from it. A Battery that's made to give complete satisfaction to every motorist.

Auto Notes

Protection for Polished Metal.

Worth Remembering.

Before washing a car, a mixture of kerosene and lubricating oil should be forced between the body crevices with a squirt gun, or allowed to seep in from the application of a brush.

Concerning Oversize Tires.

Oversize tires fit the same rim as the regular size tires, but are larger, with a greater air capacity, and consequently their use results in increased riding comfort and lower operating cost.

Cleaning Small Parts.

When cleaning small parts of the chassis such as oil holes on the brake cross shaft, brake connection, spark and throttle connections, etc., use an oil can filled with kerosene, and a stiff brush.

Smashed hub caps should be replaced immediately. Otherwise they permit dirt and grit to enter and wear the bearings, while grease is oozing out.

IF YOUR AUTO BALKS

or fails to run right in any respect, let us give it the "once over." That is the best and most direct way of getting your car back into condition. Why take chances trying to fix it up yourself?

VALLEY COUNTY A POPCORN CENTER

North Loup Elevators Handle Nothing Else and Ship Vast Quantities.

(Special to The Star.)

HASTINGS, Neb., Oct. 6.—That Valley county, Neb., is the popcorn center of the world never fails to bring a surprise in any gathering of people in this part of the state but Hastings people who have just returned from North Loup and Ord tell of the celebration held there the past week in commemoration of that distinction.

Two thousand pounds of pop corn were popped in huge gasoline popers that looked not unlike cement mixers and a great watering tank was used to hold the hundreds of bushels of white kernels until they could be sacked up and given away to the throngs of people who attended.

The people in that county raise white pop corn, red pop corn, yellow pop corn and even blue pop corn and they suply the full amount for the greatest pop corn factories in the world. Two great elevators at Ord handle nothing else but the corn that is to be made into crackerjack or popped for some such purpose.

The pop corn celebration is an annual event and was held this year at North Loup.

Barn Near Table Rock Destroyed

(Special to The Star.)

TABLE ROCK, Neb., Oct. 6.—The large barn on the farm of Philip Hunzeker, seven miles southeast of Table Rock, was destroyed by fire Friday evening. Thre was no one at home at the time the fire was discovered, Mr. Hunzeker and his family being at the Pawnee county fair at Pawnee City. He did not return until after the building was entirely consumed. The origin of the fire is a mystery as no one is known to have been on the place during the day. A small amount of first cutting of alfalfa was in the barn and some 600 bushels of oats and a few farming implements but no stock.

DAMAGES CAR IN JAM.

(Special to The Star.)

TABLE ROCK, Neb., Oct. 6—C A. Fisher, manager of the Table Rock Telephone company, who was in attendance at the fair at Pawnee City, got caught in a traffic jam and to avoid a collision ran into a ditch and one of the wheels of his car was broken but the accupants escaped without serious injury.

Many Automobiles Owned In Boone

(Special to The Star.)

ALBION, Neb., Oct. 6.—The entire citizenship of Boone county can go automobile riding at the same time very comfortably. Up to October 1 there have been issued 3,600 auto licenses in the county, which is an increase of 400 over last year and at the rate new cars are now selling this increase will be considerably augmented before the close of the year. With a population of about 15,000 this indicates that the county is close to the top of per capita ownership of autos. This is taken as coroborative evidence that financial conditions are on the up grade in this section of the state.

Big Stock Sale At Grand Island

Diller Pharmacy Is Burglarized

DILLER, Neb., Oct. 6.—The Shutt Drug company's store on Main street here was entered and robbed some time early Saturday morning. Entrance was gained by breaking in at a rear door. Drugs to the value of about $100, including supplies of cocaine and morphine were taken, beside a supply of fountain pens worth $100. There were no tracks of automobiles to be found.

Grand Island to Make Much Sugar

(Special to The Star.)

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Oct. 6.—The 1923 campaign for the manufacture of the beets of the territory into sugar began today. The crop has been good and 52,000 tons of beets will be ground. The factory will run continuously day and night for 100 days with 200 men employed.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. Spieckermann of the Westside Lutheran church. The couple will live on a farm east of town.

Wymore Resident Weds In Lincoln

(Special to The Star.)

WYMORE, Neb., Oct. 6.—James H. Dech, of Wymore, and Miss Nancy Stewart, of Lincoln, were married at the home of the bride's mother in Lincoln Saturday. Mr. Dech, a former resident of Lincoln, and well known in railway circles, has been chief clerk to the division superintendent at Wymore for the past year. Miss Stewart has been a clerk in General Superintendent Lyman's office, and at one time was a clerk and stenographer in the chief dispatcher's office at Wymore. The couple will live in Wymore.

Pawnee Corn Is Out of Danger

(Special to The Star.)

TABLE ROCK, Neb., Oct. 6—Pawness county corn is now out of danger from frst, excepting perhaps an occasional field planted late. Corn displayed at the Pawnee county fair which has just closed indicates the crop will be much larger than for several years, and of an exceptional quality. The amount of winter wheat already sown here is smaller than usual, due to the fafct that many have waited for cooler weather to avoid harm from the Hessian fly and chinch bugs. Much wheat will yet be sown and the fields, owing to an abundance of rain are in fine condition for plowing.

Legion Post Plans Three Day Fun Fest

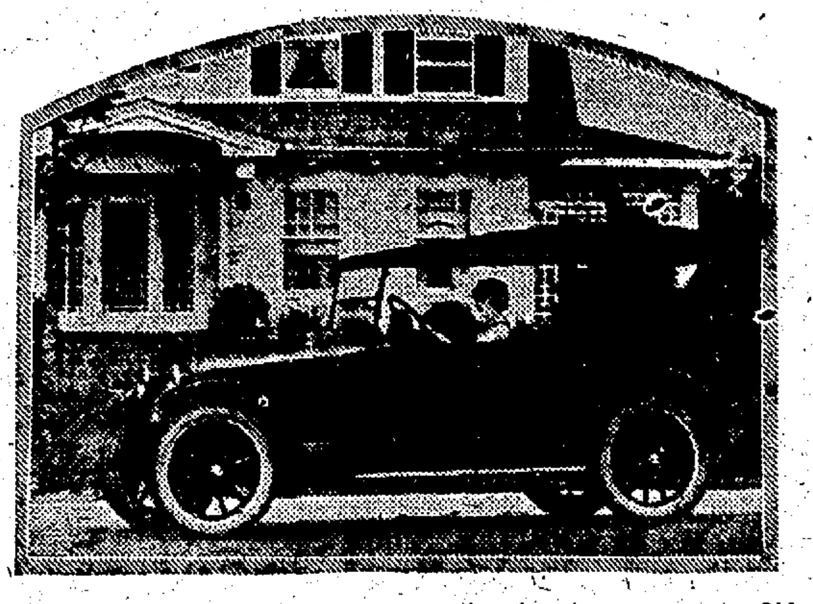
TO ATTEND CONVENTION.

HASTINGS, Neb., Oct. 6—At least thirty Hastings Kiwanians will attend the di strict meeting of that organization in Lincoln next week. The delegation plans to drive to Lincoln Friday morning.

Oldsmobile Announces New Car at a New Price



An entirely new automobile in a new price class is announced by Oldsmobile dealers. It is the new six-clyinder model in six body styles ranging from $750 to $1,095. The car is designed to meet a long felt need of a six-cylinder car at a price within the reach of all; according to Oldsmobile dealers and officials and the results promise to be a most popular innovation.

The new Oldsmobile is the result of a series of experiments and tests carried on by the engineering staff of the General Motors corporation and it embodies all the approved improvements of modern motor car construction.

The six body styles include the five-passenger touring car, the two-passenger roadster, the four-passenger sport touring car, a two-passenger cab, a four-passenger coupe and a five-passenger sedan. All the body and motor refinements generally found on higher priced cars are included in the new Oldsmobile product now on display.

OVERLAND IS THE FARMER'S FRIEND

All Family Closed Car a Utility Vehicle For All Purposes.

At last the farmer has been given a closed car of superior finish inside and outside, that he can utilize for various farm jobs and 'chores" with the same cheerful abandon as he does his open touring car.

Thousands of farmers have expressed the opinion that they would gladly use closed cars if they could press them into practical work and get out of them the same all-around service the touring car provides.

This has been the farmer's winning argument for the touring car over the closed car for some years and it is admittedly a reasonable one. Practical service on the farm means the hauling of grain and other material of a highly "spillable" nature. A load of bran or shorts for instance leaves a car resembling the interior of a feed grinding room. Whole grain, despite every precaution will persist in 'creeping" out of the bags and scatter to every corner and crevice of the car.

Summing up—practical service—for the farmer means the haulage of milk cans, live poultry, root crops, cans of kerosene, machinery oil, household supplies, garden tools, implement parts, rolls of belting and a long list of every conceivable sort of material on the farm from wire fencing to an occasional live calf.

No wonder the farmer hesitated to invest his money in a closed car. But now the wonder ceases with the advent of the new Overland closed car, fittingly named the Champion, for the good and logical reason that at $695 it leads the world in closed car values and "champions" the cause of the farmer in every respect.

Early Day Settler Observes Birthday

(Special to The Star.)

RED CLOUD, Neb., Oct. 6.—Twenty-four relatives of Mrs. Sarah Wilmot, including four great grand children, spent Wednesday helping her celebrate her seventy-fifth birthday. Mrs. Wilmot, with three children, came to the United States from England in 1869. Her husband came over ten months earlier. In 1879 they homsteaded southwest of here. When they passed through here on their way to their claim, Red Cloud had but one hotel, one livery barn and a few dwelling houses.

Good-bye Gear-shift!
Your doom is spelled by the biggest advance in automobile design since the self-starter—
The Traffic Transmission
Involving a totally new principle, the Traffic Transmission can be shifted with the pressure of the little finger under all conditions, at all normal driving speeds, in any direction (low to high or high to low) by the least experienced driver.
The gears cannot clash. There is nothing new to learn. The familiar old gear lever is there. Thousands (especially women) can now become happy motorists and drive with tranquillity in traffic or on tour.
In handling ease—in the amount of pleasure it gives to driving—no car can now surpass the 1924 Chandler, for it is powered by the Pikes Peak Motor
with all its spectacular high gear capacity retained and with its operation made noiseless and flawlessly smooth by recent refinements.
Now the thousands who have vainly battled with the evils and admitted dangers of the old-fashioned gear shift may sit at the wheel and revel in the master performance qualities of the Pikes Peak Motor on hills and in crowded thoroughfares.
The revolutionary nature of the Traffic Transmission, its simplicity, ease and surety, and the amazing driving convenience it gives, cannot be realized without a ride in the

SIMMONS APPEAL FROM PENALTY OF DEATH POSTPONED

Assistant Attorney General Too Busy With Bread Weight Litigation.

Many Other Important Cases Set For Hearing Soon in Supreme Court.

Another delay in the hearing of Walter Simmons' appeal from the death penalty which was imposed upon him in Boyd county for the murder of Frank Pahl has been ordered by the Nebraska supreme court. Simmons' case was set for hearing October 19, but at the request of Assistant Attorney General Dort it has been put over until one of the November sittings, probably the second one in that month.

Dort will be in Washington, D. C., this week to argue the Nebraska standard weight bread law before the United States supreme court. As he is the member of the attorney general's staff who will represent the state of Nebraska, and Boyd county in the Simmons case he wanted more time to prepare for it apter his return to Lincoln.

Dispute Over Mineral Rights.

Another Boyd county matter is scheduled for hearing in supreme court October 19. It is the suit of Jehorak vs. McKelvie an original proceeding brought by the holder of a school land sale contract to strike out of the deed which the state issued him a clause reserving to itself the title to any minerals which may hereafter be found on the land.

Jehorak contends that his contract was entered into before the legislature provided for such a reservation and that he should therefore have unrestricted title to the tract. On the state's behalf it is claimed that the appraisers who fixed the price at which the land was sold took into consideration the fact that the mineral rights would remain with the state and made the price lower on that account.

Auto Driver's Appeal Set.

The Crooks case from Lancaster county in which an automobile driver was convicted of violating speed laws and endangering public safety is to be argued October 15.

On the same date the high bench will listen to presentation of legal and equitable points involved in the case of Thompson vs. Evangelical Hospital association from Lancaster county where a property owner sought to enjoin the building of a hospital on Sumner street in Lincoln near Thirteenth.

Disposition of $61,000 in excess fees collected for inspecting oils under the old law, which the last legislature changed by reducing the rate from 6 cents to 3 cents a barrel, is involved in the state's appeal from a Douglas county decision, which will come before the supreme court on the nineteenth of this month.

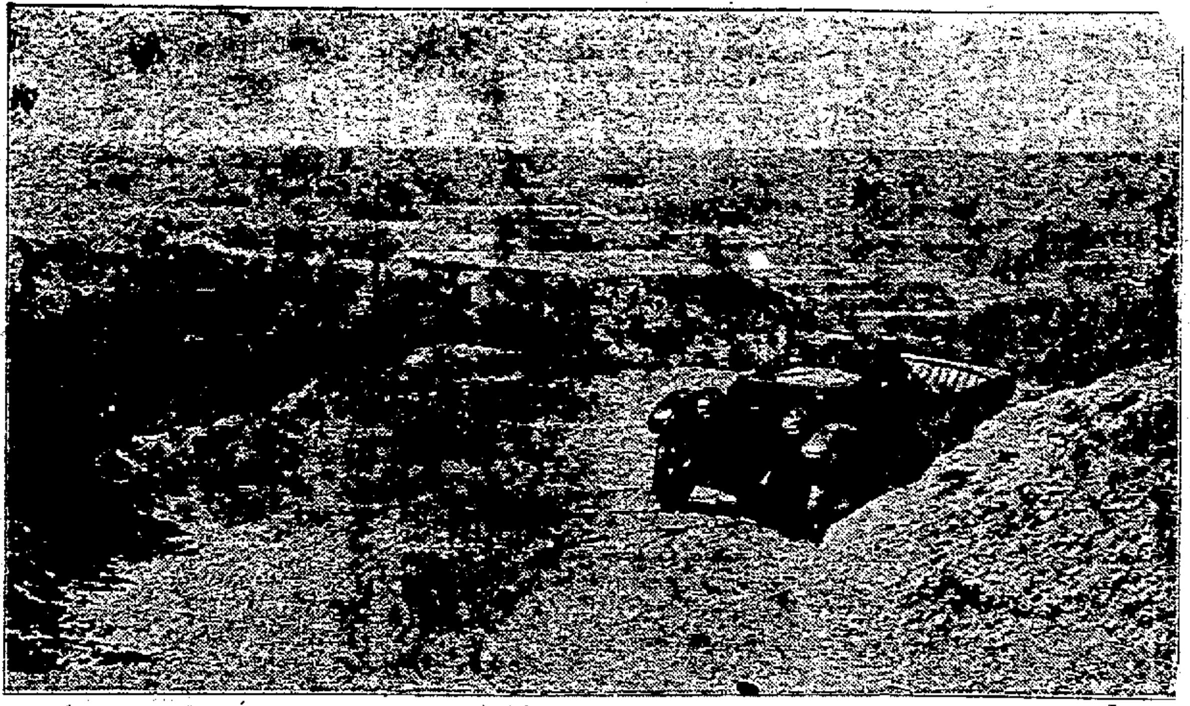
Jesse George, '23, is teaching at Hayes Center. He spent the week end at Wesleyan.

Chandler Clims Mount Wilson on High Gear at High Speed



The American continent will soon be flat, at the rate at which the Chandler, with its Pikes Peak motor, is levelling hills and mountains. The photograph reproduced here shows a stock Chandler, standard gear ratio, in its recent feat of climbing to the summit of Mount Wilson, Calif., locked and sealed in high gear. The climb is nine and one-half miles from the toll house to the summit, one mile high. The Chandler, carrying two passengers, made the distance in thirty-two minutes, despite the numerous hairpin turns. The road is a zig-zag "ladder" requiring low speed at the turns, yet the Pikes Peak motor made the ascent in high without faltering.

Boys at Kearney Industrial School Raise Farm Products

Two hundred tons of sugar beets, 4,400 bushels of potatoes, 5,000 bushels of corn, and large crops of alfalfa vegetables, and ensilage were grown at the Kearney state industrial school for boys during the past season, Supt. R. V. King reported to the board of control Saturday. Practically all of the work was done by boys in the institution.

The school also has a fine herd of 135 dairy cattle, and 65 cows are now being milked by members of the school in their practical education as formers. Besides supplying its own needs, the industrial school sells milk to the state tuberculosis hospital at Kearney, amounting to $300 per month in value.

New concrete tunnels connecting the various buildings have just been completed totaling 106 rods in length. All of this work also was done by the boys. The state paid out $4,500 for materials.

A commercial department was established at the industrial school a month ago. Six typewriters have been installed and training is now given in shorthand, with a special instructor employed for that purpose.

The institution has a fine new gymnasium which is now in full use. It serves for daily accembly and recall, movies, wrestling and boxing matches, basketball games, and other entertainments.

Normal Board to Meet at Fremont

Notwithstanding that Dan Stephens, member of the state normal board residing at Fremont, has gone to California, the board will hold its announced meeting in that city on Monday. State superintendent Matzen and Miss Ruth Pyrtle will go from Lincoln to attend it. The normal board is under some embarrassment at the present time by reason of the request filed with Governor Bryan for the removal of Col. T. J. Majors, its president, which comes from the Nebraska farmers' union legislative committee and from a number of citizens at Peru. It has not yet submitted any counter showinw to the governor. The Majors affair is expected to receive consideration at the hands of the board in the quiet seclusion of a hotel room at Fremont, whereas if the meeting were held in Lincoln it would be somewhat handicapped by publicity.

Knudson Calls For Banks' Data

A call was issued Saturday by Trade and Commerce Secretary Knudson for statements by 944 state banks of Nebraska, showing conditions of their business on October 4. These will be the third official statements to be furnished by the banks during the present calendar year, the last previous ones being on June 30. Deposits are expected to show some increases since June.

FAILED BANKS IN HANDS OF STATE

Secretary Knudson In Charge of Affairs of Two Omaha Institutions.

State Trade and Commerce Secretary K. C. Knudsen was named by the district court at Omaha on Saturday as receiver for the failed American State and Pioneer State banks of that city, and is now in charge of their affairs. He will act in that capacity as agent for the guaranty fund commission, of which he is chairman.

Mr. Knudson took over the American State bank from F. E. Bodie, who had been officiating as receiver for two years or more. The Pioneer State bank has heretofore been in the hands of A. L. Schantz, an Omaha banker, as its receiver. Large sums were drawn from the state guaranty fund to pay their depositors and neither institution has repaid anything to the fund as yet.

E. J. Dempster of Geneva, a member of the guaranty fund commission, was appointed by the district court of Plattsmouth to be receiver of the suspended Bank of Cass County at that place. This bank also was in F. E. Bodie's hands.

The A. Castetter banking house at Blair, a third institution which the former state administration placed in charge of Mr. Bodie after its failure, has lately been taken over by Emil Folda of Clarkson, another member of the commission, who will perform the receiver's duties.

Laune to Address Lincoln Ad Club

Paul S. Laune will speak on "Commercial Art" at the Lincoln Ad club luncheon Monday noon. Members are requested to bring a guest; and any Lincoln advertiser who has not yet joined the club is also invited.

Easterday Returns From Convention of Insurance Men

C. R. Easterday returned Friday from West Baden Springs, Ind., where he attended a three day convention of the general agents of the Penn Mutual Life Insurance company for the central western states. The home office was represented by the president, first vice president and a number of the other officers of the company and there was a manifest feeling of rejoicing over the largely increased volume of business produced during the first nine months of the current year and a distinct feeling of optimism regarding the business outlook for the coming fall and winter months.

Last Longer-Less Adjustment

Buick Four-Wheel Brakes

Buick four-wheel brakes not only double the braking efficiency of the new 1924 Buicks by doubling the braking surface, but for the same reason lessen the wear on each brake mechanism in proportion. Buick four-wheel brakes last longer. They require less adjustment and the linings do not wear down as quickly.

Simple in construction and positive in action, Buick four-wheel brakes give added safety under all circumstances. They are of the Buick external contracting type and each brake has a three-quarter wrap or grip instead of the usual half-way grip.

Buick four-wheel brakes are operated with a slight pressure on the service brake pedal. They act quickly, smoothly and easily.

All 1924 Buicks (both fours and sixes) have these new four-wheel brakes. In addition, the 1924 Buicks embody further advancements in power, in construction and in beauty that make Buick more than ever "the Standard of Comparison".

AUTO CLUB PICNIC IS A BIG SUCCESS

Stunts and Contests Entertain Crowd During Afternoon Program.

Terry Rathbone of St. Paul Traveled Greatest Distance to Attend Outing.

The annual picnic of the Lincoln Automobile club at the Auto club park at Saltillo Saturday was the most successful event of the kind ever staged in the history of the club, according to club officers, More than 2,500 people were on the grounds during the afternoon and enjoyed the stunts and athletic events that the committee had provided for their entertainment.

Among the special prizes awarded was one to the person who had traveled the greatest distance to attend the picnic. It was won by Terry Rathbone, of St. Paul, Minn., who had traveled 525 miles. C. E. Cummings was awarded the prize for having the largest family. There were ten in his family. The oldest auto in the park, a 1907 Packard, owned by H. P. Samasear, won the prize. The youngest baby was Ernest Shepherd, three weeks and three days old. The newest auto was owned by Ray Hall.

A country store did a flourishing business while a clown entertained the children. A picnic dinner was served at 5 o'clock An attraction that was popular during the afternoon was a quartet from the reformatory. An orchestra furnished music during the entertainment and later played for dancing.

BOY ACCUSED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

that the car should be run into a pole, according to the story related to the county attorney.

Following that decision the party took the car to Twenty-first and Sumner streets, where it was run against a telephone pole, it is said.

The first attempt did not produce satisfactory results, so it was again crashed into the pole. When the desired effect was secured a local garage was called, to give proof that the car had struck a telephone pole, Mr. Matson was informed.

The automobile was not going at a high rate of speed, at the time of the accident, it is thought by the officers.

Before going to the fraternity house, the party circled around to Seventeenth and D streets, and two of the members walker over to the scene of the wreck The damaged taxi was seen, according to the depositions taken.

The Branch car was going north at the time of the collision, and struck the taxi as it was going west on D street.

Taxi Is Overturned.

The taxi rolled over three times, before crashing to a stop against the curbing, according to the story told at the time by the driver.

Mrs Heidenreich is the mother-in-law of Karl Schmitt, a state law enforcement officer, who, with others gathered the evidence which led to the filing of the complaint against young Branch.

It was stated in one of the depositions that one of the reasons why other members did not tell of the accident was the fear that it would be published in the newspapers.

Conviction on the charge against the Branch boy carries a sentence of one to ten years in the penitentiary or a fine of from $200 to $500, according to County Attorney Matson.

Missionary Workers To Meet at Columbus

The annual meeting of the Nebraska Home and Foreign missionary societies of the Congregational churches will be held at Columbus, three days beginning October 9. Mrs. Edward Marty is president of the state organization.

Delegates from Lincoln who will attend are: Mesdames J. E. Kirshman, J. F. Hanford, H. W. Orr, W. A. Tyler, W. R. Riley, Landy Clark, J P. Walton and C. J. Howell.

The proclamation follows:

"Whereas, a condition of lawlessness has heretofore for some time prevailed in several counties of the state of Oklahoma under which numerous masked mobs have kidnapped, beaten, mutilated and in some instances, raped and murdered citizens of Oklahoma, and,

"Whereas, by virtue of the authority vested in me as governor of the state of Oklahoma and for the protection of the people of Oklahoma and the benefit of law and restoration of order and the detention of perpetrators of these crimes, I have heretofore declared martial law in Oklahoma and through that agency have protected the people, restored order and investigated hundreds of these mob whippings and murders, and,

Speaks of Evidence.

"Whereas, the sworn evidence as to the existence of this system of lawlessness and the identity of the organization responsible for this system of operation, the membership of which is secret, has been secured by duly authorized military commissions and is now available for the use of the proper authorities, both legislative and judicial, and,

"Whereas, it is imperative that legislation be immediately enacted which will unmask the organization responsible for the perpetration of these crimes of violence and prevent their recurrence.

"Now, therefore, I, J. C. Walton, governor of Oklahoma state, pursuant to the power vested in me by the constitution of the state of Oklahoma, do hereby convoke the legislature of the said state in extraordinary session at the state capitol at Oklahoma City at 9 o'clock, Thursday, October 11, A. D. 1923, for the purpose the enactment of a law to protect the people from masked and lawless marauders and mobs and secret organizations."

re-entrance into the cabinet at the price of surrendering the eight-hour work day. In principle this great fruit of the socialist revolution is safeguarded from compromise, but in substance it has been surrendered, for it has been made an "elastic measure." It is declared by competent observers that, to make the eight-hour day in Germany "elastic" in principle is to make it null and void in practice.

In his reichstag speech, Stresemann said in part:

"But we must work more We hope to increase production through peaceable agreements between labor and capital. But where peaceable arrangements are impossible, special legislation is necessary.

"There has been no danger, even from England. But Germany is suffering from shameful treatment which is continuing despite our offers which far exceeded the Versailles treaty. We were willing to mobilize even private capital to pay the allies.

Praises Reichswehr.

"In the name of the fatherland I thank the reichswehr for its loyalty, especially in the Kuestrin affair." (German nationalists last Sunday night seized the fortress at Kuestrin, but were soon dislodged by reichswehr.)

The chancellor denounced the nationalistic agitation in the Bavarian press saying that energetic measures were already being taken to suppress the Hitler newspapers.

Dr. Hitler is head of the national socialists as the Bavarian fascisti are officially known.

The chancellor stated that Germany's last reparations offer to the allies would be renewed. Since it was made Germany has met France's demand that passive resistance end.

Stresemann denied that parliamentarism had failed in Germany. He said that it was a question of whether industrialism had failed properly to support the state. Industrialists, he charged, often refused to give aid when they had the opportunity.

SHERIFF SELLS FARM.

BEATRICE, Neb., Oct. 6—The Frank Fisher farm of 160 acres three miles southeast of Filley, was sold this week at sheriff sale to Boyd M. Raynor of Filley for $18,720. The farm is fairly well improved.

NEXT WAR WILL END CIVILIZATION —ROBINS

Says American People Do Not Know Actual Price of Warfare.

The people of America do not really know the actual price of war as compared with the European nations, is the opinion of Raymond Robins who spoke to a large audience at the Unitarian church Saturday evening.

"There is an aftermath which we do not see if we do see it we do not understand it. This aftermath is made up partially of the extravagance, waste, recklessness and restlessness which is in evidence everywhere," he said. It is this that is bringing on the ruination of civilization he believes.

"The next general war will end the western civilization," he declared. This he explained was due to the fact that destructive instruments have been invented that are powerful enough to wipe out a city in a few hours and a nation in a very brief space of time.

Women will be conscripted in the next war as well as the men. If they are not on the actual battle front they will be in the factories, the speaker asserted.

The last war was play compared with what the next may be, but even the last imperiled civilization in so far as it created a disregard for life and law and liberty that is appaling, Mr. Robins said.

He gave examples of the feeling of disregard for the liberty of people and their constitutional rights in citing a number of movements in different sections of the country.

Mr Robins was introduced by Dr. H. J. Lehnhoff.

Lexington Chamber Gives a Banquet to Boost Home Buying

LEXINGTON, Neb., Oct. 6—One of the most successful and unique banquets ever given in this city was held here Thursday night. The banquet was given by the chamber of commerce for the purpose of welding the farmer and the business man of Dawson county into a closer fellowship. In addition to creating a better fellowship between the farmer and merchant, it was also the idea to create a greater demand for home made products, both of the city and the farm. Everything on the menu was home manufactured.

John E. Jacobson, president of the chamber of commerce and Mr. Martin, head of the agricultural development department of the Union Pacific railroad, were the principal speakers. Bert L Story, and a number of others, prominent in community affairs also talked

TO OPEN DRIVE.

DENVER, Oct. 6.—To "win support of the entire western congressional delegation for the equal rights amendment," Miss Anita Pollitzer, national secretary of the woman's party declared here tonight that an intensive camapign would be launched immediately in practically every state in the rocky mountain and Pacific coast region.

Funeral Services For Floyd Smith Held at Fremont

(Special to The Star.)

FREMONT, Neb., Oct. 6.—Funeral services for Floyd Smith, student in the Omaha medical college were held at 2 o'cock Saturday afternoon at the residence of Fred Murrie, in accord with the expressed wish of the young man on his dethbed. The late Dr. Smith nd his sons roomed with the family of Mr. Murrie for severl years, and the funeral of Dr. Smith was held at the same residence. Students from the medical college attended in a body. Rev. E. L. Baker, pastor of the Methodist church, officiated. The Masonic ritual was carried out and an escort of Knights Templar followed the casket. The rites of the American Legion, also, were observed Mr. Smith's death in Omaha this week followed an illness from infection, dating back to Labor day, when a slight injury to his foot resulted in blood poison.

Methodist Hospital Association Banquet

The Lincoln Methodist Hospital association will hold its annual banquet at Trinity M E. church, at the corner of Sixteenth and A streets, next Friday evening at 6 o'clock. The principal speakers will be Bishop Homer C. Stuntz, and Rev. F. E. Sala. Rev. Mr Sala was assigned at the last session of the Nebraska annual conference to the position of executive secretary of the Lincoln Methodist hospital and has just returned from a visit to several of the leading hospitals of the middle west. He will report at the banquet and definite plans will be announced in connection with the Methodist hospital project.

Fremont Legion to Adopt Girl Cadet

(Special to The Star.)

Tuesday Is "Fire Prevention" Day

During the next week the attention of the nation will be directed to the observance of "fire prevention day," which is Tuesday, Oct. 9.

Through the week Lincoln, together with other cities, will conduct special activities, tending to decrease the destruction caused each year by fire, and the necessity of personal care in the prevention of fires.

Uniformed firemen will address students in all Lincoln schools, inspect the school buildings and watch the pupils do the fire drill.

The day was set aside for observance by special proclamation of President Coolidge.

Foreign War Vets Organize New Post

(Special to The Star.)

BEATRICE, Neb., Oct 6.—With an initial charter list of fifty and almost as many more waiting to be initiated, according to the new officers, a post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars was instituted here last night. O. D. Boster, of Lincoln, department of Nebraska senior vice commander had charge. The degree team of Richard L. Harris post of Lincoln did the initiatory work with Foster Weyand in the commander's chair. National Aide de Camp F. L. Fasset, of Lincoln, in summing up the purposes of the organization told the over seas men "the V. F. W. was not only an organization of ex-service men but an organization of men for service for one flag, one country and one language." President Inez Brinkworth of the Lincoln auxiliary and Mrs. F. L. Fasset were in the party and before the evening was ended had the work of organizing an auxiliary here well under way.

Enormous Cow Now Has Monster Calf

OMAHA, Neb, Oct 6.—"Jumbo," a Holstein cow of elephantine proportions, belonging to Frank Bachman of Ralston, is now the proud and the happy mother of a daughter which promises rivalry in size.

When Mr Bachman brought her from Wisconsin the first week in September, "Jumbo," weighed 2,010 pounds. The average Holstein will weigh around 1,100 to 1,200 pounds. The calf when born September 30. weighed 156 pounds, just about double the weight of the ordinary calf at birth.

Mr. Bachman thinks his cow will make new records in producing milk as well as in producing calves.

CRETE NOTES.

(Special to The Star).

CRETE, Neb, Oct. 6.—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Svancera celebrated their thirtieth wedding anniversary Wednesday evening by giving a supper and dancing party at Sokol hall. A mock wedding was a feature of the program. About 200 were present.

The funeral of James K. Patterson, pioneer resident of Crete, was held at the home Thursday afternoon. Mr Patterson died September 29, but because of the impassable condition of the roads to the cemetery following the rains of last week burial was delayed. It was possible to hold the funeral only when the horse-drawn hearse used here several years ago was pressed into service. Mr. Patterson was a native of Ohio. He was born in 1842. He leaves his widow, Mary Patterson, one son and five grand children.

zW K Beender was severely injured Wednesday morning while working on his auto. A jack with which he had raised one end of the car slipped and allowed the machine to back and pass over his legs bruising both badly.

Mrs J G. Robertson slipped and fell from the steps of her home here Wednesday evening and broke her ankle.

Measles are prevalent among the children of the Crete grade schools.

The Crete Woman's club gave a membership tea in honor of their husbands and the teachers in the public schools, Friday at the home of the president, Mrs. J. D. Menke.

Mrs. Penney of Fullerton was expected to be present but was detained on account of illness. An interesting program was given.

Mrs. R. G. Miller has returned from Pasadena, Calif., where she had been visiting her father.

Robert Freu had a narrow escape from death by drowning during the recent high waters. He had started for home, seven miles southwest of Crete, and his horses stepped into a ditch pulling him in. Some men who happened to be near and saw the team and driver go into the ditch saved his life and rescued the team.

Stage Employes Union Head Asked To Resign Office

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 6.—Charles Shay, international president of the theatrical stage employes union, has resigned, according to a statement made here today by Thomas Maloy, business agent of the motion picture operators' union, and an official of the theatrical employes organization.

Maloy added that Shay's resignation was demanded when the international president had failed to account for $75,000 of the theatrical stage employes' union.

All efforts to reach Shay today were unavailing.

Washington News Had An Effect On The Grain Market

CHICAGO, Oct. 6—Some of the strength this week in the wheat market may be attributed to news from the nation's capital. Added stimulation came from the higher range of corn.

Commission houses, absorbing wheat on the declines, brought some of the tightening noticeable at times, in trading. The market, however, rallied without a great deal of buying being necessary.

DARING ROBBERIES.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 6. — Bandits and burglars operated with unusual daring here tonight, more than a dozen holdups, ten burglaries, and a murder being reported to the police at midnight.

Mechanically Better

Gray
Motor Corporation Detroit

THE engineers who designed the Gray car learned through 20 years of experience what not to do in building a good light car.

The executives who head the Gray Company know after many years of merchandising automobiles what the public most desire in light cars.

Then they all worked for a long time to perfect Gray design. They were in no hurry and they were sure of the soundness of their ideas.

The combined result of these efforts is the present Gray Car—holding the world's official economy record and with a record of success in its first year of production that no other car has ever approached.

The Gray Car is mechanically better. This is a provable fact—let us show you all that means.

PERU NORMALITES WIN OVER TARKIO

(Special to The Star.)

PERU, Neb., Oct. 6.—Coach Graf's Bobcats sent another Missouri team to defeat, when the Peru eleven won from Tarkio by a score of 21 to 7. Except for a few moments at the close of the game, when a series of completed forward passes put the visitors on the offensive, the Peru team was never in danger.

The Nebraska Teachers had a line that completely outplayed Tarkio; only one first down was made through it. Peru made sixteen first downs to six for Missouri, and more than doubled Tarkio's yardage. Captain Kyle starred for Tarkio. The Peru line plus Buising, F. Bell and Bitzie played the outstanding game for Peru.

Peru held Tarkio for downs after the kickoff and then reeled off three firstdowns in succession with Edie, Buising Bitzie and Bell carrying the ball. Then Tarkio held and the game resolved itself into a punting duel. Finally a neatly executed pass from Bitzie to Frary netted 25 yards and a touchdown. Bitzie kicked goal.

Peru's Powerful Offensive.

Peru put on a powerful offensive in the second quarter and made six first downs. With the ball on Tarkio's 8-yard line Buising plunged through center for a touchdown. Bitzie kicked goal. Peru tried desperately to make another touchdown before the half ended but could not quite make it.

The third quarter was almost a duplicate of the first. Bitzie gained in the punting duel until Peru was in striking distance. Then by line plunges the third touchdown was scored. Bitzie plunged off tackle for the last 7 yards. He kicked goal. Peru made a bid for another touchdown in the final quarter. Tarkio held and then tried a desperate forward pass attack. Four successive forward passes and a penalty carried the ball across. A pretty pass from Kyle to Wood ended the march up the field. Captain Kyle kicked goal.

Fremont Play To Tie Score On Ashland Gridiron

(Special to The Star.)

ASHLAND, Neb., Oct. 6.—Fremont high played Ashland high here Friday afternoon. It was the hardest fought game seen here in several years, the score being 0 to 0.

Features of the game was Fremont's interference and Ashland's defense. Cresence, Miller, Elwood, Hofman, Richards of Ashland, were the individual stars in the game.

Neither team had any decided advantage at any time. Fremont completed one forward pass and Ashland completed two. The game was especially clean and without penalties.

Auburn Takes First Game From Nebraska City Hi

(Special to The Star.)

AUBURN, Neb., Oct. 6.—Auburn ushered in the 1923 football season Friday by defeating their old time rivals Nebraska City, 12 to 6. What was estimated to be the largest crowd that ever attended a football game in this city turned out to witness the curtain-raiser game. A large number of Nebraska City rooters accompanied the team.

Nebraska City excelled in passing Poling making forty yards on the first attempt while Auburn made most of its yardage through the line McKnight and Curtis scored the two touchdowns for Auburn. Poling crossed the line for Nebraska City's only touchdown.

Dauss Pitches Detroit Into Second Position

DETROIT, Oct. 6—Dauss pitched the Detroit Tigers into second place this afternoon by holding St. Louis to eight hits while his mates were pounding out 12 safeties for a 12 to 3 win. Score by innings:

59—Used Cars for Sale

EVERY CAR YOU SEE ON THE ROAD
—IS A USED CAR—
THINK OF THAT:
THE ONLY NEW CARS ARE IN THE SALESROOMS.

EVERY CAR THAT PASSES YOUR HOME today is a USED CAR, and the only difference between them is that some are second-hand and others are first-hand.

"SECOND-HAND" refers only to change in ownership and implies nothing as to condition. The man with a "SECOND-HAND" car may have the better car of the two.

AND ANOTHER POINT, TOO—New cars carry a nationally advertised selling price set by the manufacturer to show a profit for HIMSELF—THE DISTRIBUTOR—and the LOCAL DEALER.

A LEGITIMATE AUTOMOBILE DEALER has just one thing to guard—that's his REPUTATION. This is the one business that depends in no degree on transient trade. We have to live among those we do business with.

That's why the other class of dealers don't stay long in business—at all—or in any one town for any great length of time. They can't. So, when you try to settle the question of NEW CAR vs. USED CAR, let nothing but your pocketbook be your guide—but guide your pocketbook to a reliable dealer. You can be safe in either case.

Investigate THE AUTO EXCHANGE CO. Before You Purchase That Car.

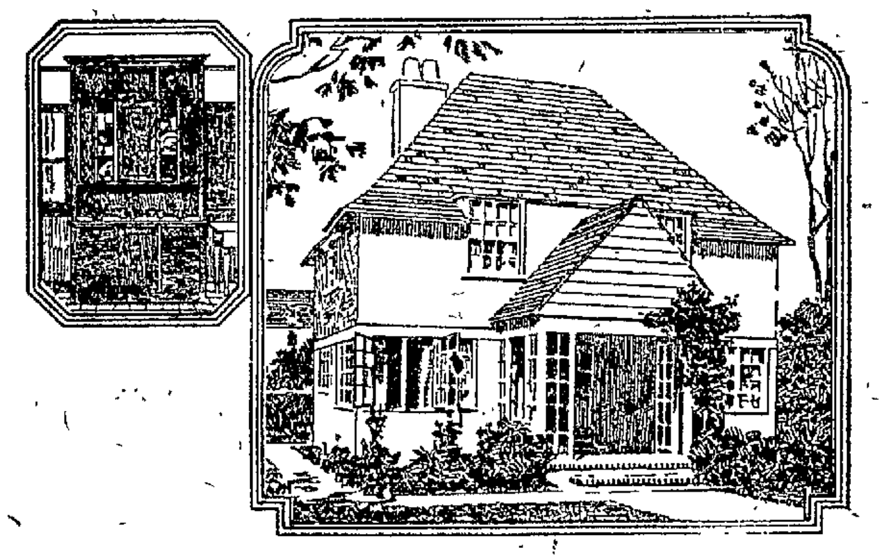
A WELL-DESIGNED SQUARE HOUSE



Here is a house of five rooms on two floors, with sunparlor and bath. It is a "square house," but it varies pleasantly from the usal boxlike square house, in that it is architecturally true to an approved type. Yet it is not ostentatious in its development of the English style. It is one that fits the average community, the needs and tastes of the average family, and the average pocketbook.

The use of stucco, the many casements, the steep roof, slightly curving at the eaves, and the characteristic chimney pots are typical of the English architectural expression. The upper windows breaking into the roof lines is a daring feature, but one which "grows" on you.

The dining room also opens from the solarium, and from the living room through French doors. Its shape is unusual and attractive, two corners being cut straight across—one by the chimney, the other by a corner china closet of English details, built-in as a part of the house. The kitchen is sunny and airy, small and compact enough to be efficient. It has a built-in dresser, and in the rear hall and the refrigerator entry there are plenty of handy shelves that will save many steps.

The second floor consists of two good-sized bedrooms with generous closets. Each has the desirable cross-ventilation, but there are several possible locations for the bed in each, to avoid drafts. In one of them there is a tray-case, which is a tier of dawerrlike trays, enclosed behind a regular interior door. This is rather a new idea, and an extremely convenient arrangement.

The bathroom has a convenient location for both floors, at the head of the stairs. Just outside its door, two closets orm a passageway. One of these is the linen closet, fitted with five open-front trays that slide out, and two deep drawers. In the space above the bulkier bedding can be store.

SOPHOMORES 1922-23 PEGGY ANDRESS, CAPTAIN, AND REX GAY, COACH.

BY LYNELLE GREER.

Supposing they do wear bloomers instead of—well, instead of those things the fellows wear—

Supposing the player that kicks the ball does stuff the toes of her shoes with cotton—

And supposing two of the best players did come down with the mumps the very night before the big game—

Just supposing all of that were true, and it is—that's no reason why the girls of Doane college can't have the very best girls' football team in the whole state of Nebraska, or any other state for that matter, because its the only girls' football team that anyone has ever heard about.

Girls Show Enthusiasm.

We're the girls o fthe institoot" kind of a team, either, but a regular honest-to-goodness team that plays real football. They do everything the fellows do, that is in the way of football, and they are just as enthusiastic about it as the men ever could be, and everything else in the way of sports is a bore, according to the girls who have played, after they have once been on the big eleven.

There are two girls' teams in the college, the freshmen have one, and the sophomores have another, and it is between these two classes that the annual combat takes place.

The football season for girls began two years ago when something different was sought in the way of Olympics. The inter-class scraps had ceased to be as interesting as they had been and diversity was the order of the day.

Some clever girl thought of the football idea, and it went across with the other girls big, but when it came to the coach it had cold water thrown all over it, for the coach decided that the girls could play nothing but a ridiculous game of football, and he didn't intende to have the game cheapened for his men.

Hit Training Grind.

But the girls went in training just the same, they had the privilege of selecting coaches from the college boys, and they took the best they could find. Every night just before the Doane squad went out for practice, the girls, either the freshmen or the sophomores used the athletic field for practice. And they had real practice too, not mere play.

"We had class work for about a week before we began real practice" said one of the players. "Our coach told us all the details of the game. He explained and demonstrated various plays until we had a fair knowledge before we went out on the field."

And then—

The things they had to learn!

They had to learn in the first place that a girl who was given up as hopeless material as left or right tackle, might be a whiz as a guard, and that one girl couldn't play a whole game of football, and that you had to keep still and think, and that you couldn't go screaming over the field, because if you did you missed out on some of the signals, perhaps.

Signal For Combat.

Well, day after day the practice went on, and finally up went the freshmen flag.

That was the signal for combat. The freshmen have all the say-so about whats-going-to-happen-when, at Doane, and every day the sophs had to be on the lookout for this flag. The morning they saw it the whole school went wild, for the afternoon football game promised to be the biggest thriller Doane had had for some time.

The coach while not at all enthusiastic, was at least interested, and all of the faculty and the student body turned out to see the fray.

The sophomores won the toss and chose to defend the north goal—the freshmen kicked off and the game was on. And on and on it went, first the freshmen seemed to be victorious and then the sophs would regain the ball and away they would go. Finally a sophomore girl by the name of Winona Lewis circled the sophomore's right end twenty-five yards to a touchdown.

And such a touchdown—

Winona was just about to make the touchdown when some inconsiderate and unfeeling freshman tripped her—but that didn't stop Winona, she went down, but she didn't hesitate, she turned a somersault right over the goal line and scored the only touchdown that was made during the entire game.

That all happened in the first half of the game, but during the second half neither team could score.

It is needless to say that the game was a surprise, not only to the coach, who said afterwards it was a mighty good game, but a surprise to the spectators, and maybe even to the players.

And the girls—

Well there was no time for powder puffs or anything of that kind, but no one could deny but what they were mighty attractive in their football togs.

Stuffed Shoes With Cotton.

Of course the girl who kicked the ball stuffed her shoe toes with cotton, that was to keep her toes from being broken. One of them tried kicking the ball without the cotton one day, and it was almost a week before she could walk just right.

And there was so much to learn about kicking the ball just right, and the very hardest thing that looked the very easiest was catching the ball.

"If you think it's easy," one of the girls said, "just try it. You never know what the old thing is going to do, whether it's going to bounce clear away from you, or whether it's going to come right down into your hands. It seldom does that, however."

The girls have had a game for two years, now, and they are busy getting things ready for a game this year. Some of the girls who were sophomores two years ago, and who will be out of the friction this year, are hoping that the senior girls will decide to have a football team of their own.

Like The American Sport.

"I should just love to play another game," said a clever looking senior. "This is my last year, and I love to play football better than anything, better than basketball or any of the games that girls play."

Fate seems to be against the freshmen somehowor other, for they have been defeated both years, but there's consolation in the fact that the next year they are sophomores and can make up for lost time on the new crop of freshmen.

"We had a wonderful team" said one of the freshmen players of last year, "and we could have beat them, too, but two of our very best players came down with the mumps the very night before the game, and there we were. We had to put in two girls that didn't know any more about the game than anything, and of course we were beaten—who wouldn't be."

Refuse To Play Sidelines.

There seemed to be no such thing as substitutes with the girls, they either played or they didn't play, but they wouldn't hang around and wonder if they were going to get a chance to play. They were all eager to play, but none of them would play second fiddle, not even for the good of the cause. So that's how it happened that the poor unsuspecting freshmen had to put up with two raw recruits during the big game.

"You just wait," the freshman added—"we'll fix 'em this year. Only she is a sophomore now, and can scarcely remember that she ever was a freshman.

But the sophomores claim that they were handicapped, some, also, and that it didn't hinder them from winning the game.

It seems as though one of the girls and the most promising on the sophomore team was all excited about the game. Her father had been a football star so she thought that surely father would certainly sympathize with her feeling in the matter and that he would lend his moral support to the team even if it did have to be given absentia.

Father Sets Foot Down.

Father's absent treatment was in the form of a letter forbidding daughter to participate in the game —and that was that.

And that was almost the blow that killed the sophomores—but it didn't. They rallied and worked twice as hard and won the game.

This year the girls say that they don't intend to say anything about football to the folks at home until the game is over. There is no particular danger, they say. One of the girls was slightly scratched and another sprained her wrist or her ankle, they had forgotten which, but that was the greatest of the casualties.

The boys at Doane, so the girls say, were just as interested as they could possibly be, and that they did much to help the girls along in their new line of sport.

Makes Hit With Boys.

"They told us lots of things that helped" the girls said, "and they told us after the games that they enjoyed our game just as much as they enjoyed their own."

It is almost too bad that somewhere in the country there isn't another team of girls so that there could be a real combat that might prove a bit more interesting than

New, Homelike Quarters of Lincoln University Club Will Be Opened to Members on October 13

Upper left—Squashy divans, softly glowing lamps, and gay chintzes are making the women's lounge in the new University club a paradise fashioned exactly for the feminine heart. Brilliant pink lamps, edged with soft green shine upon the most modern of walls, styled in gray and white stripe. Quaint old fashioned chairs are upholstered in a chintz design of pink French ladies on a green ground—an old French design of a modern print.

Upper and lower right—The center of the men's lounge is a carved Tudor fireplace, around which cluster Davenports and big easy chairs of striking king's blue and yellow-orange, striped in black. Back of the splotches of color of the furnishings are restful green walls, the misty green of a spring hillside, and over all is the rosy glow of the Italian pink of the wood work.

The big tables with their weight of magazines, the desks, the stands, all are in dull brown walnut. Some of the invitingly comfortable chairs are upholstered in green and some are in black, with smart blue and green parrots, casting eyes upon baskets of fruit in dull rose and yellow.

The new quarters of the Lincoln University club, at 1124 N street, will be open to its members October 13. For months, the work of remodelling an old building to meet new requirements has been going on, carpenters, painters, and decorators have transformed an old dark business building into a homelike cheerful place where comfort and hospitality are of prime importance.

It was in 1920 that the idea of a University club was first presented in Lincoln, at a dinner and smoker at the Chamber of Commerce. A committee was appointed to investigate and submit a plan for the organization of such a club. But before they had perfected their plans came the business depression, which caused a postponement.

Idea Is Revived.

Early last spring, the idea was revived, enough members secured to assure the success of the club, and a lease signed.

Much credit is due the present board of directors for the persistency with which they have held to the idea that a city the size of Lincoln, wherein is situated one of the large universities should have a social club for college and university graduates. The officers and members of the present board are President, Lynn Lloyd; vice-president, Harvey Rathbone; secretary-treasurer, Thos. C. Woods; H. B. Alexander, Fred Archibald, L. A. Flansburg, Don Miller, E. B. Stephenson, Dr. J. M. Mayhew, D. W. Upson, Ralph Weaverling, Guy E. Reed, R. F. Stout, Cedric Potter, J. C. Ridnour.

A survey of the charter membership shows that it has representatives from such schools as: Rush Medical College, Harvard, University of Pennsylvania; University of Wisconsin, Iowa College, Lehigh university, Michigan university, Dartmouth, John Hopkins, Yale, Cornell, Northwestern, Princeton, University of Chicago, Beloit, Michigan Aggies, Brown university, Amherst, Indiana university, Ames, University of Illinois, Armour Institute, Creighton university, Hamilton, McGill, Annapolis Union, University of Oklahoma, University of Pittsburg, University of Nebraska, University of Berlin, Columbia and University of Leipzig. The membership also comprises many prominent business men who have been very active in sponsoring educational institutions in this vicinity.

Quarters of the Club.

The quarters of the club consist of a men's lounge, a card room, ladies lounge, reception hall, ladies' reception room and cloak rooms, ladies' dining room, men's dining room, a private dining room for small parties, a kitchen, and an office. A billiard room is expected to be installed very soon as well as a reading room and library.

There is little doubt in the minds of the committee, and those who have seen the plans as they developed, that the decoration of the club rooms will be unique and among the most attractive of the kind in the west. The decorations have been done by Helene Mitchell Foe, in accordance with latest ideas. And while Mrs Foe has made them modern in spirit, at the same time they will be unusually comfortable and beautiful in color.

Rough plaster walls have been used throughout, with the exception of the women's lounge. These walls are done in old Italian colors and finish and the wood is painted to make an interesting scheme, while carpets of soft brown give the rooms an air of quiet luxury.

At Head of Stairs.

At the head of the stairs the French doors leading into the entrance hall are brilliant red. The hall walls seen through these doors are in a deep soft yellow, with darker tan and red wood work. Here the furniture is black painted wood, upholstered in a printed chintz with Greek motives in black, red and yellow. Portiers and a tall screen of the same material, and yellow glass curtains carry out the colors of walls and wood. The room is lighted with two antique iron and amber glass lanterns and large mirrors reflect the fabrics. An old walnut mirror and console of interesting design are used on one wall, while the office and cigar counter which joins the entrance hall is done to match the prevailing scheme.

From the hall open the dressing rooms, the main lounge, the women's dining room and lounge and the main dining room. Of these rooms the main lounge is one of the most beautiful. It is treated in a scheme of green and orange. The walls are a soft antique green, blended, and the wood an Italian pink. The large windows, which allow sunlight to stream into the lounge all day, are hung in theatrical gauze which tempers the light. Here the overhangings are of brilliant orange velvet. The color note in this room is a bright blue, which is used on one of the davenports and repeated in the design on the black and orange chintz which covers the lounge chairs. Other davenports are done in a wide stripe of tan and deep brown, which blends with the soft floor covering.

Fireplace Is Carved.

The fireplace for this room is carved, in a Tudor design, and above it hangs a large mirror, while color prints from Holbein, and a Rembrant selfportrait hang on the walls. The lighting in this room will be from two yellow chintz drum shades, a large floor lamp, and a great green Chinese jar. The side lights are old iron lanterns. Other chairs in this room are in a yellow and orange chintz and a pair of green striped chairs harmonize with the walls, while between the windows are painted wooden benches. Off the main lounge is a comfortable card room equipped with card and chess tables. The walls here are green, the wood Italian pink like the lounge.

One of the rooms which is decidly in spirit from the men's quarters is the women's lounge, which is hung in a gray striped paper. At the large double window, over theatrical gauze is hung a modern print in old French design, of green trees and dancing ladies in pink. The drum shades which light the room are of pink with frayed ruchings of green taffeta. Four antique walnut side chairs are upholstered in the same material, and wicker furniture is painted in apple green, to match the wood work. The room has a small gold table with scenes from Venice painted on it, and a gold polychrome lamp.

The Women's Dining Room.

Opening off the women's lounge, and off the main hall is the women's dining room, done like the main dining room. These rooms are made to be thrown together in case of large gatherings. The scheme for the dining rooms is a very new one and a very old one. The walls are in old tan, in a very heavy antique finish; the wood is in deep blue green; and the hangings in red violet brocade over theatrical gauze. The tables and chairs for this room are done in a pattern of the same blue green as the wood and a cocoa brown. On the walls are hung two beautiful mirrors, and a pair of old parchment screens are used at the service doors. Off this dining room is a private dining room, with the same walls and the wood in soft yellow.

All the colors throughout are in harmony, so that in passing from one room to another a sense of unity prevails in the schemes. While the ideas in the decorating are new, and the fabrics modern in design, Mrs Foe has so planned them that they will give an atmosphere of liveableness and comfort and beauty. She has taken great care to make the rooms the kind that men will be comfortable in, and to make the scheme one which members will not grow tired of, but which can be used as a background for improvements which they may wish to add. The rooms will be interesting enough, from a decorative point of view, so that members will want to bring their friends to see them.

Miss Ehlers Hostess.

The club has secured the services of Miss Bertha Ehlers who will serve the club as hostess. Miss Ehlers will superintend the food service for the dining rooms, and for the social affairs of the members as bridge luncheons, teas, dinners, and banquets. The club has provided ample space and accommodations for the use of the ladies in their social activities for which the hostess' services will be at their disposal.

Miss Ehlers is a graduate of the home economics course at the University of Nebraska and comes to the club with a great deal of experience in food service. She recently served the Davidson tea room at Sioux City as hostess and manager.

The main features of the club are the large comfortable men's lounge and the spacious dining room. In the men's lounge a large fire place will give warmth and glow that will not be artificial.

Louis Horne Manager.

As manager and secretary of the club, the services of Louis W. Horne, formerly private secretary to Governor S. R. McKelvie, have been the University of Nebraska and is widely acquainted in the city and throughout the state with college and university men.

The committees of the club are: House committee, Cedric Potter, chairman; Earl Campbell and Willhard Yates; library committee, Dr. H. W. Orr, chairman; Malcolm G. Wyer and Louis W. Horne; entertainment committee, Geo. W. Fawell, jr., chairman; W. B. Romans, Victor Krause.

WESLEYAN NOTES.

Miss Beulah G. Champ of the Nebraska Wesleyan faculty holds a class in dramatic art every Tuesday evening in the Wesleyan studio in Lincoln. The expression department on the campus is planning entertainment for the children at the home for the friendless. The Misses Hazel Ziggafoos and Erva MacFarland gave reading at a recent entertainment. The department expects to furnish a number of readings for other organizations this fall.

Those who have returned this year for graduation in the Wesleyan school of expression are Ruth Lang, Hazel Ziggafoos, Dollie Allen, and Polley Ann Bignell. P. J. Lawson, an expression graduate, is taking up work again in the department, this fall.

Prof. Rose B. Clark, professor of elementary education at Nebraska Wesleyan, is author of the Nebraska supplement to the J. Russell Smith series of "Human Geography."

Rev. Harris Franklin Rall, professor of systematic theology at the Garrett Biblical institute in Chicago, will be a campus visitor for one week, beginning October 28.

Miss Mary Austin of Beatrice visited her brother, Louis Austin, this week.

Miss Lena Dalrymple was chosen by faculty vote, Wednesday to a place on the newly chosen athletic board for women at Wesleyan. Prof. C. J. Shirk was continued as general athletic manager. Prof. M. A. Dunham and R. W. Deal were re-elected as members of the men's athletic board.

Prof. E. M. Wells of the Nebraska Wesleyan faculty will attend the Y. M. C. A. constitutional convention in the Holenden hotel in Cleveland, Ohio, October 17 to 26 inclusive. His classes will be met by Profs Glenn Callen and W. F. Gibbs.

Dean F. A. [illegible]baster as chairman of the chapel committee reported to the faculty this week that a plan of chapel programs had been decided upon in consultation with Chancellor I. B. Schreckengast. Guests of the university will appear Monday. Members of the faculty will be given a place Thursday. Friday will be used for student rallies. The Tuesday service will be shared by the college classes and the Christian association.

My Gift to You

The white facial clay I use

By Edna Wallace Hopper

After 40 years as a famous beauty, I still look like a girl. Thousands who see me daily, on the stage and elsewhere, marvel at my youthful bloom and contours.

But mine was largely a cultivated beauty. French beauty experts, many years ago, taught me how to do it. And my girlish looks, at my grand old age are due to the helps French scientists created.

I have supplied those helps to countless women, and they secured like results. Plain women became beauties. Women old in years have warded off every sign of age. So I know these helps can bring to millions what they crave. And I have decided to supply those helps to any who wish to use them.

First new-type clay

Many years ago French experts taught me to use clay. They said that famous beauties of all ages had employed it.

They then used crude and muddy clays, like many use today. But they have since perfected clay by 20 years of scientific study.

By countless tests they have found the supreme clay, a rare mineral-laden clay. They have learned how to refine it, to remove the useless mud. My clay today is white and clean and dainty. They have found added factors which bring new and manifold results.

The clay I now use—my White Youth Clay—is nothing like the old-time clays. I have used clays for many years, but no other clay has ever brought comparable results. So now I am having this new-type clay made for all who wish to use it.

You must use clay

Clay is essential to beauty at its best. It brings new beauty, and at once. Many women, in 30 minutes, seem to drop ten years. I have seen it make plain women almost raving beauties. Clay users stand out everywhere for their beautiful complexions.

How it restores and maintains one's youthful bloom and contour is shown by my girlish face.

Youth Clay purges the skin of all that clogs and mars it. It acts to remove the cause of sallowness, blackheads and blemishes.

It brings the blood to the skin to nourish and revive it. That brings the rosy afterglow, so amazing when you see it.

It firms the skin, combats all lines and wrinkles, reduces enlarged pores. Thus it gives my skin, even at my age, the smoothness and bloom of a girl.

No matter what your age, the greatest kindness I can do you is to urge you to employ it. If young, do it for added beauty. If older, do it to renew your youth.

Edna Wallace Hopper's Youth Clay is now supplied by all druggists and toilet counters. Price, 50c and $1 per tube. Also my Youth Cream, which should follow the clay. Also my Facial Youth, my famous liquid cleanser. Also my Hair Youth, to which I owe my heavy, lustrous hair. My Beauty Book comes with each.

I guarantee that any will delight you. If the first package fails to, your dealer will return its price.

French Fruit Clusters—The Artists Latest Work Of Art.

As we all know, the French are the world's most artistic and original creators of art and design. And their newest bit has been added to the WARD-WARNER GIFT SHOP collection in the form of "fruit clusters" for your console or dining table.

You will also find unusual brass from India—Hand-engraved and enameled; a tray of irregular style, alongside a bowl of Ruskin pottery, would be a bright spot added to cheer your living room or sun room.

An Attractive Candy Shop And Tea-room.

Persons seeking knowledge will be delighted to know that at last we have found such an attractive place, where they can get a real home-cooked luncheon. M'DOWELL'S CANDY SHOP AND TEA ROOM at 136 North 12th is just the place for the home-loving people and those with asthetic tastes for fancy sandwiches, ice cream and fine candies.

City Loans Are Choice Investments.

Experienced investors recognize the value of the First Mortgage Loan on Lincoln business and residential property offered by THE FIRST TRUST CO. of LINCOLN, because their loans are secured by the sound and permanent value of residential or business land and buildings. The titles are thoroughly examined by our attorneys before we put our own money into the loan and offer them to the public for sale. An inviting feature about these loans is that they are free from Nebraska state, county and city personal property taxes.

Being divided into bonds of $100. $500 and $1,000 denominations they are available to both the large and small investor.

We have for sale some very choice city loans on business and residential properties offering 5½% and 6%.

Miniature Persian Rug Bags in Vienna.

A fad for miniature Persian rug bags in petits points work has developed. The firms which took up this work are fully occupied because they have not only orders from Viennese retailers, but also from America, Paris and London. The flat type is most in demand, and looks best when fitted with a frame, which is exactly as wide as the tapestry. Some draw strings are used, however. The round varieties are in one piece while the flat models are two pieces put together. These latter come from Fri-Wa, a concern of home workers, specializing in pettits points, gros points and gobelin stitch. This house makes hangings and chair covers and copies tapestries of the former imperial castles. Fri-Wa also produces the popular round fancy bags, which are in most cases topped with silver frames.

Bracelet Model in White.

The bracelet model is developed in white Roma with bands of square rubies and rhinestones encircling it at intervals and giving its slender line a tired appearance. A strap of the jewels of the jewels falling from the shoulder is caught around the arm in bracelet effect and from this dress gains its name. Rhinestones and sapphires combine in ornamenting a white velvet dress of regal charm and square rubies with red nailheads form an effective motif on a gold lace number.

Newest Achievement in Foot-wear.

I Miller of New York has led the styles of America, so he now has produced a shoe that combines the most caressing comfort with his unquestioned skill in artistry. The never failing chic of his black patent leather shoes for almost any daytime occasion is heightened by dull leather trimmings—All these smart styles in combinations of grey suede with grey kid, and field mouse with brown trimings, were seen at Speier and Simon's.

A Happy World Based On Harmony.

One must have harmony in order to be at peace with one's self. And in order to have harmony we must have instruments to carry on our work. At the NEBRASKA INSTRUMENT AND STRING CO.—1408 O street they are offering a full size Klotz model violin, case lined with felt, fine Bausch violin bow, round German silver heel plate. Extra strings and ten lessons given by Mr. Schaefer (director of the Rialto orchestra) all for $20.

Astrakhan and Caracal.

Astrakhan or Persian lamb, used so much for the jacquettes and hip-length coats for winter, comes from Bokhara, and is black or grey in color, it has been very successfully revived as a trimming. Real caracul is ver yrare indeed, as it is a cross between Persian lamb and goat. The broadtail, or breitschwantz, which is black, unborn Persian lamb, is used in the making of entire costumes. Shaved lamb is ordinary lambskin, usually the Chinese for this purpose clipped by machiner.

Mandarin Inspiration Stressed.

The long blouses in the second fall collection of the firm stress mandarin inspiration, the outline being straight and the neckline the round. Jenny type. The touches of embroidery reflect eastern inspiration. The fabric selected for the three-quarter models is Canton crepe.

Interesting Flare to Coat Frock.

A circular flare at the bottom of the skirt of blue Charmeen coat dress is made doubly effective by the black silk braid which molds it into the narrow straight lines of the skirt. The cuffs are made in the same fashion and give a novelty appearance.

Border Created of Fur Feature of Coat Group.

The fur border is made the theme of the display of coats. The idea is shown in daytime coats in straight-line and flared effects, and also is developed in an evening wrap. Both long and short haired pelts are employed in interpretations of the mode, in such furs as kit fox, dyed fitch and natural opossum.

Smart Astrakan Coatees and Silk Dresses—Special Offer.

Those chic hip-length coats with wide turn-over collars and both the straight and fitted hip-band, concealing small pockets are found at GOLD'S in crushed plush and astrakan. Some with fur cuffs as well, at $15 and $25.

Crameen that new Parisian fabric has been fashioned by the designers into the most striking models, and GOLD'S have just recieved a shipment of these along with some very good looking satin crepe dresses each individual in it's self and are offering the mat the low price of $25.

GOLD'S POLICY has been to offer the "best for less" and one expects these new lines, smart fabrics and fine workmanship in only the highest price dresses and the fall frocks at GOLD'S are, therefore, most astonishing values.

Keep the Home Fires Burning.

Now that we have had a decided change in temperature, it will be necessary to keep the home fires burning. Milady with her new fall sleeveless frocks needs an even temperature for her comfort.

At HUTCHINS AND HYATT COAL CO., they have the Dixie and Capital coal. It insures warmth and comfort, and there is not any waste nor slack. All is in firm lumps and hand-picked. Keep your furnace free and clean from clinkers.

Individuality.

For the woman who wears what is fashionable before it becomes too fashionable, and thereby, ceases to be fashionable, we introduce a refreshingly new suede oxford, in beige, log cabin brown and black with Cuban heel and the low, flat heel. These styles were seen in Budd's window at the prices $5.95, $6.45 and $7.95.

Buick Personality.

The Buick has invariably entrenched itself most strongly in the good opinion of those people who demand the most in the automobiles. Those who require not only luxurious and dependable transportation but also dignified and exclusive expression of their personal tastes and ideals find in the BUICK a car measuring fully up to their highest standards.

We are all proud of the personality of the BUICK. It is a settled policy of their entire organization that no limitation of it is to be allowed. Rather the sum of their energies is bent upon keeping the BUICK better than even its most exacting buyer would expect.

Metal Lace New.

Changeable taffeta is modeled with tight fitting waists and very full skirts. Lace is extensively used as trimming, forming the yokes of some and composing large whirls and diamonds, which enhance the skirts of many models. Gold and antique metal laces are looked upon with favor by some manufacturers who employ them in horizontal inserts through the entire dress. Puffs at the hips and tucks are used to add to the effect.

Colorful Strain Pronounced.

Camel's hair teddy bear cloth and flannel serve as mediums in the development of the short jacket and form the foundation for decorations of a vivid order. In one model, red and green worsted embroideries in the Czecho-Slovakian manner are employed lavishly, while another in more conservative tone is developed in a tan and brown worsted idea. Yet another model uses leather motifs applied with hand stitching.

While the strain of colorfulness is more pronounced in garments of the type just described, color as distinguished from black and similar somber shades is a feature of the new season's program.

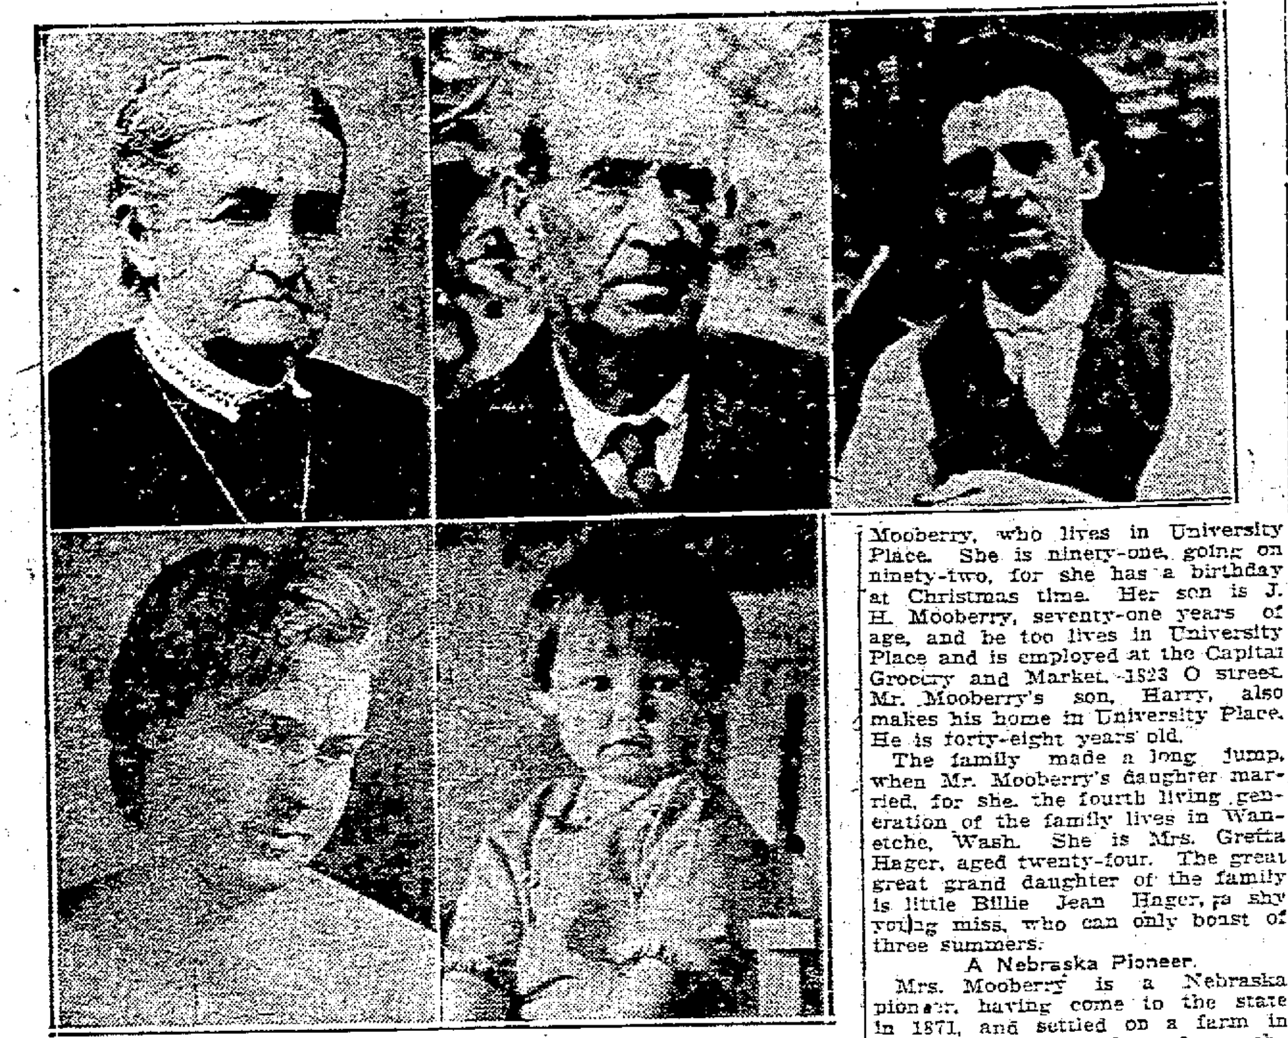
Five Generations in Mooberry Family; Oldest Member Is 91 and the Youngest 3 Years of Age



University Place has the distinction of having three members of one of the few families who can boast five living generations. In the upper row are Mrs. Nancy Mooberry, the great great grandmother of the family, her son, J. H. Mooberry, and her grandson, Harry Mooberry. In the lower row are Mrs. Gretta Hager and her small daughter, Billie Jean, of Wenatche, Wash., who complete the five generations.

BY LULU MAE COE.

Wonder what a baby thinks about?

Lots and lots of things, complimentary and otherwise, according to one cartoonist.

What would he—or she—think if he could peer through the ribs of his crib and see a whole long row of ancestors? And what would he think if he could see of that long ancestry four other persons of his family around his crib, each a generation of its own?

Wouldn't he puff up and think "some family!"

Well, when little Billie Jean Hager, out in Washington, peers around at her family, she can see four other generations—even though they don't all live in Washington. University Place claims a share of the five.

Nebraska has won fame from its floods, its bumper crops, noted authors, heat, and poets, but its having a different kind of laurel now. Two members of a five generation family are living in the Lincoln suburb, and they are two members of a very small group.

We often hear of four generations. They are so common as to excite little comment. Every few square miles of Nebraska plains has a four generation group.

Row In Number.

The five generation families are in a class of their own, however. They are few in number and worthy of notice. And when the youngest member of the family groups gazes upon those who have trod the road he is beginning he must have quite a bit of pride—if babies think. And it must be quite a bit of consolation to him that he can view so many members of his family.

The oldest member of this five generation family is Mrs. Nancy Mooberry, who lives in University Place. She is ninety-one, going on ninety-two, for she has a birthday at Christmas time. Her son is J. H. Mooberry, seventy-one years of age, and he too lives in University Place and is employed at the Capital Grocery and Market, 1523 O street. Mr. Mooberry's son, Harry, also makes his home in University Place. He is forty-eight years old.

The family made a long jump, when Mr. Mooberry's daughter married, for she, the fourth living generation of the family lives in Wanetche, Wash. She is Mrs. Gretta Hager, aged twenty-four. The great great grand daughter of the family is little Billie Jean Hager, a shy young miss, who can only boast of three summers.

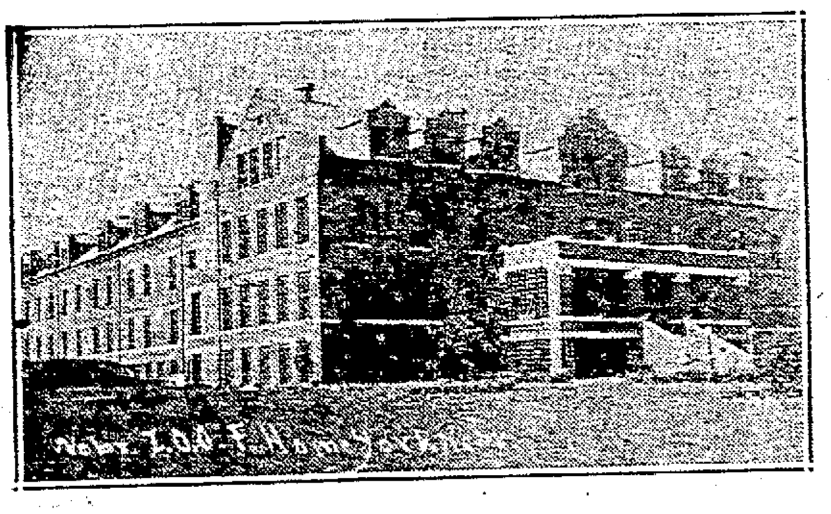
A Nebraska Pioneer.

Mrs. Mooberry is a Nebraska pioneer, having come to the state in 1871, and settled on a farm in Saline county. In those days the first railroad had not yet come to Lincoln, and the family drove overland from Nebraska City. J. H. Mooberry and another brother started to drive out here from Illinois, the family home, but were compelled to take the train finally, owing to the cold. When they did reach Nebraska, the green of growing fields had replaced the snow of Illinois, and Mr. Mooberry has been content to remain here since that time.

After homesteading for twenty years, the family moved to Lincoln in 1891, and to University Place in 1905. Lincoln was still a very small town when Mr. Mooberrry came here, and he has seen it grow upward and outward.

This family illustrates as few others that westward that march of empire holds its sway! Leaving the flats of Ohio, it has come into the the prairies of Nebraska and has gone over the mountains to the far Pacific. Mrs. Mooberry was born in Ohio and her son in Illinois. Harry Mooberry was born in Saline county, his daughter in Lincoln, and her little daughter in Tacoma, Wash.

I. O. O. F. Grand Lodge Holds Meeting in York, Oct. 16-18; Will Dedicate New Home Annex



(Special to The Star.)

YORK, Neb., Oct. 6.—Arrangements for the sixty-seventh annual session of the grand lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows of Nebraska, various branches of the order and the Rebekah assembly which will convene in York October 16-18, are almost completed.

The general committee, under the leadership of J. W. Pittman, superintendent of the I. O. O. F. state home, has worked hard and every effort is being set forth to have everything in readiness for the visitors and to make their stay while in York as pleasant as possible.

Plans are being made to entertain from fifteen hundred to two thousand visitors, for it is believed that the attendance will be the largest in the history of the order, because of the opportunity to visit the Odd Fellow Home, a home of interest to every Odd Fellow and Rebekah in Nebraska.

A public receptio nwill be held at the Opera House, Tuesday evening. Addresses of welcome will be given by the mayor of the city and president of the commercial club and will be responded to by the grand officers of the various orders.

The program proper will be given by the children of the home.

At 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, a public memorial service by an assembled staff will be held at the opera house and on Wednesday, which will be the big day of grand lodge, the new annex at the home will be dedicated. A parade of all organizations, headed by the Nebraska national guard band will form at the Hotel McCloud at 1:30 p. m. and march to the home. If weather conditions are favorable it is expected that every Odd Fellow and Rebekah lodge in the state will be represented.

The following program will be given:

Singing, led by Dr. Bass.

America, audience.

Invocation, grand chaplain.

Address, George L. Loomis.

Address, Mary A. Caldwell.

Song, "Blest be the Tie that Binds."

J. W. Pittman, superintendent of the home will preside during the program. The reception will be as follows: Grand master, president Rebekah assembly, grand patriarch, department commanders, home board and superintendent and matron of the home.

An official picture of the home will be taken at the close of the program.

No Need Hike East For Points Of Historic Interest; Nebraska, Your Own State, Full Of Them

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 6.—Some people have gotten the notion that it is necessary to go back to some of the original thirteen states to find historic points and that "out west" has nothing along those lines to offer.

But they are wrong.

Nebraska, alone, is just full of points of historic interest. And the latest year book of the Nebraska society, Sons of the American Revolution enumerates no less than 276 such places within the boundary of the state. Scarcely a county in Nebraska is omitted from the list.

Some of the points mentioned in that list are of national interest. Others are of only statewide historic importance.

Incidentally, Nebraska has many descendants of revolutionary soldiers, also. The Nebraska society of Sons of the American Revolution has 252 members and the officials say the roster of those eligible has been only "scratched." The Nebraska Daughters of the American Revolution claim a larger eligible list than do the "Sons."

Marks of Pioneerdom.

But those 276 points of historic interest mentioned in the Year Book are scattered from Omaha to Kimball; from Rulo to Crawford; from Niobrara to Benkleman. And in practically every county between Wyoming and Iowa and South Dakota and Kansas, there are historic spots mentioned in the "S. A. R." list.

In a sort of "foreword," the Year Book introduces the subject in this manner.

"Nebraska has no revolutionary historic sites within her boundaries. It has however, hundreds of sites hallowed by pioneer heroism and devotion to great human ideals. Some of these places have already been marked. Many of them are as yet unmarked and some are unknown to the great body of Nebraska people. It has seemed fitting in this year book of the Nebraska Society S. A. R. to give some account of the more notable historic places within our state and suggestive list of others which may be more definitely known and commemorated in future years. Therefore the list which is included herein."

Long's Hill, north of Omaha; the ancient flint mines near Nehawka; ancient graves near Auburn and Falls City; and buried houses in Sarpy, Cass, Otoe, Nemaha and other counties are given in the list of "those of most importance thus far explored."

The Famous Loess Man.

Long's Hill is where Dr. R. F. Gilder discovered the famous loess man, thought to be the oldest culture discovered in America. The ancient flint mines have proven an enigma to scientists, who have found records of an ancient people who worked these mines, the output of which has been discovered as far east as Ohio. The ancient graves near Auburn and Falls City have disclosed a culture different from any discovered in America. And the buried houses discovered by Dr. Gilder in Sarpy, Cass, Otoe and Nemaha counties have attracted national attention among archaeologists.

Among the "important historic sites" enumerated in the year book, are thefollowing:

The Council Bluffs at Fort Calhoun where Lewis and Clark held their famous council with Indians in 1804; site of old Fort Atkinson with its first fort and first white settlement, first library, first school and first factory in Nebraska; Bellevue, the site of the old fur-trading post, Indian agents, early missions and many other pioneer events; the Moses Merrill Indian mission on the Platte river seven miles west of Bellevue where was located the first Christian mission to Nebraska Indians; Ietan's Otoe Indian village on the Platte three miles southeast of the present town of Yutan, site of the Indian treaty of 1833 and of the first Indian Sunday school in the state; Pawnee village site near Genoa and Loup City; Old Fort Kearney, a central point on the old Oregon trail; Ash Hollow in Garden county, site of the old pioneer cemetery and old Fort Gratton; Blue Water battlefield in Garden county where General Harney fought the Sioux under Chief Little Thunder; Chimney Rock near Bayard, a noted landmark on the Oregon trail; Scottsbluff and Mitchell Pass; California Crossing of the South Platte on the Oregon trail near Big Springs; Sioux Lookout near North Platte; old Fort McPherson, on the Oregon trail; Union Pacific starting point in Omaha; winter quarters of the Mormons near Florence, beginning of the Mormon trail from the Missouri to Great Salt Lake; Lewis and Clark camp sites along the Missouri river; and the homes of Col. W. F. Cody, J. Sterling Morton, Robert W. Furnas, W. J. Bryan, Gen.

Permanent Wave Effect Now Quick, Cheap and Easy

New Liquid Discovery Makes Straight Hair Wavy, Soft and Wonderfully Curly

YOU have always longed for soft, fluffy, curly hair. And now—at last—you can have it! For scientists have perfected a wonderful new liquid, which when applied to the most stubborn hair, gives it a beautiful permanent wave effect, making it wonderfully curly; delightfully soft, gloriously wavy—and keeping it so for a week or more!

This new liquid is called Domino Curlette. Nothing like it has ever been known before. All you need do is moisten your hair with a few drops of it, using your good old fashioned kids or silk curlers—and behold: A miracle of beauty will have been performed. Not only you, but your friends will be astonished at the sudden, beautiful transformation in your hair.

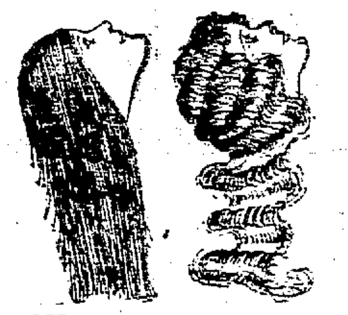
A Marvelous Beauty Discovery

Domino Curlette makes your hair fall in soft, silky curls, and wonderfully natural waves. It gives even the dullest hair a new entrancing lustre. And the best of it is that a single application keeps your hair gloriously curly, and wavy from seven to ten days!

Just think what this means! No more costly fees to hair dressers. No more devoting many tiresome hours a week to curling and waving your hair. No more sitting for hours undergoing the tortures of permanent wave methods. For now, in your own home, you can quickly acquire charming wavy hair that your friends will always envy—and you can have it at a cost of less than ten cents a week!

No More Dull Straight Hair!

"Permanent wave" methods often kill the natural lustre and life of the hair, and produces waves too artificial looking to be beautiful. But Domino Curlette contains the very elements needed to make your hair naturally wavy and naturally curly. That is why it always adds a new charm, youthfulness and beauty to one's appearance. Try it once and you will be amazed and delighted with the results.



Watch the Amazing Transformation!

No matter how straight or dull your hair may be you will be simply astonished at how Domino Curlette makes it soft, wavy and charming. No more torturous electric treatments. For just one application of Domino Curlette will make your hair delightfully fluffy and curly—and keep it so for a week or more.

NEW BATTLEGROUNDS

America's two furtherest-flung possessions will provide the next great fight in congress.

Increasing pressure in the Philippines for Independence is certain to find an echo when congress convenes next December. The Islands refuse to accept General Wood's findings that they are not ready for self-government. Over twenty years have elapsed since America assumed her guardianship over the islands, and in that period great changes have taken place. Manila has become a modern city. Even in the exterior, schools have been built, the problems of sanitation and drainage overcome, and order established. Dangling before his eyes, the little brown man has always had the prize of independence held out to him to spur him on to greater efforts to overcome those things which made it necessary for Uncle Sam to exercise a restraining and strengthening influence.

The talk of rebellion in the Philippines is nonesense.

Yet, the fact remains that some assurance must be given the Islanders to avert trouble. Fortunately there are many men in congress who have never lost sight of America's pledge. Upon them falls the burden of fulfilling it.

Of vastly greater importance is Alaska's plight.

With infinitely greater problems of transportation, with a less favorable climate for a greater portion of the year, but with natural resources so rich as to stagger the imagination, Alaska is slowly dying. Her population shows an actual decrease over ten years ago. Gold-mining no longer pays as it did when the Yukon gave forth her golden treasure, and with the decline in gold-mining those who went there to wrest what they could from her streams and mountains, no longer cared to endure the hardships or rigorous cold and primative living.

It was the growing appreciation of this situation which called the late President Harding to America's most northern possession.

What the president saw, and the conclusions which he reached are now being given to the world through a biographer. His conclusions are summed up in a single sentence.

"Let Alaska be for real Alaskans."

The biographer, Joe Mitchell Chappel, says such was the gospel of sane development of America's frontier empire that President Harding was preparing to urge upon the American people when the great calamity of San Francisco put a tragic stop to his labors. He quotes the president, at the conclusion of his trip, to this effect:

"Alaska, I have come to see is our great pioneer reserve—and these are the right people here now to meet its problems by a slow but permanent development.

"The old notion of capitalists swooping down on Alaska to make their pile and get out has passed. It is now a question of stayers—men who are equal to the struggle.

"While the products of the fisheries in Alaska are greater than the wealth of the mines, there is a danger of exhausting the supply—more restrictions would seem to be necessary. Forest conservation, frankly, I see now is not too drastic. Coal is being mined satisfactorily. Perhaps we need some changes, but the coal is unlimited. The oil development should be encouraged but to develop these oil resources of the north will require millions of private capital under the lure of returns as reflected in the Mexican and California fields. The great problem now is lack of transportation. Agriculture in Alaska is relative to other development, but needs liberal encouragement. If fisheries, forests and mines are looted there is no hope for farms, but a permanent well-rounded policy of substanital development will make agriculture a factor in Alaska's dream of statehood."

To appreciate the limitless possibilities of Alaska, it must be recalled that every year she has returned from her soil and waters the aggregate total of her cost. Alaska was purchased for $7,200,000. In the fifty-six years she has yielded a billion and a quarter. Her resources are untouched. Vast tracts of timber, great deposits of coal, oil and a soil which will yield 300 bushels of potatoes, sugar beets, wheat, averaging from 20 to 25 bushels to the acre, alfalfa—to say nothing of the great fisheries and the fur industry—why should Alaska bemoan the decline in gold production.

All she asks are men who will stay to fight her battles of climate, capital and transportation, and protection from exploiters who are there to grab but not develop.

It is within the power of congress to see that America's last frontier is not despoiled.

AN UNBEATABLE COMBINATION.

That unbeatable combination, known the nation over as the "mortgage raisers," namely corn and hogs, is enabling Nebraska to stage as spectacular a comeback financially and economically as is recorded in the state's history. Other favorable factors are adding to the growing swell of optimism that is echoing over the state but corn is the backbone of the improvement and the soul of the good times ahead.

Corn is more firmly intrenched as King in Nebraska than ever. It has enabled the farmer to survive a disastrous wheat slump, both in price and production, and it has made our state several shades less gloomy from an agricultural standpoint than other states in the middle west grain belt. It has demonstrated again how fortunate we are to have a climate and a soil that permits and encourages diversified farming and how impossible it is to keep such a country permanently in the dumps.

Across the entire state of Nebraska, east to west and north to south, the corn fields hold the solution of the farmers' troubles. They are not so pleasing to the eye as they were some months ago but they look rather good to the farmer, merchant and banker of Nebraska who sees prosperity returning out of the brown acres.

Corn is still king in Nebraska.

MOUNTAINS OF DEBT.

The same malady that brought about the demise of the Roman empire has seized America, in the opinion of a writer in the New York Tribune, who calls attention to the similarity of symptoms. In those olden days, he says, there were those who insisted that the empire was doomed unless it quit wasting money and who did not consider it a healthful sign that the populace in almost its entirety should rush to see a slugging match in the arena, while the temples were deserted. These objectors were doubtless denounced as old fogies and hooted down when they attempted to call attention to the dangers confronting the nation. Nevertheless they were right and the empire fell.

Official figures show that most of the municipalities of the country are running head over heels into debt and the larger the city the more reckless it is in this respect. States, counties, school districts and other governmental subdivisions are equally bad and very few make any effort whatever to get out of debt. Maturing bonds are redeemed with new issues and the interest charge which must be paid for by taxation is constantly increasing.

Tax free securities, representing the borrowings of states and municipalities are increasing at the rate of about a billion dollars a year and at the present time amount to approximately ten billions of dollars. With this sum escaping taxation, other taxes are correspondingly increased. Notwithstanding the protests of the few who realize the danger of crushing the nation under a mountain of debt and taxation, excuses are constantly found for new bond issues or increased expenditures of funds raised by direct levy. Those who object are, as of old, denounced as nonprogressive and their warnings ignored, but they have only to point to history to have their position vindicated.

People as a rule take too little interest in the details of government, being prone to allow others to do all the scheming and figuring. As a result new plans are constantly evolved for increasing the tax burden until in some places it has become almost unbearable. There is a tendency in some quarters, however, to reduce the load, Nebraska having made a start that way, and for the sake of the country it is to be hoped that the example of this state will be followed elsewhere.

MANUFACTURING IN NEBRASKA.

We have become so accustomed to speaking of Nebraska as a purely agricultural state that we have lost sight of the role which manufacturing occupies in this commonwealth.

It will occasion considerable surprise, therefore to learn that in 1919, a year when prices of farm produce were uniformly high, the value of manufactured products in this state exceeded the wealth from the farms. The figures were made from the government census. They show Nebraska's farm crops were worth 520 millions in 1919, while the manufactured products were worth 596 millions. No figures are given on the livestock industry for this state, however, a purely agricultural pursuit, which would probably more than even the score.

Of the west north-central group of states—the finest farming belt in the world, North Dakota, South Dakota and Iowa were the only commonwealths where farm products exceeded in value the manufacturing output, North Dakota's farm crops were valued at 302 millions in 1919, her manufacturing 57 millions; South Dakota's farm values 311 millions, manufacturing 62 millions, and Iowa's farm crops brought 890 millions, her manufacturing 745.

For the seven states the farm crop values aggregated 3,677 millions and the manufacturing output was valued at 5,186 millions.

AN ELEMENT OF COMEDY.

There is an element of comedy in the situation at the state penitentiary near Eddyville, Kentucky, where national guardsmen, state militiamen, police officials and prison officers were held at bay for several days by three desperate convicts. Tear gas, rifle grenades and machine guns were used in the attempt to dislodge them and at times it was stated only one able-bodied man was left to combat all these forces. From the comparative safety of an editorial office it seems impossible that these things are true in America and in Kentucky, the home of the expert riflemen and the seat of daring and courage.

Where was Sergeant York? He took innumerable machine gun nests, better-armed and manned by men just as desperate and far better trained, alone and single handed. Wasn't he from Kentucky? How about a little T. N. T. from above in the hands of an aviator who had had experience in blowing up German strong points? How about the tanks if necessary to take the battling legions to the protective shadows of the make-shift fortress walls.

How could several hundred men with four directions to work from, prospective soldiers in times of trouble included, stand to see a building held by three convicts described as "invincible." Twenty-five thousand rounds of ammunition, all the "pomp and circumstance" of war, all balked by three gunmen in a riddled fort. We repeat that from our point of vantage and safety it is incredible.

Shades of the A. E. F.
Where was Sergeant York!

ADVANCES IN HEATING

When the oil burner is perfected so that it can be put into the modest furnace or into the ordinary stove, the knell of coal burning in homes has sounded. Oil, as long as production continues at such rates as insure a low price, is apparently destined to be the fuel used in the transition period between coal and electricity, the latter the only perfect and surely the ultimate method of heating, lighting, cooking, ventilating and cooling.

So far as most of us are concerned in this world we have advanced painfully little in methods of heating our homes since the days of Benjamin Franklin and the first stove. That was a step out of the age-old method of using a fire place for heating, cooking and ventilating, but we have advanced but little since that time. Oil burning is but an adaption of the same old system, electrical heating will be the natural evolution and the first really great step since the fire was brought out of the chimney and confined in metal holders, stove or furnace.

We have been surprisingly slow in this matter, knowing as we do that electricity can be made the cheapest, cleanest, safest and hottest fuel. Its supply is inexhaustible as long as the sun shines and rivers run. It promises relief from a burden of high lising costs for those of the temperate zone who must keep their homes warm for half of each year and it may greatly reduce the waste of property and life taken each year by fire.

Wood and coal, burning are the most wasteful methods of producing heat. Oil may be one step in the right direction from the conservative standpoint. Electricity is the solution of the whole question, when we find time to make use of it.

TWO KINDS OF PUBLICITY.

Lincoln has had more unpleasant publicity before the nation the past few weeks than ever before in a like period of time and with floods, explosions, wrecks and murders has occupied a conspicuous place in front page editions of papers from one coast to the other. Newspaper people are something like fatalists in their belief that local calamities come in bunches and it is frequently noticed that when some locality springs once into national notice for any reason, it is generally heard from several times before retiring from the headlines of the nation's press.

New York, Chicago and perhaps Los Angeles are almost constantly in the limelight as centers of news of a sensational nature but they are so large that it is expected of them and hardly to be classed as damaging to their reputations. When a city the size of Lincoln stages a series of sensations the attention is sharp enough to be unpleasant and we realize that there are two kinds of publicity, only one of which is desirable.

A Kansas man wired the Omaha officials to look for his 63-year-old wife, who, he says, has bobbed her hair, a la flapper style. He still wants her to return. Some men are gluttons for punishment.

The citizens of Barneston and a gang of robbers exchanged shots for two hours, and no one was hit. Too bad some enterprising movie director was not on the job.

In the old days people seemed to enjoy being indisposed with a cold. But even then it had its compensations, for whisky and rock candy was still available.

Usually the man who proposes a give-and-take argument wants the other fellow to do all of the giving.

People who boast that they pay as they go never seem to establish any long distance records.

There is one good thing about these endurance kisses in the movies. They are noiseless.

STEPHEN LEACOCK

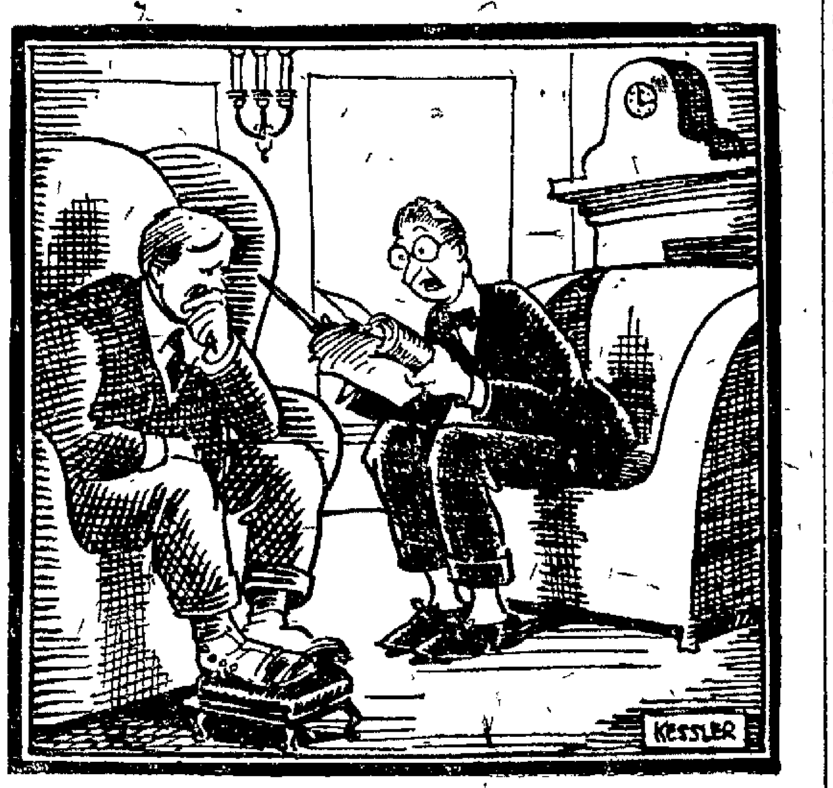
How One Man Explains a Story He Is Reading to Another



"Porphirio is under Pio's thumb, and Pio is under Demonio's thumb, and the Dog is crafty . . ."

Have you ever had a man try to explain to you what happened in a book as far as he has read? It is a most instructive thing. Sinclair, the man who shares my rooms with me, made such an attemt the other night. I had come in cold and tired from a walk and, found him full of excitement, with a bulky magazine in one hand and a paper cutter gripped in the other.

"Say, here's a grand story," he burst out, as soon as I camein; "it's great! Wait till I read you some of it. I'll just tell you what has hapened up to where I am—you'll easily catch the thread of it—and then we'll finish it together."

I wasn't feeling in a very responsive mood, but I saw no way to stop him, so I merely said. "All right, throw me the thread, I'll catch it."

The Plot Does Thicken.

"Hold on," I interrupted, "what count gets what letter?"

"Oh, the count it's about, you know. He gets this letter from this Porphirio?"

"From which Porphirio?"

"Why Porphirio sent the letter, don't you see, he sent it," Sinclair exclaimed a little impatiently—"sent it through Demonio and told him to watch for him, with him, and kill him when he got him."

"O, see here!" I broke in, "who is to meet who, and who is to get stabbed?"

"They're going to stab Demonio,"

"And who brought the letter?"

"Demonio."

"Well now, Demonio must be a clam! What did he bring it for?"

"Oh, but he don't know what's in it, that's just the slick part of it," and Sinclair began to snigger to himself at the thought of it. "You see, this Carlo Carlotti the Condottiere...."

"Stop right there," I said. "What's a Condottiere?"

"It's a sort of brigand. He, you understand, was in league with this Fra Fraliccolo.."

And Coagulates.

A suspicion flashed across my mind. "Look here," I said firmly, "if the scene of this story is laid in the Highlands, I refuse to listen to it. Call it off."

"No, No," Sinclair answered quickly, "that's all right. It's laid in Italy... time of Pius the something. He comes in—say, but he's great! so darned crafty. It's him, you know, that persuades this Franciscan...."

"Pause," I said, "what Franciscan?"

"Fra Fraliccolo, of course?" Sinclair said snappishly. You see, Pio tries to...."

"Whoa!" I said, "who is Pio?"

"Oh, hang it all. Pio is Italian, it's short for Pius. He tries to get Fra Fraliccolo and Carlo Carlotti the Condittiere to steal the document from......let me see, what was he called?... Oh, yes.... from the Dog of Venice, so that ....or...... no, hang it, you put me out, that's all wrong. It's the other way round. Pio wasn't clever at all; he's a regular darned fool. It's the Dog that's crafty. By Jove, he's fine," Sinclair went on, warming up to enthusiasm again, he just does anything he wants. He makes this Demonio (Demonio is one of those hirelings you know, he's the tool of the Dog)....makes him steal the document off Porphirio, and...."

Dressed For Thwarting.

"But how does he get him to do that?" I asked.

"Oh, the Dog has Demonio pretty well under his thumb, so he makes Demonio scheme round till he gets old Pio—er—gets him under his thumb, and then, of course, Pio thinks that Porphirio—I mean he things that he has Porphirio—er—as him under his thumb."

"Half a minute Sinclair," I said, "who did you say was under the Dog's thumb?"

"Demonio."

"Thanks. I was mixed in the thumbs. Go on."

"Well, just when things are like this...."

"Like what?"

"Like I said"

"All right.

"Who should turn up and thwart the whole scheme, but this Signorina Tarara in her domino...."

"Hully gee!" I said, "you make my head ache. What the duce does she come in her domino for?"

"Why, to thwart it."

"To thwart what?"

"Thwart the whole darned thing." Sinclair exclaimed emphatically.

Those Ardent Natures.

"But can't she thwart it without her domino?"

"I should think not! You see, if it hadn't been for the domino, the Dog would have spotted her quick as a wink. Only when he sees her in the domino with this rose in her hair, he thinks she must be Lucia dell' Esterolla."

"say, he fools himself, doesn't he? Who's this last girl?"

"Lucia?? Oh, she's great!" Sinclair said. "She's one of those Southern natures, you know, full of—er—full of...."

"Full of fun," I suggested

"Oh, hang it all, don't make fun of it! Well, anyhow, she's sister, you understand to the Contessa Carantarata and that's why Fra Fraliccolo, or....hold on, that's not it, no, no, she's not sister to anybody. She's cousin, that's it; or, anyway, she thinks she is cousin to Fra Fraliccolo himself, and that's why Pio tries to stab Fra Fraliccolo."

"Oh, yes," I assented, "naturally he would."

An Involved Situation.

"Ah," Sinclair said hopefully getting his paper-cutter ready to cut the next pages, "you begin to get the thread now, don't you?"

"Oh, fine!" I said. "The people in it are the Dog and Pio, and Carlo Carlotti the Condottiere and those others that we spoke of."

"That's right," Sinclair said. "Of course there are more still that I can tell you about if...."

"Oh, never mind," I said. "I'll work along with those, they're a pretty representative crowd. Then Porphirio is under Pio's thumb, and Pio is under Demonio's thumb, and the Dog is crafty, and Lucia is full of something all the time. Oh, I've got a mighty clear idea of it." I concluded bitterly.

"Oh, you've got it," Sinclair said. "I knew you'd like it. Now we'll go on. I'll just finish to the bottom of my page and then I'll go on aloud.

He ran his eyes rapidly over the lines till he came to the bottom of the page and then he cut the leaves and turned over. I saw his eyes rest on the half-dozen lines that confronted him on the next page with an expression of utter consternation.

"Well, I will be cursed!" he said at length.

"Wat's the matter??" I said gently, with great joy in my heart,

"This infernal thing's a serial," he gasped, as he pointed at the words, "To be continued."

Here and There

Recognizing Russia.

(Chicago Tribune.)

Senators who claim for themselves especial regard for the plain people, pink or red champions in the labor movement, professional friends of the farmer, have been demanding of our government formal recognition of the bolshevik government at Moscow. We may assume that many if not all the senatorial pilgrims, who have been visiting Russia in the recess will urge this with appropriate references to our duty to a sister republic and more or less impressive data obtained on the spot.

Meanwhile it might be as well for American citizens, and especially American wage earners and farmers, in whose interest these political altruists assume to speak, to ask themselves what benefit can be sanely expected from recognizing the Red regime.

Common sense will tell us that certain results are in fact assured, but they are not results a friend of the merican people is disposed to welcome, unless he is ready for a straitjacket.

The first of these is the opening of our country to an extended and officially disguised propaganda of revolution. With a diplomatic machinery set up in this country, bolshevism will have agencies for the injection of poison which ought to bring new hope to the fanatic bosses of the Red Internationale.

An American Red or Pink, or a politician like some of our self-styled progressives who have a strong but unconfessed slant toward state socialism, might be expected to welcome this. But not a believer in American democracy.

Another result in the return of Russia to the world markets where Russian wheat and other raw commodities from her enormous resources would meet American export of the same kind. Perhaps altruistically we ought to welcome the restoration of the Russian giant and take joy in the privilege of combat with her. But we doubt if the farmers or the wage earners of America are or ought to be unselfish and chivalrous to that extent.

We can be thankful, however, that one fact has been revealed in this championship of the bolshevik autocracy by politicians claiming to be friends of the farmer and the laboring man of America. It is their contempt for American ideals of individual liberty and the rights which protect it, and for representative government.

Government Control of Coal.

(Charles Kellogg Burdick in North American Review.)

The constitutianality of proposed emergency legislation is at least open to grave doubt. Congress can only act in the fields set apart to it by the Federal Constitution. It might control the operation of coal mines under the war power for military purposes, and might perhaps even take control of their operation temporarily to keep interstate traffic moving. Congress can also bring indirect but effective pressure to bear upon the coal operators through its power over interstate commerce, and could do so even more effectively if the first child labor decision were repudiated, or by some mental legerdemain were held not to aply to the roduct of coal mines. But it does nt appear how, under the preent terms o our constitution, it could take over the management of intrastate industries in order to assure a supply of their products to the private consumer, imply because those products must reach the consumer through the channels of interstate commerce. On the whole, it is doubtful if the national government, under its present limited constitutional powers, can fully cope with the coal situation, granted that it is desirable to have uniform and centraliezd control. By constitutional amendment, however, it may be given power completely and exclusively to regulate the coal industry from the point of original production to that of final distribution. As an alternative, it may by the same means be given power to purchase and operate the coal mines. Either course means greater centralization of power at the expense of the states, and to this, under the second alternative, are added the risks of government ownership.

The Menace of the Big Cities.

(Cedar Rapids (Ia.) Gazette)

America is showing a distinct reaction from the tendency toward big cities. The modern methods of telephonic and telegraphic communication, the railways and street cars, the lighting and sewage systems that made great cities possible now are helping the larger cities to develop residential and industrial suburbs. The automobile has tended to take the people back to the country. In all our larger cities people who can fight congestion by moving away from the downtown districts are doing so.

The tendency to centralize business and industry and higher education in a few great centers is giving place to the more sensible plan of distribution. New York, for instance, once the clothing center of this country, has strong rivals in Cleveland, Chicago, Cincinnati and other cities. Shoe manufacturing and other industries also are scattering. Boston as the center of American culture has lost its laurels to a thousand and one cities. But the tendency toward the cities during the last twenty-five years has not halted, though the drift to the few bigger cities has been less pronounced.

The chances of a city the size of Cedar Rapids are better today than ten years ago. The complex social and industrial problems of the metropolitan centers are turning the attention of large business enterprises to small cities. The economic struggle in the great cities tends to make the wage earners look toward the smaller cities, where oportunities for home life and contentment are greater.

The smaller city is coming into its own. The gigantic city has not proved to be the most successful experiment in civilization. The chances of success and hapiness in Cedar Rapids or in any other good city of from fifty to one hundred thousand population are greater than in the very large city. In this respect Cedar Rapids enters the field in competition withh Chicago, St. Louis, K-petiton with Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City and other larger centers in the great midwest, offering not only business opportunity but a comness of great cities make impossible.

Unmaking The Klan.

(Chicago Herald and Examiner.)

The Ku Klux Klan of Oklahoma has yielded to Governor Walton's edict against marked meetings. It has forbidden its members to hold masked parades or assemblages.

This surrender ends a conflict which for a time threatened bloodshed, for Governor Walton had announced that he would use troops, if necessary, to uphold the laws of the state.

There should be little doubt that such a conflict would, in the end, have resulted in a victory for the law. Bu4t it might have been a sever test for one of the youngest states in the Union.

The action of the Oklahoma "klan" should serve as a precedent for its fellow "klans" elsewhere in the United States, if such "klans" have got to exist in this country at all.

As far as its purposes are lawful, the Oklahoma organization should be able to live in the daylight. The mask of the klan—is certainly not needed to conceal lawful acts or principles.

(Arthur Warner in the Century.)

Porto Rico ought to be our most successful colony. Is it? What have we done for the island in a quarter of a century? Is the life of the people better than in 1898? How American have the natives become? Have we their confidence and affection? What is behind the press despatches telling of an independent movement? These are questions that one seeks to answer in going through Porto Rico 25 years after the coming of the Americans. Success or failure, which is it Success or failure, then, which is it? I have come to the last paragraph without answering the question, and I shall reach the last sentence without anything more definite. It would be premature to characterize our first 25 years in Porto Rico as either success or failure. Better call it an experiment still continuing. Our policy for a quarter of a century has been not to have any. I am glad of it. For if we had had one, it would have been wrong. We were too inexperienced in external affairs in 1898 to much the victims of an ingrowing national complacency, to chart a safe course in Porto Rico. Perhaps we have learned something in the meanwhile. The next 25 years will give the answer.

Walking A Lost Art?

(Nebraska City Press.)

Many human ailments, a physician remarked the other day, are due to laziness, and laziness, he added, is denoted by a refusal to walk even a short block in these days of motoring.

Time was when walking was a Sunday diversion enjoyed and participated in by hundreds of people in every community in the country The only walking indulged in these days, the physician caustically remarked, is restricted to the father who paces a midnight vigil with the new-born or the golfer who has not yet learned how to play the game with "gas."

The Englishman has always been a walker. It is nothing for him to cover ten or twelve miles a day in the pursuit of his occupation; an English woman walks to improve her health and keep "that school girl complexion."

Americans look on the pedestrian as a poverty-stricken individual who is too financially cramped to own a car or as a "nut." These chaps who advertise themselves as taking transcontinental "hikes" ride more often than they "hoof" it. The average business man does not even walk four or five blocks to his work and as for taking the stairs when the elevator is in sight, such a bit of nonsense is unthinkable.

The automobile is a blessing. It has made rapid transportation possible, far beyond the dreams of the motor-maker of twenty years ago. It is also breeding a nation of indolent men and women. It is helping the physicians and the undertakers by breeding the insidious germs of Bright's disease and a dozen other ailments which are annually claiming their thousands.

Income Tax Tangles.

A recent report of the Commissioner of internal revenue shows that it costs the government $1.73 to collect every $100 of income tax. That seems mighty high to us. In theory it is a mighty fine system of taxation but in practice it doesn't work out seo nicely. There are often times when a man doesn't know whether he made any money on a deal or not. It may be several years in the future before he finds out. And then, the whole plan of reporting is so complicated that the average man is lost. That is one of the reasons why it costs so much to admister—they have to recheck so many of the returns. Financial writers state that most of the rich men have their affairs planned now and there are so many tax-exempt bonds afloat that the real rich are not paying much of any income tax and so the very fellows it was trying to hit are getting out from under. William Rockefeller's fortune, it was found at his death, consisted largely of forty-three million dollars of absolutely tax-exempt bonds.

Our Latest Menace.

(Nebraska City Press)

We're in for the greatest amount of fervent oratory this country has ever seen. Special editions of the Congressional Record must be provided for, no doubt, to carry all the "leaves-to-print" which will emanate from the upper house this winter. Thirteen United States senators either have visited Europe this summer or are now there, roaming about through France, Germany, Russia and the British Isles. European statesmen and financiers seeking a way out of the Slough of Despond might as well throw up the job—American senators will have devised thirteen different ways for Europe to get back on her collective feet before another spring tourist season has opened. The session of congress to open in December is a "short" session, but it will seem mighty long to the constituents who must listen to and read all the remedial speeches which are about to be uttered by our globe-trotting legislators.

Why Not Gravel?

(Madison Star-Mail.)

People who travel a great deal over the roads in this state almost unanimously give the opinion that the solution of the good roads proposition in Nebraska is gravel.

It is well known fact that in certain localities in the state there is an underlying strata of gravel and not so very difficult to secure it. In that case why cannot the state make a systematic effort to have the gravel taken out and placed upon the roads. It is said that there is a large amount of gravel along the Platte river, yet about the worst road condition along the Lincoln highway is between Columbus and Clarks after leaving the paving a short distance out of the Platte county capital.

The state of Nebraska owns gravel beds near Ashland and in one or two other places. We do not know very much about what is being done toward getting the gravel out at those points, but it would seem with an unlimited amount at our disposal that graveled roads in Nebraska, especially along points where it is needed, ought to be a common thing instead of just in occasional spots.

Diversification Pays.

(Kearney Hub.)

Minnesota has given the country the most recent demonstration of argicultural discontent. To counteract it Representative Anderson of that state heads a movement intended to induce President Coolidge to take advantage of the "flexible" provision of the tariff act to add thirty cents per bushel to the tariff impost of Canadian wheat. This may serve for temporary relief but will not alter the fact that wheat growing as a staple is no longer wise in any part of the United States. There are diversified lines, allied with dairying, poultry, etc., that will pay far better, as many thousands of farmers in all sections of this country are finding out at a pretty late day but not too late for their salvation.

Havelock Postmaster.

(Havelock Post.)

The appointment of a republican to succeed a democrat as postmaster at Havelock may occasion some dissatisfaction, but it is a repetition of the same old story. Democratic administrations did not have the habit of retaining republican postmasters at good salaries. Now that the republicans are in they are probably following precedent.

The Megaliths of Carnac

One of the curious stone relics of an unknown race in Carnac, France.

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS.

Famous Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest.

Recently I visited one of the most remarkable places in the world—the vast fields of megalithic monuments at Carnac, in lower Brittany. Here, arrayed in long lines, or collected in more or less circular groups, but all forming part of a common plan, are nearly three thousand "menhirs," i. e., "long stones," almost all set up on end, although a number have fallen. They vary in height from about two feet to twelve or fifteen feet, and the largest weigh many tons.

In the field called "Menec" alone there are 1,169 of these strange, gray, moss-covered and age-stained monuments, ranged in eleven parallel lines, beginning with the smallest stones and terminating on a rise of ground with an imposing group of the largest and tallest, in the midst of which one, very large and lying horizontally, is somewhat dish-shaped on top. This is traditionally called the stone of sacrifice or the sacrificial altar.

The lines all run in a direction (starting from the largest stones) east-north-eastward, and this has suggested a speculation about them based on astronomy, the idea being that, like the ancient temples of Egypt, they were oriented with reference to the position of the sun on rising or setting at some critical period of the year.

At Menec the eye of the astronomer-priest, looking along the lines as, perhaps, he drew his knife to slay the victim, who had been stretched on the altar-stone after being led between long rows of awed spectators to the place of sacrifice, would have seen the sun rising at the summer solstice, its first darting beam being the signal for the fatal thrust.

Whether such scenes actually were enacted here no one knows, for the people who erected these curious monuments had no history and have vanished, leaving only their "menhirs," their stone shelters, or "dolmens," their "cromlechs" or stone circles, their "cist-vens" or stone-lined graves with a few bones, and their "galgals" and "tumuli," or heaps and little hills of stone and earth, some of which, like the great tumulus of St. Michael at Carnac, contain long galleries leading to dolmens and burial chambers concealed in the heart of the mound. As the visitor stands at the highest end of the field and looks along and across it, or wanders among the gray granite monsters, many exhibiting fantastic shapes and planted with the smaller end in the ground—yet so firmly that they have stood longer, by hundreds, and in some cases perhaps thousands of years than the whole duration of the Christian era—a great part of his wonderment is that the stones should have remained undisturbed for so many, many centuries.

The site of these monuments is near the Bay of Quiberon, and they are found not only around Carnac but scattered over many square miles of neighboring territory. In fact some of them are to be found all over Brittany. They were known to the Romans, and Roman remains are sometimes found buried together with relics of the ancient inhabitants. Z. Le Rouzic, consevateur of the museum at Carnac, divides the various monuments into types dating from fifty to one hundred years B. C. to more than 2,000 years B. C.

Some of the menhirs show half obliterated carvings, usually rough crosses. It is quite possible that these were added after Christian times. In no part of the world has ceremonial religion always retained a more popular hold than in Brittany, as is shown by the numerous "pilgrimages" and "pardons" that still give a remarkable picturesqueness to life there, and the early Christians certainly turned the superstitions of their pagan predecessors concerning the sacredness of certain stones to the account of their own forms of worship. Thus the legendary St. Cornely of Carnac, whose image is seen on the old church, was said by the early monks to have formed the "alignments" in the fields of the megaliths by turning soldiers into stone when he, like some more recent pacifists, made war on war.

As the vanished people of Carnac have left no examples of their mechanical implements, another subject for speculation is how they managed to set up these thousands of massive stones, often with the heavy butt end uppermost, and especially how they poised aloft great blocks, some of which, like the "Men-er-Groach" at Locmariaquer, weighed 380 tons!

Six men and two women have been chosen to fill the vacancyies in the Doane Players caused by graduation. The first two plays to be given this year by the Players will be, 'Grumpy" on October 19, and, "The Passing of the Third Floor Back," on November 16. Miss Mary Ellen Inglis is sponsor.

The David Brainerd Perry Service club met Sunday afternoon at the grave of ex-President Perry at Riverside Park. Miss Gladys Perry is the newly elected president. The purpose of the club as brought out in the discussion at the initial meeting its to pomote interest on the campus in the various form of social service and to bind together those among the students and faculty members who have done or are intending to do social work.

A Doane booth, under the direction of G. W. Buck, '23, was opened at the First Congregational church of Lincoln during the state Congregational meeting. Literature of the campaign and copies of the news letter of the college were distributed. A new pamphlet, "The What and Why of the College and the Campaign" was distributed from the booth and given to the delegates at the Doane luncheon at the Grand hotel Wednesday.

Dr. R. Arnold, '10, is superintendent of schools at Spearville, Kan. He was formerly superintendent at Stromsburg.

COTNER NOTES

The Cotner board of trustees met for their annual session Wednesday. Those present included Thomas Rawlings, Wakefield, Neb., Mrs. E. M. Sherman, Bethany, Edwin Jeary, Lincoln, Sigil Matson, Bethany, Dr. I. C. Munger, Lincoln, Floyd Bash, Colorado Springs, C. B. Osgood, Carthage, S. D. Mr. Bash and Mr. Osgood are the two new members elected last June, Mr. Osgood to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge McCarty and Mr. Bash as a three-year member. The vacancy caused by the death of John G. McPherson, Douglas, has not yet been filled. The reports from the different departments of the school were presented to the board by J. F. Duncan, dean of the college. These reports showed the school operating at capacity. In fact, many of the departments are overcrowded and the dormitories full to overflowing. The board enthusiastically endorsed the extension program, which includes a one million dollar endowment and as one-half million building fund.

Rev. L. Brumbaugh, '16, Yale, '23, pastor Christian church in South Omaha, was a college visitor this week. Rev. Brumbaugh left an enviable record in debating and athletics at Cotner.

Rev. and Mrs. A. J. Hollingsworth of Tabernacle Christian church were welcome visitors Founder's day. Rev. Hollingsworth is in the midst of a building program for his church. The result of a unique system of financing by the selling of building bonds has been demonstrated as highly successful.

Field Secretary Lomax, who has Kansas as his territory, has been on the campus this week securing pictures of the new Kansas students. The Kansas students now at Cotner number fifty-six and reports show that twenty-seven of the Christian ministers in the northern half of Kansas are Cotner products.

Star Wilson, sophomore student, has been transferred to Eureka college where her father, Bert Wilson, former secretary of the Foreign Missionary societies of the Christian churches of America, has been made president.

Physical examination of students started Monday night when Dr. I. C. Hunger examined twenty of the football men. Examinations will be pushed rapidly until finished.

President Cobey left for Windfield, Kansas, Thursday, to attend the state convention of Kansas Christian churches. Field Secretary Lomax will also represent Cotner at this conference.

The juniors occupied the convocation period Thursday morning and presented the following program: Lawrence Berry, president of the class, presiding, and Francis Newens directing the song period. F. H. Stephenson lead the devotions. A reading was given by George Crump, "The Cat on The Lawn." Clyde Gingles sang "A Bowl of Roses and the Chrysanthemum." Miss Olive Himelrich accompanying her. Grace Colbert gave two readings, "It Ain't Funny," and "Around the Corner." Clarence Crawford talked on "The Strenuous College Life," and Paul Kraybill, "Our Frosh Friend."

The following members of the faculty were reported on the opening program at the Bethany Women's club Wednesday, October third, Mrs. Charles E. Cobbey, Prof. Lulu H. Smith, Mrs. Evabelle Fuller and Dean Winter.

A Cotner program was given before the Women's club of the first Christian church in Lincoln, Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Carles E. Cobbey presiding. A miscellaneous program was given by the following members of the faculty and students: Piano solo, Ruth Moss; reading, "Geth Semene," Volita Low; Frank Kennedy told "Why I Go to Cotner." Vocal solo by Mrs. Raymond Aylsworth; readings by Alyce Rotter, "My Religion" and "When the Minister Calls;" Flute solo by Howard Matson accompanied by Miss Matson at the piano; "What Cotner is doing for her girls," Dean Dora Winter.

Founder's day was fittingly celebrated Tuesday, October 2. Classes were dismissed after the second period and the traditional convocation was held at 10 o'clock. Miss Sorenson presided at the piano for the prelude, and the Rev. C. B. Osgood of South Dakota pronounced the invocation. Mr. Adrian Newens, director of the University School of Music, was the speaker of the morning and was introduced by President Cobbey. Mr. Newens talked on the "Call Out Yonder," which was a ringing challenge to every Cotner student. Silent meditation and prayer was followed by Mendelssohn's "Consolation" played softly during dismissal by Miss Sorenson. Luncheon at the Women's hall was followed by field sports and a football game between the second and first varsity teams. Board meeting was held at 4 p. m. and the annual faculty reception at 8:30 at Library hall.

Peru Normal

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Marshall, of Panama, spent several days in Peru the past week visiting with their daughter, Viva, who has registered for the primary course in the Teachers college. Mr. Marshall was formerly state senator from Lancaster county.

Prof. and Mrs. W. F. Hoyt were hosts to the faculty Tuesday evening at a radio concert. The members of the faculty were interested in the radio program given at Omaha by the Auburn Kiwanis club. Miss Esther Blankenship, supervisor of music in the Teachers' college, was the soprano soloist on the Kiwanis program.

A press club has been organized under the advisorship of Prof. E. C. Beck, of the department of English. The club began its work with the following members: G. R. Willy, of Hebron; David Costello, of Julian; Ernestine Robertson and Ruth Sandell, of Omaha; Crystal Meyer and Welcome Wills, of Peru; Mildred Pate, Metz and Helen Lichty, of Falls City; Myrl Emrick, of Fairbury. Roland Edie, of Pawnee City; Forrest Bell, of Beatrice; Mary McVay, of Sterling; and W. D. McMahon, of Shenandoah, Ia.

Mrs. J. E. Miller, of Waco, spent a part of the week with her daughter, Mrs. E. C. Beck. Waco expects to send more students to Peru. Norman Thorpe '7, captain of the Waco basket ball team last season, it the only Waco attendant this semester.

The Peru Pedagogian will appear for the first time next week. Managing editor George R. Willy has his staff working on the copy and collecting the advertising. The contract for printing has been let. The Peru Pedagogian, formerly the Peru Normalite, is one of the oldest, if not the oldest, college weekly in the state.

Wesleyan Affairs

The freshman journalism class at Nebraska Wesleyan visited the University Place News office Monday, where Editor G. H. Graham explained the linotype. The class will visit the same plant next Monday to study the earlier method of hand setting.

Work on the road beds on the Wesleyan campus for the new paving has begun. Student labor is being used. The semi-circular drives on Eighteenth street will be laid this fall. The cement walks towards the new library building are being laid.

ANNOUNCES
New English Block Prints and Chintzes

These textiles have been in use in England and on the continent for hundreds of years. Many of the designs are from the Queen Anne Georgian, and other periods. Some are French 18th Century, showing the classical influence. For this reason they give historical background to a room, as well as decorative value. No other fabric combines design with variety of color, and for this reason linens and chintzes are being used in any room of the house. The are effective and individual.

Why beautiful women attract,

BEAUTY—skin deep? So say the poets and the bards but science knows better.

Sparkling, bright eyes—clear and snappy as a glorious frosty winter's morn—rosy, radiant cheeks, glowing with the bloom of youth—ruby red lips—nature's own handiwork. A figure—graceful and well formed; a pleasing, happy, care-free personality. All attributes of beauty—all reasons why beautiful women attract.

What causes all these attributes of beauty? Cheeks that are pale and drawn—lips that are parched and withered—a figure that is limp and haggard—a disposition that is touchy, nervous and ailing. Are these attributes of beauty?

Rich red blood coursing through the veins ridding the system of impurities—putting a sparkle in the eye, a spring in the walk, vim, vigor and vitality radiating throughout the system. A feeling of wholesomeness, of soundness, of security. Millions of red blood cells filling the body and face with beauty. Beauty skin deep?

S. S. S. is the reason why many beautiful women attract. S. S. S. —the great blood purifier—is made of pure vegetable ingredients. It creates red blood cells by the millions. Don't wonder why beautiful women attract. Be attractive yourself. Travel back over the road to well-being. Let nature restore that lost complexion. Let the ruddy glow return to your cheeks and the sparkle to your eyes. S. S. S. will help nature do her work. S. S. S. has helped thousands of others back to health. It will do the same for you.

Miss Margaret Frye, Lapel, Ind., writes:

"I was troubled with pimples and blackheads. I took S. S. S. My skin cleared up and I gained in weight."

Since 1826 S. S. S. has been doing these very things. All leading drug stores sell it. The large size bottle is the more economical.

The Prim Press, giving you a better ironing service

This is a Prim Press—the very newest of ironing devices.

It enables us to give you ironing service of a higher quality than ever before.

With this remarkable new press, the operator simply places your dainty blouse or waist on a padded ironing board, smoothes it out as you would do at home and by bringing down the upper part, or "head" of the press, as it is called, irons the garment automatically. Practically no effort is required from the operator.

This means finer ironing for all your wearing apparel—and, because the iron is heated with steam, and there is no rubbing or friction, it means positive protection against scorching and wear.

We wish you might inspect this wonderful new ironer personally—we know if you did you never would bother again with laborious ironing at home.

Phone today and have us tell you more of this fine service. It will assure you of new leisure and new economy on washday.

Mrs. Vivienne Alvord, accompanied by Norman Goodbrod sang a group of songs composed of: "I think" by d'Hardelot; "Love's Sunlight" by Cadman.

Mrs. Philo M. Buck, dressed in costume, gave a talk on Japan and Miss May Bardwell gave an account of her travels through Canada, Scotland, England, Belgium, Germany, Switzerland and France.

Light refreshments were served.

MOVE TO ELECT WOMAN UNIVERSITY REGENT.

The Lincoln branch of the American Association of University Women will open its session Saturday, October 7, with a tea at the home of Mrs. Maurice Deutsch. Mrs. Deutsch, who is beginning her second year as president of the local branch, has just received word of her appointment to the position of state president.

Efforts of the association this year will be directed toward creating sentiment in favor of the election of a woman to the board of regents of the state university. The national association advocates the presence of at least one woman on the governing body of every university or college which it accredits.

No chairman has yet been appointed for the regent committee, but the other members are Mrs. C. A. Sorensen, Mrs. Addison E. Sheldon, Miss Maud Berry, Miss Margaret Haughawaut, Miss Olivia Pound, Miss Stella B. Kirker, Mrs. Carl Newlon, Miss Jessie Jury, Mrs. J. M. Mayhew, Miss Mabey Lindley, Mrs. Charles Roberts, Miss Ida Robbins Mrs. Lincoln Frost and Mrs. LeRoy Davis.

The scholarship committee which has charge of the awarding of the three scholarships of the Lincoln branch to women in the state university, will be composed, as last year, of Miss Gertrude Jones, chairman, and Miss Ida Robbins. Providing scholarships and fellowships is a large part of the work of both the local and the national organizations. The greater part of dues, both local and national, goes to that purpose. Those offered by the Lincoln branch to Nebraska university women provide one self-supporting girl with a hundred dollars and two others with fifty dollars a year.

Programs of the Lincoln branch this year will follow the general plan adopted by the national convention this summer at Portland, at which international relations, home making and improvement of elementary education were stressed.

Study of international relations, a survey to aid women in efficient and convenient home-making, extension of fellowships for foreign study, and a more intensive educational campaign are the principal features of the national program.

The Edward Bok peace prize of $100,000 will be competed for by the national association. A committee of eight has been appointed to work out a plan for international relations for the organization to submit.

A survey of cooperative efforts in home making to help women to be successful housekeepers in this day of few helpers will be made by a national committee of three.

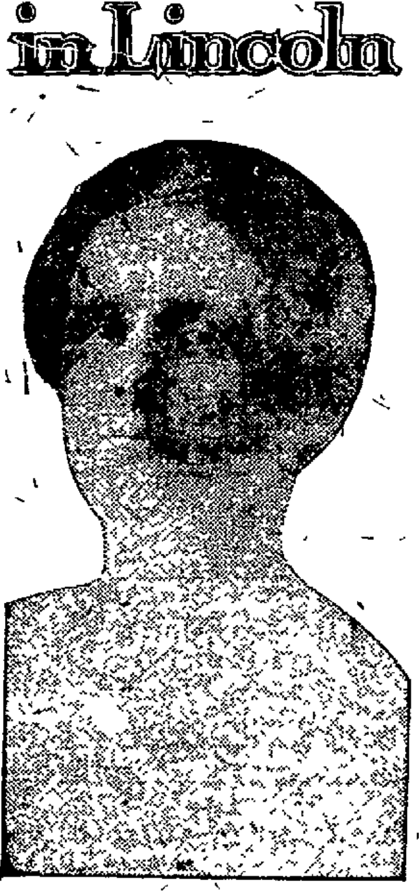
"A standardized, uniform curriculum probably is no longer desirable in elementary education when individual differences are recognized," declared Mrs. Frances F. Burchard, educational secretary of the A. A. U. W., in her report before the organization on the educational work of the association. "What fits one may not fit another; we must adjust the material and the teaching to what the child needs.

"We must scrap much in the curricula of our schools that once was valuable and now is useless" Mrs. Bernard further urged upon the convention in her recommendation, which was adopted in its entirety "This means that in some cases a redistribution of material between grades will be necessary, with the introduction after more careful investigation of useful new material, especially in the field of social study. Old subjects were chosen in another age to educate children for a different kind of life from ours"

A fund of a million dollars will be raised by the international association of university women to use as an endowment fund, the income going for fellowships The plan has been endorsed by both the British and American associations of university women and the money will be used for international fellowships, the funds being raised in all countries.

Miss Annette Anderson, formerly of the state university and now assistant dean of women at the University of Arizona, represented the Lincoln branch at the national convention. "I need not give a detailed report because it all will be given in the A. A U W. Journal," Miss Anderson stated in a letter to Mrs. Deutsch, "but I must mention the inspiration derived from meeting with such a group of university women."

Who's Who in Lincoln



Mrs. W. T. Elmore is well-known over the city and throughout the state as a Bible teacher. She is a trained missionary and spent the years from nineteen hundred to nineteen fourteen in the mission fields of India. Since her return to the United States she has been called upon each year to travel from east to west and from north to south, carrying the mission spirit to thousands.

Mrs. Elmore is under the supervision of the Inter-Denominational committee of the Missionary Education movement U. S., and Canada and the Central Committee of the U. S for the united study of foreign missions. Mrs. Elmore taught "The Mission Text Book" in Minneapolis, also at the Northern Baptist convention at Indianapolis, Chautauqua, N. Y, Northfield, Mass., Chambersburg, Penn, Lakeside, Ohio, Geneva, Wisconsin, and Winona, Indiana. In three of these schools over one thousand were enrolled.

This year she will visit sixteen large cities attending the "Loyalty Luncheons" as the mission speaker, with six other national board members.

A mission drive in California last year where Mrs. Elmore was a national speaker, raised $8,000.

In Lincoln this lady finds many things to do She teaches at three community centers, she has a class at the Y. W. C. A. and another in East Lincoln. She is a mother with two children who do her great credit and she has been able to keep her home and carry on the work which she loves.

Nebraska Branch of Parent-Teachers' Association Holds Its Annual Convention Here

The second annual meeting of the Nebraska branch of the national congress of Mothers and Parent-Teachers association will be held in Lincoln Monday and Tuesday, October 29, and 30, with headquarters at the Lindell hotel.

Nebraska joined the national organization at a meeting held in Lincoln a year ago last June at which Mrs. Milton Higgins, the national president was present. Mrs. G. H. Wentz of Lincoln was elected state president at that meeting, and other state officers elected were Mrs. D. V. Stephens, Fremont, vice president; Mrs. A. C. Lederman, Grand Island, recording secretary; Mrs. W. K. Fowler, Lincoln, cosresponding secretary; Mrs. D. D. Miles, University Place, treasurer; Mrs. O. E. Davis, David City, auditor.

Since the affiliation with the national association there has been a rapid growth of the organization throughout the state. The home, the relation of school to the home and child, and child welfare in every phase are stressed by this organization in its program. In Lincoln where there are nineteen local associations the organization has established itself as an important factor in the community, through its connection with the vacation playground movement. It is also active in securing better and safer traffic regulations and the lessening of the traffic damages for school children through instruction in the home. The organization in Lincoln is stressing the home and the pre-school child in its work this year.

A large number of delegates from out in the state are expected to be in Lincoln for the state meeting and a splendid program is being arranged for that time.

From out in the state comes news that a new branch of the association has been formed at Chadron with Mrs. Snow as president and that branches are also being established at Grand Island and McCook

VINCENT CHAUTAUQUANS STUDY SOUTH AMERICA.

Vincent chautauqua circle met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. H. Powell, 1985 Harwood street. Mrs. S. D. Amspoker was leader, and she conducted a short quiz. The papers read were: "The Discovery, Conquest and Settlement of South America," Mrs. Robert Hall; "The South American Struggle for Independence," Mrs. J. A. McKinzie, "Relations between Chile and Peru," Mrs. J. M. Roberts. The next meeting will be held in two weeks with Mrs. Harold Wood, 2828 N street.

COMPLETE PLANS FOR HASTINGS MEETING.

Central W. C. T. U. met at the Y. W. C. A. Friday afternoon and completed arrangements for the state convention to be held at Hastings, October 16 to 19.

BEATRICE TO ENTERTAIN NEBRASKA FEDERATION.

The twenty-eighth state convention of the Nebraska Federation of Women's clubs will be held at Beatrice October 23 to 26, by invitation of the Beatrice Woman's club, according to Mrs. W. Leroy Davis, state publicity chairman for the federation. The formal opening for the convention will be held Tuesday evening, October 23.

Mrs. John Slaker will conduct a class in parliamentary law each morning from 8 to 8:30 o'clock in the convention hall. A question box will be passed at all meetings of the convention.

Two marches of note will be features of the convention: A scholarship march Wednesday afternoon directed by Mrs. Dan V. Stevens; and a march Friday evening of the presidents of 1921-23, directed by Mrs. A. J. Jenison.

The two outstanding questions to be discussed and voted upon are: The redistricting of the Nebraska Federation into eight separate and distinct districts, instead of the six congressional districts into which it is now divided; and the reversing of the order of holding the state and district conventions, by holding the state conventions in the spring and the district conventions in the fall.

Speakers of note include: Mrs. Edgar Penney, state president; Eugene T. Lies, representing the national playground and recreational association; Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart of Frankfort, Kentucky, chairman of the illiteracy division of the General Federation of Women's clubs, and the founder of the Moonlight schools, the pioneer institution in the illiteracy crusade; Judge Martin J. Wade of the United States district court for the southern district of Iowa; Harry L. Keefe, farm bureau association. Billboard discussion, L. W. Trester, representing the poster association, and Mrs. Irving Kerl, chairman of the art division of the Nebraska federation; Mrs. Jeannette W. Emrich, national director of the Near East relief; Joseph Edgar Livingston, on beauty of shades in costume; and Mrs. Nancy M. Schoonmaker, official representative of the General Federation of Women's clubs in a tour of investigation of conditions surrounding the women of the

Emily Taft Is Guest of Honor At Club Dinner

Miss Emily Taft, the remarkable young actress, who played the part of Annabelle West in the mystery play, "The Cat and the Canary," which played a week end engagement in Lincoln is a friend of Mrs. F. B. Baylor and was entertained at dinner Saturday evening at the Country club by Mr. and Mrs. Baylor. The part of Annabelle West is the leading role and one that requires much of an actress as those that followed hair raising episodes of the play realized.

Miss Taft is the daughter of Lorado Taft, the well known sculptor of Chicago. She is a charming miss of less than twenty-three years and has been with this company for two years. Mrs. Baylor and her older sister, May, were schoolmates at Radcliffe and so naturally Mrs. Baylor became acquainted with the younger sister. Miss Emily Taft attended Chicago university and became seriously interested in dramatics when a member of the Chicago University dramatic club. She was president of the club for a time. After graduating from Chicago she studied in New York for a year afterward going into stock companies which played in Denver and Jacksonville, Fla.

A brilliant future is predicted for so young an actress who so successfully fills the requirements of the difficult role of Annabelle West.

Mah-Jongg Now Popular Game

Mah-Jongg which made its initial appearance in Lincoln social circles rather timidly a few months ago is becoming more and more popular and promises to take its place along with bridge the coming season. The first Mah-Jongg club was organized a few weeks ago. It has been meeting for Dutch treat luncheons and an afternoon of Mah-Jongg at the Country club on alternate Thursdays but during the winter the meetings will be at the homes of the members when there will be luncheon and an afternoon devoted to solving the mysteries of the old Chinese game. Mah-Jongg is not an easy game at all as those who play for the first time are apt to say and think but it is like bridge requires close attention and study. It is a favorite of the gambling loving Chinese.

The club members are Mesdames Charles Roberts, Sarl Bumstead, E. J. Faulkner, Charles Schwarz, James E. M. Thomson, W. B. Romans, Earle Foster, Verne Hedge, Cedric Potter, George Fawell, Archer M. Bunting and Miss Anne Stuart.

Weddings

BARNES-WYKHAM

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Barnes announce the marriage of their daughter, Frances, to Wayne Wykham of Lincoln. The young people were married at Council Bluffs, Ia., February 14.

TALBOT-KIMBALL

Miss Eleanor Talbot, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Talbot, has chosen Monday evening, October 29, for her marriage to Richard Kimball, son of Mrs. W. R. Kimball. The wedding, for which no invitations are issued, will take place quietly at 8 o'clock at the home of her sister, Mrs. Charles Stuart, and Mr. Stuart, 1830 E street.

Miss Agnes Schmidt of Los Angeles will be Miss Talbot's only attendant and her small nephew, Jimmie Stuart, will carry the ring. Kent Kimball will attend his brother as groomsman. Helen Burnham, Barbara Burnham, Ruth Louise Dierks, Mary Stuart, Harriet Talbot, and Lillian Ann Talbot will stand at the altar with the bridal party.

Invitations will be issued tomorrow by Mr. and Mrs. Talbot for a large reception to follow the ceremony at the Country club.

CHRISTIANSEN-HINKLE

The marriage of Miss Esther Christiansen to Harold M. Hinkle will take place October 13 at the Grace Lutheran church at 8 o'clock. Rev. Charles Bream will read the marriage lines. Miss Christiansen has chosen for her attendants Miss Madeline Corbett as maid of honor; and the Misses Lorraine Kuse, Katherine Dean, Alyce Baumgart and Pauline Prestegaard as bridesmaids. Three little girls will scatter flowers: Helen Marie Kincaid, Betty Green, and Harriet Buttery. Wilbur Wolfe will be Mr. Hinkle's best man. Following the wedding, a reception will be given at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Christiansen, 901 Garfield street.

TO BECOME BRIDE

Announcement is made today by Mr. and Mrs. B. K. Bushee of the engagement of their daughter, Helen Bernice, to Frank Linn of Kimball, Neb. The wedding will be on Tuesday October 30, at the home, 2316 Lake street at high noon.

Miss Bushee and Mr. Linn are both former students of the university. Miss Bushee received her degree in June of 1920. Mr. Linn is a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity. They will make their home in Kimball.

Miss Coleita Aitken.

Mrs. Pegler was a particularly charming bride. She was formerly Miss Marian Wood and is the daughter of the late H. E. Wood and Mrs. Wood. Her marriage to Donald Pegler, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Pegler, took place last Thursday evening at the Wood home, 146 South Twenty-eighth street. The bride wore a wedding gown of white chiffon brocaded in velvet with veil of tulle and chantilly lace, the cap of lace held in place with strands of pearls. Her bouquet was of orchids, valley lilies and bride's roses.

The bride's sister, Mrs. O'Shea, was her matron of honor. Her gown was of flame georgette embroidered in crystal beads and she carried a colonial bouquet of Columbia roses and baby breath.

Mrs. Wilkinson and Mrs. Ingwerson were also bridal attendants. Mrs. Wilkinson was gowned in ophelia rose taffeta and carried a bouquet of ophelia roses and baby breath. Mrs. Ingwerson wore rose georgette and metal cloth in rose and silver and her bouquet of Columbia roses was simillar in style to that carried by the other attendants.

Helene Wood, niece of the bride, carried the ring on a white satin pillow and Betty O'Shea, another niece, scattered rose petals in the bride's path. The little ring bearer wore a frock of green georgette over pink and the little flower girl had an accordian pleated frock of pink.

A wedding of unusual interest was that on last Wednesday evening of Miss Margradell Aitken, daughter of Dr. Walter Aitken, pastor of St. Paul's church, and Mrs. Aitken. Miss Aitken made a beautiful tall and stately bride in her wedding gown of soft satin slightly draped and with long veil of tulle and real lace. The wedding to which the members of the entire congregation were invited was at the church and afterward there was a reception for the members of the church board, families and the bride's sorority, Kappa Delta, at the Aitken home, 1745 D street. Mrs. Berner, of Chicago, the bride's twin sister, was her matron of honor and her maid of honor was her sister, Miss Coleita Aitken. Margaret Good, Jeanette Vaught and Amy Richmond walked ahead of the bride scattering rose petals in her path. The bridesmaids were Miss Eunice Wilson of Clarinda, Ia., Miss Florence Stever, of Creston, Ia., and Miss Jeanette Cook of Omaha, who came down the aisle led by Gretchen Fee. It was an orchid and pink wedding and the gowns of the attendants shaded from a delicate pink to to an orchid pink and into the violet shades. Mrs. Berner wore violet lace with rhinestones over silver cloth; Miss Aitken had a gown of pink lace over brocaded silver cloth, the bridesmaids wore quaint colonial frocks of orchid taffeta with bouffant skirts and basquet waists; the flower girls wore pink flounced taffeta frocks and Gretchen Fee was in pink chiffon and lace.

BIRSS-BALDWIN

The marriage of Miss Edna Allen Birss, daughter of the late Frank J. Birss and Mrs. Birss, and Capt. Herbert Baldwin of St. Louis, Mo., was solemnized yesterday afternoon at the Linwood boulevard Methodist Episcopal church in Kansas City. The lines were read by the Rev. Benjamin Young, pastor of the church, in the presence of close friends and relatives.

After the ceremony, an informal reception was held in the suite of the bride's mother in the Muhlebach hotel. The reception was followed by a wedding inner. Capt. and Mrs. Baldwin left that evening for an eastern wedding trip, after which they will be at home in St. Louis.

Mrs. Baldwin is a graduate of Brownell hall in Omaha, where she made her home until last spring when she and Mrs. Birss moved to Lincoln to reside. Mrs. Birss is a member of the state board of control. Captain Baldwin is finance officer at Jefferson Barracks, Mo., and is also of the government arsenal in St. Louis. He is the son of the late Col. W. H. Baldwin and Mrs. Baldwin of Philadelphia.

Among the out of town guests were Mrs. Esther M. Allen, grandmother of the bride, and her mother, Mrs Birss of Lincoln.

McKEE-MULVANEY

The marriage of Miss Blanche McKee and the Rev. M. F. Mulvaney took place Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. McKee, in Aurora. The Episcopal ring service was read by the Rev. Irvine Inglis, pastor of the Congregational church. Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Floyd Wright sang "At Dawning" and Prof. Amadon of York sang "Happiness," accompanied by Mrs. Glenn Haworth. Mrs. Haworth played the Mendelssohn wedding march for the entrance of the bridal party.

The lines were read before a large mirrow, an heirloom in the family, which was hung with trailing vines and banked with ferns and palms. On either side of the prie-dieu were tall white baskets of pink gadioli, tied with pink tulle. In the background were tall pedestals holding candelabra with cathedral candles tied in white.

The bride's gown was of white georgette, with which she wore a white tulle veil. Her bouquet was a shower of Ophelia roses and white sweetpeas. Miss Marie McKee, a sister of the bride, was her maid of honor. Her frock was of rose colored crepe romane.

An informal reception was held immediately after the ceremony. Greenery and pink gladioli were used in the dining room, where ices and cakes were served.

Rev. and Mrs. Mulvaney left that evening for a wedding trip to Kansas City and St. Louis. They will be at home in the Methodist manse in Aurora, of which church Rev. Mulvaney has been appointed pastor.

Mrs. Mulvaney is a graduate of the university, where she was a member of Alpha Pi sorority, and was awarded Phi Beta Kappa honors. She received a scholarship for Wellesley college during her university course. For the past two years she has taught in the Hampton high school. Rv. Mulvaney is a graduate of York college, and has been pastor of the Methodist church and superintendent of the school in Hampton.

SNOVER-ANDERSON

The wedding of Miss Clarissa Snover of Fremont to Paul A. Anderson of Bellewood took place Thursday at 3 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents in Fremont. Mrs. Ira J. Williams of Pawnee City, a sorority sister of the bride, sang before the ceremony. An informal reception took place after the wedding, at which Miss Mary Lou Hibler of Fremont served. Guests included the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Anderson, and his brother John.

The bride attended Wesleyan university for two years, and became affiliated with Delta Phi sorority. She was later graduated from the school of oratory of Northwestern. Mr. Anderson attended Wesleyan also, and was a member of Theo fraternity. He later attended the University of Nebraska, and is affiliated with Acacia fraternity. The young couple have gone on a short honeymoon, and will make their home in Lincoln, where Mr. Anderson is assistant secretary of the International Hardware association.

Parties of the Week

Mrs. C. J. O'Connor of Monrovia, Cal., formerly Miss Julia Hainer, who has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. Leonard Hurta in Omaha, will arrive in Lincoln Wednesday for a visit with old Lincoln friends and her father, Judge E. J. Hainer. Mrs. O'Connor will be the guest of Mrs. J. E. Miller and the Miller home will be her headquarters, though her visit will be divided among other friends. The first three days of her stay she will be with Mrs. Ellery Davis. Next Sunday evening she will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Don Miller at tea in their apartments at the Milburn. For the same guest, Mr and Mrs. James E. Whitney will entertain at bridge a week from Tuesday evening at their home, 1820 A street.

Mrs. H. H. Wilson will be hostess on Thursday afternoon at her home, 1928 E street, at tea for Mrs. O'Connor and on Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Miller will entertain in her honor at a dinner at the Country club.

Miss Esther Christiansen, whose marriage to Harold M. Hinkle will take place Saturday, October 13, has been honor guest at several parties the past week. Miss Madeline Corbett, 930 A street was hostess at an attractive dinner party for twelve girls Wednesday evening. A silver basket of pink roses formed the centerpiece, and was tied with a large pink tulle bow. Tulle streamers led to crystal candlesticks which contained pink tapers. Streamers of smilax went from the center basket to the individual places. Rose buds were used as place cards. The guests presented Miss Christiansen with a half dozen silver salad forks.

The members of Phi Beta Pi entertained at an Orpheum party Friday evening in honor of Miss Christiansen.

Last evening, Mr. and Mrs. J. Christiansen, uncle and aunt of the bride, gave a family dinner for twelve guests, honoring the bride and groom. The bridal party and the families will be entertained Friday at a pre-nuptial at home by the parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. George Rortsche, 2120 South Thirteenth street. Eighteen guests will attend the dinner.

One of the larger social affairs of the week took place last night when Mrs. E. F. Pettis and her son, Edward Pettis of Omaha, were at home formally for Mr. and Mrs. Donald Pettis, whose wedding was an event of early September in Omaha. Receiving with the honor guests, Mrs. Pettis and Edward Pettis, were Mrs. J. F. Carpenter of Omaha, mother of Mrs. Donald Pettis, and her brother, G. F. Carpenter of Omaha, and Mrs. Carpenter. The guests were introduced by Prof. E. H. Barbour.

The rooms were attractively decorated in a color motif of pink and white. Tall baskets of white chrysanthemums and pink roses were used in the hall and these were combined with bowls of the same flowers in the living room, where the receiving line stood. A silver basket of chrysanthemums and roses graced the center of the table in the dining room. Silver candle holders with pink tapers were on either side of the center piece.

During the first hour, Miss Sarah Muir met the guests in the hall and Mrs. Rex Davies of Utica greeted them in the living room. Mrs. A. W. Carpenter and Miss Lenore Burkett were in the library. Mrs. Ellery Davis and Mrs. Maurice Deutsch presided in the dining room while Miss Frances Barstow, Miss Helen Cook, and Mrs. Terence Lonam assisted.

From 9:30 until 10:30 o'clock, Mrs. E. C. Folsom was in the hall, with Mrs. W. E. Hardy and Mrs. Charles Roberts in the living room. Mrs. Helen L. Avery and Miss Dorothy Raymond met the guests in the library the second hour. Mrs. H. H. Wheeler and Mrs. W. E. Barkley were at the serving table and Mrs. Irving Chapin, Mrs. Arnold Grimm, and Miss Dorothy Pettis served. Mrs. E. H. Barbour was in charge of the rooms for both receiving hours.

Among the out of town guests who came for the reception were Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Davis and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kiewit of Omaha.

Miss Lucille Miller entertained fourteen girls at a linen shower Friday evening at her home, 2617 Garfield street, in honor of her cousin, Miss Norma Miller, who is to be a bride of late October. The evening was spent informally, and a luncheon was served by the hostess. Cut flowers were used in decoration and corsage bouquets of pink roses were given as favors.

Fifteen little guests gathered at the home of Luella Snowden, 715 South Twenty-first street, to help celebrate her eighth birthday. After they had played games, they found their places around the table, marked with Hallowe'en favors. The birthday cake, decorated with eight candles, was the centerpiece.

Mrs. J. F. Stevens and Mrs. C. B. Letton entertained twenty-eight guests at a 1 o'clock luncheon Saturday at the home of Mrs. Stevens, 1920 E street, honoring Mrs. Paul Bell of Oakland, Cal., who is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Wilson, and Mrs. Will A. Letton of Denver, who is a guest at the home of Judge and Mrs. C. B. Letton. Autumn colors were used in decorations, and the afternoon was spent informally.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Sidles will entertain at dinner next Friday evening at the Country club. The affair will be in celebration of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary and also in honor of the first wedding anniversary of their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sidles, who were married on the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Sidles. Among the guests who will number thirty-five, will be Mrs. H. E. Sidles' brother, L. C. Stire and Mrs. Stire of Denver, Mr. and Mrs. John Reams of Denver and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Huff of Omaha. The evening will be spent at the Sidles home.

Honoring Miss Frances Whitmore, a bride of October, the Alumnae club of Alpha Chi Omega, of which she is a member, will entertain Saturday at the home of Mrs. Fred Sidles,

CULTURE
BEGINS AT HOME

Your home expresses You! To have beautiful pictures in your home is to say that you are a person of culture refinement and rare good taste. OCTOBER 8th to 14th is to be known throughout the country as NATIONAL PICTURE WEEK, the movement being sponsored by the American Art Bureau

(for promotion of art in the home)

The importance and educational value of GOOD PICTURES is apparent to all. Somewhere in this Shop is just the picture to improve and beautify YOUR home.

Select your gifts for the week from our large and complete line of the OLD WORLD MASTERS. Perfectly colored prints, mounted on Wooden Plaques antiqued to just the right mellowness, in such numbers as "Mona Lisa," "Madonna of the Chair," "Age of Innocence," "Hansel," "Adoration," "Baby Stuart," "Ave Marie," etc., they are beautiful indeed. Priced from $3.50 to $20.00.

Our line of the well known "Seaman Prints," including "Whistlers" "Artist's Mother" "Children of the Shell," "Little Red Ridinghood," "Melon Eaters," and "Summer Day," must be seen to be appreciated. Complete line at $3.00 each.

TOASTING FORKS for the marshmallow or wiener roast. In variety of color, finish and design, these OLD WORLD BRASSES make most desirable gifts or prizes.

FIRESIDE SETS of BRASS for the fireplace and FIRESIDE BASKETS, are also apropos.

CIDER SETS from quaint Holland. These come in tall graceful jugs with tumblers to match. With their old-ivory background, artistic and unusual decorations, they are both ornamental and useful.

The October number of Harpers Bazar says: "Chanel, who, following up her idea of the complete costume, is making jewelry and even perfume, to go with her clothes. The French woman loves jewels, especially the swinging kind."

Harpers also favors CHOKERS and shows them with the smart tailored suit, and both the afternoon and evening gowns. New numbers include Emerald, Chinese Amber, Azure Blue, Purple, Saphire, Jet, Transparent Coral and Crystal.

THE MOST MARVELOUS POWER

You Have Been Given Is

THE POWER TO THINK

When a mind becomes mature, it understands that the germ of defeat is in every selfish thought. The trained mind knows that every transaction must benefit every person who is in any way connected with the transaction, and any attempt to profit by the weakness, ignorance or necessity of another will inevitably operate to his disadvantage. Those of us who recognize this principle have a great advantage in the affairs of life.

This store's policy has ever been guided by this thought: The Golden Rule in life and business. That is why this, our Greatest business effort—the closing out of more than a Quarter Million dollar stock—has been such a tremendous success. You will find when you come to this sale that it takes but little if any thinking to know that here is the place and time to buy furniture, rugs and draperies.

University Notes

The recent freshman rally at which practically every member of the first-year class was present, was, in fact an initiation designed to introduce new students to the university. Chancellor Avery and other faculty members advised the freshmen how to start their collegiate career, in what things to be interested, and inspired them to a high and forceful purpose in the university. Instead of old-time hazing for new students, this initial advice is intended to give them a sober point of view and impress upon them the demands of the institution in which they are beginning work. At the suggestion of Dr. George E. Condra several years ago, a pledge of sincerity and earnestness for freshmen was instituted.

The naming of Dr. Roscoe Pound, dean of Harvard law school and distinguished Nebraska alumnus and formerly dean of the college of law, to sit on the jury of seven eminent Americans who will choose the winning plan for the $100,000 Bok peace award comes an another recognition of Dr. Pound's achievements. "These seven have been chosen," the policy committee who selected the judges explained, "after weeks of careful consideration, on the basis of selection which aimed, not at securing a jury made up of representatives of varied groups and sections, but which aimed instead at getting seven men and women generally recognized to be eminently fitted by experience to deal with the exceedingly difficult and complex subject of our international relations."

Serving with Dr. Pound are Elihu Root, prominent jurist who served in the McKinley and Roosevelt cabinets and who was the winner of the Nobel peace prize in 1912; Col. Edward M. House, former confident of Woodrow Wilson, who served as special representative of the United States government at the interallied conference of premiers and foreign ministers held at Paris in November 1917! Major James Guthrie Harbord, president of the Radio Corporation of America, who served as chief of staff of the American Expeditionary Force and as chief of the American military mission to Armenia in 1919; President Ellen Fitz Pendleton of Wellesley college; William Allen White of Emporia, Kansas, editor, novelist and publisher, who was sent to France as an observer by the American Red Cross in 1917 and who was a delegate to the Russian conference at Prinkipo in 1919; and Brand Whitlock, former ambassador to Belgium..

The photographic department of the Soil Conservation and Survey division, under the direction of Dr. George Condra, is taking large pictures of the principal features of the university.

The construction history of the new Memorial stadium is depicted several 12x20-inch photographs. According to the custom of recent years this department photographed the entering class, following the freshman initiation recently. Dr. Condra announces that photographs will be taken of various events of the university year including the Olympics, the annual contest between the freshman and the sophomore classes, prominent football games, high school Feto day, Alumni day, Ivy day, and of commencement activities. Both motion and still-camera shots were made of the ceremony at Nebraska City, when Arbor lodge became a state park.

It is the belief of the department that nothing depicts so accurately the development of the state and its institutions as pictorial evidence.

In common with nearly every other science department of the university, the departments of zoology and botany are carrying on with crowded laboratory sections. Due in part to changes in the pre-medical course of study which spread the general zoological course over two semesters instead of one, botany is being encroached upon in order to furnish laboratory space Every available microscope is in use.

Dr. Charles Fordyce of Teachers' college spoke recently to the patrons of the Friend schools on "How to Discover and Train the Talents of Youth." This address was part of the movement for educational measurements and research conducted throughout the state in the interests of improved school grading.

READING CLUB AT ALVO CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY.

The twentieth anniversary of the Alvo Woman's Reading club was celebrated Thursday afternoon in the Alvo Methodist church. Delegations were present from Lincoln, Omaha, Plattsmouth, Bethany, Havelock, Douglas, Palmyra, Elmwood, Otoe, Syracuse, Weeping Water, Nebraska City, Davey, Avoca, Ceresco, Ruskin, Rural club from District No. 8, Alvo Mothers' and Daughters' council, and Woman's Reading club.

The club colors of red and green were carried out in the decorations of ferns and carnations, Mrs. S. C. Boyles, a charter member, presided. Mrs. Boyles, Mrs. Stella Yont, president of the first district, Mrs. George Hall and Mrs. John Foreman president of the club spoke briefly of club history. A song, arranged by Mrs. H. A. Appleman, was sung by a group of Alvo club women. Other numbers on the program follow: Piano solo, Liebestraum, Liszt, Mrs. Roy Cole, Plattsmouth; group of songs, Mrs. Ralph Jones of Omaha, accompanied by Mrs. Sumner Hall; vocal selections, Ladies' Octette from Havelock Woman's club; vocal solos: Daddy's Sweetheart, Lehman; I Love a Little Cottage, O'Hara; The Nightingale and the Rose, Nevin—Mrs. E. S. Luce accompanied by Mrs. Carl Berg. Impersonations: The Mourning Veil; My Old Fiddle; Ain't You Glad You're Livin'? A Lesson with a Fan; Not at Home; and, At the Photographers—Miss Mary Champ of University Place.

Following a "round" especially adapted to the occasion, sung by the guests, punch and wafers were served. Four of the present membership of the club are charter members. They are Mrs. Boyles, Mrs. George Hall, Mrs. Edward Stone and Mrs. Harry Appleman.

RECEPTION FOR CLINTON TEACHERS.

The Clinton Parent-Teachers' association held a reception for the teachers of Clinton school Tuesday evening. Miss Brown gave a group of piano selections, and Superintendent M. C. Lefler gave a short talk on school conditions in Lincoln. Mrs. Lefler sang two solos, and Mrs. J. H. Frandsen gave a short talk. Refreshments were served at the close of a social hour.

The Christmas gift began Wednesday evening, October 3. This will be one of the most interesting classes of the year. Many lovely gifts will be made with the use of enamel, polycrome, sealing wax, and other materials. The dainty little plaques, candle sticks, book ends, and other useful articles which can be made in this class will add a quaintness and beauty to the room they adorn.

Requests have come for a second class in millinery. This class will begin October 22, 7-9 p. m. provided there are as many as six who desire to take it. Those wishing to join the class should register before the 22nd.

The class in first aid to beauty will begin Oct. 23, 8-9 p. m. This will consist of manicuring, shampooing, care of scalp, and facial treatment.

Two very interesting and delightful classes, china painting, and dressmaking, opened this past week. There is still room for others who wish to enter.

Dr. J. K. Shallenberger of Cotner college is to be the leader of the association Bible class which will begin November 5. The course will be in old testament history. The class will be open to both men and women and credit will be given in the Lincoln Training school for Sunday school teachers.

The cafeteria committee will meet Tuesday at 2 p. m.

Camp Fire Notes

Reports from Milford indicate that Kiwanis camp buildings were not touched by the high water last week and that outside of slight damage to the docks there was no loss of property at all.

The first meeting of the Guardian's association this fall will be held Tuesday, October 9 at the Campfire office at 7:30 o'clock. Miss Laura Mulford is chairman of the program committee this year and Mrs. Paul Royal is the new president.

Saturday, October 13, there will be a campfire luncheon at the Grand hotel to launch a big campaign for new members.

The camp fire rummage sale will take place from October 15 to 20. The proceeds go to swell the camp fire house fund. Every guardian and girl is expected to contribute something. Articles may be delivered to 421 North Tenth street on October 15 and 16. Those wishing articles called for should notify the camp fire office, L-6433, on or before October 15. The sale proper will be from October 17 to 20.

Siwihono camp fire held its last meeting at the home of Sylvia Mosher, Tuesday, September 25. The girls planned a hike out past the orphanage for Friday, October 5. The rest of the time was spent in practicing for a ceremonial which will be held in the near future.

Witonola camp fire celebrated its first birthday September 30 in the Trinity Methodist church gymnasium. The room was decorated with the camp colors, blue and gold. The evening was spent in games, prizes going to Dorothy Jackson and Olivia Finke.

Koru camp fire, Mrs. George Smith, guardian, held five meetings during September. The first three were spent in getting the girls organized, studying the requirements and the health chart. The fourth meeting the girls worked with sealing wax and made beads. At the fifth the American flag was studied, its early form and symbolism. The girls made a flag for their count book.

The Nykakeewa camp fire had a meeting Friday at the home of its guardian, Mrs. Putney. Plans were made for a hike and Hallowe'en party. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

The camp fire president's club held a tea at the camp fire office Friday afternoon. Jane Stone, president of the organization, preside at a business meeting at which a constitution was submitted by the following committee: Genevieve Clayton, chairman, Roma Ridnour, Mary Hanson and Dorothy Craig. Reports from other committees were also received. Arrangements for the tea were in charge of Leata Van Andel, Katherine Clapp and Ruth Barnard. Tea, sandwiches and wafers were served with Mrs. Paul Royal, president of the guardian's association, presiding at the tea table. During the tea Jane Stone played the piano, and Joy Mickel danced. Over thirty presidents attended.

Next Wednesday, October 10, all camp fire reporters are invited to a tea at the camp fire office for the purpose of forming a reporter's club. Miss Carolyn Airy will talk to the girls about how to become better reporters.

Weddings

BLAKER-DUNTHORP

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Blaker announce the marriage of their daughter, Roa, to Harry Cecil Dunthorp of Boise, Idaho. The wedding took place October 4 at Boise, where the young people will make their home.

Edith Lucille Robbins announces a studio reception to be given Monday evening from 7:30 to 10 o'clock, in honor of Rabbi and Mrs. Jacob Singer, and Dr. and Mrs. J. O. Hertzler. The special guests will include the officers, executive committee, and active members of the Matinee Musicale, the members of the Musicale Art club, and also of the Thursday Morning Musicale, with their escorts. The reception will give Lincoln musicians an opportunity to meet Rabbi and Mrs. Singer before they leave for Chicago October 14. The reception will also welcome Dr. and Mrs. Hertzler, who come to the university from the University of Wisconsin. Miss Robbins will be assisted in receiving the guests by Madame Gilderoy Scott, Mrs. Lewis Trester, Mrs. Louise Zumwinkel Watson, Miss Jude Deyo, and Dr. and Mrs. Guy L. Spencer. About 300 guests are expected to attend.

COMMUNITY NOTES.

Clinton community center is adding new features to its program. Last year's average monthly attendance of 700 will probably be raised by the added activities of the season. The second Tuesday of each month, lectures and civic meetings will be held in the community center building, which is being repaired by the different unions. The carpenters' union put a new roof on it Saturday, and plastering and painting will be donated. Materials are being given by the lumber and roofing firms.

Classes will be open for registration during the next two weeks. The program of classes follows:

Tuesday: Women's sewing. Evening events: First Tuesday, entertainment or play; second Tuesday, council meeting, 7 o'clock; lecture and civic class, 8 o'clock; third Tuesday, social evenings. Hallowe'en frolic.

Wednesday: Third Wednesday, Parent-Teachers' association, 3 o'clock, kindergarten room. Women's dramatics, 7 to 9 o'clock.

Thursday: Women's gymnasium, 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock; women's business meeting, 9.30 bi-monthly.

Friday: Business girls' supper class 6:30 to 7:30 o'clock; gymnasium, 7:30 to 8:30 o'clock; dramatic class, 8:30 to 9:30 o'clock; hand craft for men and women, 7 to 9 o'clock.

Classes for which no definite time has been arranged are: Chorus, and various clubs.

The director, Mrs. Harrison, is at the community house during all classes, and will keep office hours Tuesdays from 1 to 4 o'clock, and Wednesdays except the third, from 2 to 5 o'clock.

OFFICERS OF DOES

Chadron Normal

Four new faculty members have been engaged for the college departments of the Chadron State Teachers' college, three assistants and one head of a special department, the art. Miss Jessie Stephen of the art department has had very successful experience in supervising the work in her line in several public school systems. She is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan where she took her degree of bachelor of arts and has had her special training in Miss Church's school of design and Normal art school. Miss Myrtle Songer is the new director of the rural training school. She comes from Colorado where she has had much practical experience as a teacher in the rural schools and as county superintendent. She is a graduate of the rural training course in the Colorado State Teachers' college at Greeley. Miss Ada Justice, '10, who has almost completed the work for the degree of bachelor of arts here, is the new assistant in the language department. Miss Justice has taught in high schools since graduation, in the junior college here, and attended the state university for one year. Miss Florence Bruce of Morningside college is director of the fifth and sixth grades in the training school.

Miss Vida McMillan, Reva Rossiter, and Messrs. George Babcock, James Owens, Robert Bivens, Clayton Snbw, and Earnest Purdy, all former students of the Chadron Normal college are attending the university this year.

The members of the class of '23 have been very fortunate in securing good positions. They are teaching in the following places: Merian Smith, Tekamah; Asenath Schill, Mitchell; Elizabeth Eastman, Blair; Lillian Sturm, principal of the Minitare high school; Dorothea Tyler, North Platte; Wren Gilkerson, Clarissa Soth, and Clarice Norman, Chadron; Jane Jones and Thelma Hunt, Scottsbluff. Florence Deal, Hot Springs; Ella Folden, Bayard.

Verdon Drummond, '22, was a visitor on the campus last week. He is attending the university this year.

Roy Clark, who was formerly associate professor in the English department, but for the past two years has been instructor in a normal school in the south, has completed the work for his doctor's degree at Columbia except writing his thesis, upon which he is engaged at present.

The Alpha Phi Pi society entertained a number of new girls at a party last Wednesday evening. The thirty girls present had a very pleasant time. Singing was the order of the evening. Refreshments consisted of green and white brick ice cream and wafers.

The picnic which is given annually by the faculty to entertain and introduce the new members was held Thursday at the state park. All the professors and their assistants and all the families were present, also the secretary of the normal board, Harry Reische and his family.

Prof. Peterson, instructor in violin music, favored the chapel assembly with some beautiful violin music last Friday morning. The numbers were Fritz Kreisler's "Liebesfreud," Leopold Auer's transcription of "The Last Rose of Summer," Isadore Berber's "Spinning Top" and "Souvenir" by Drdla. Everyone was delighted and quit begging for more only when Professor Peterson assured them that he had no more music with him.

An informal dinner and shower for Miss Boyer and Miss Sullivan was held in the apartment of Mrs. Renfro, September 24. Mrs. Renfro was assisted as hostess by Mrs. Proudfit.

Miss Mary J. Plaehn, an Iowan, has been elected to teach physical education to the girls. She will have charge of girls' gymnastics, athletics, and aquatics. Besides, she has charge of classes in dramatics, play production, and debating. Miss Plaehn is a graduate of Coe college, Cedar Rapids, Ia. and of the Northwestern School of Speech. She has done some graduate work at Northwestern university. For the past five years she has had charge of physical training for girls and of speech education in Central Wesleyan of Missouri.

Dean W. N. Delzell went to Geneva last week to speak before the Fillmore County teachers at the Fillmore County Institute. The dean reports a large attendance. Miss Elizabeth Schelkopf, who graduated in 1913, is county superintendent, with her office at Geneva.

The following county superintendents are Peruvians: Miss Maud Berry, of Lancaster county; E. H. Koch, of Seward county; Miss Alpha Peterson, of Cass county; Miss Elizabeth Schelkopf, of Fillmore county; Miss Wilfred Voss, of Dakota county; Mrs. Edna H. Jackson, of Cherry county; Thos. A. Frey, of Grant county; Arthur Nelson, of Hamilton county; R. D. Hendrickson, of Sherman county; Miss Eva B. Shuman, of Jefferson county; Miss Elva McCoy, of Johnson county; Miss Rachel McElroy, of Kimball county; Miss Bessie E. Leeper, of Nemaha county; Miss Caterette Ebersole, of Nuckolls county; and Miss Bertha Bishop, of Sarpy county.

Miss Effie Abbott, who was graduated from the school of expression in 1913, returns this fall to New York as an instructor in Madam Alberti's studio. She was a student in that studio last year. She also attended Columbia university.

University Notes

Dean W. E. Sealock of Teachers college spoke to the teachers of the Seward County Teachers' Institute at Seward recently.

To answer the many queries concerning the history of Nebraska ranging from questions on prehistoric man to the origin of local place names, the Nebraska State Historical society has issued nineteen bound volumes and five pamphlets dealing with little-known facts in the development of the state. These publications began in 1885 and the first series closed with the fifth volume printed in 1893. With a change in title and the numbering of the issues the second series began in 1894. In 1911, however, the distinction between the first and the second series was abolished, and the volumes are now numbered consecutively from 1885. Since 1921 "Nebraska History," quarterly bulletin of the society, has dealt with the historical development of this section.

Additional promotions in the reserve officers' training corps of the university have been announced by Major Sidney Erickson. With recommendations for advancement approved by Chancellor Avery, the following men, whose names were omitted from the promotion list issued September 25, have ranked as cadet first lieutenants since September 24:

Robert S. Lake; Willard W. Penry, '26, Bostonia, Calif.; Theodore E. Cable, '25, Omaha; Lemont B. Kier, '25, Lincoln; Russell F. Richmond, '25, Utica; John W. Madden, '25, Omaha; Gus R. Wolf, '26, Lincoln; Morris F. Roberts, and Robert N. Gardner.

"Nebraska History and Record of Pioneer Days, the official publication of the State Historical society, gives a detailed account of the massacre of the Spanish expedition of the Missouri, August 11, 1720. This information on early territorial history in America has been translated by Addison E. Sheldon, secretary of the Historical society, from the French publication compiled by "La Societe des Americanistes de Paris." A hitherto unpublished diary of a Spanish officer found on the field of battle describes the march from Santa Fe. It is supposed that the Spaniards were wiped out by the Otoe tribe of Nebraska near the junction of the Platte and the Loup rivers. In the opinion of historians this new material is comparable in importance with the publication, forty years ago, of the material connected with the Coronado expedition.

Officers of Phi Delta Kappa, honorary educational fraternity of the university, are planning a dinner for schoolmen attending the first district meeting of the Nebraska State Teachers association at Lincoln, October 31 to November 3. They hope to get a person of national reputation as the after-dinner speaker.

While serving on the faculty of the Puget Sound Marine and Biological laboratories at Friday Harbor, Washington, last summer, Dr. R. H. Wolcott, chairman of the department of zoology, made a collection of the fauna of the northwestern coast region which he brought back with him for class and laboratory work.

George W. Bowers, A. B., formerly instructor in zoology at Union College, is doing graduate work in zoology and assisting in laboratories at the University.

The first ox-yoke made and used in Antelope county has been received by the Historical society from A. L. Hopkins, who took up the first homestead in that county in 1868 and has resided there continuously since. The Crandall family headed by Crandall Hopkins, were the first settlers. Mr. Hopkins trimmed this crude harness from native timber, and applied it to the earliest agriculture in that section. Reminiscent of frontier days, this yoke represents a phase of Nebraska history of which the evidence is fast passing.

For their part in rifle-fire competition with teams from twenty-five other colleges and universities in the middle-west, five letters have been granted by the military department to members of the reserve officers' training corps. These letters—an "N" flanked by a smaller "R" and "T"—go to the following men:

Norris W. Coates, '24, Stuart.
Norris G. Kenny, '24, University Place.
George H. Taylor, '25, Villisca, Ia.
Dwight T. McVickers, '24, Alliance.
G. H. LaTelle DeFord, '25, Buckingham, Colo.

The Reserve Officers' Training Corps contributed two men—Charles T. Horth, '25, Shelton, and Donald Roberts, '26, Lincoln—to the seven-man team picked from the nine states in this corps area which contended in the National rifle competition matches held recently at Camp Perry, Ohio. Francis Millson, '25, Lincoln, also participated in the competition as a member of the national guard team.

C. W. Rodewald, M Sc. (Illinois), has been appointed instructor in the department of chemistry, and as laboratory assistant in the general courses. Mr. Rodewald is completing, in conjunction with his other work, the thesis for his doctorate from the University of Illinois.

Despite an increase in the department of chemistry of forty-eight lockers in the freshman courses, the establishment of a special research laboratory on the second floor, and an extra laboratory to accommodate about 125 students in qualitative chemistry on the third floor, the influx of students has crowded the department. Chairman F. W. Upson estimates that approximately one hundred more students are registered than last year.

Prof. Clara O. Wilson, Teachers' college, gave six addresses before the Nuckolls County Teachers' Institute at Nelson last week.

G. W. Rosenlof, instructor in Teachers college, who is historian of Phi Delta Kappa, has recently completed an historical study of the Nebraska chapter of the fraternity for the national council. It is planned to incorporate this survey into the historical studies of all the various chapters in the United States. This study describes the activities of the local chapter.

The State Historical Society has has recently exhibited through the courtesy of T. R. Armstrong of Hastings, a volume containing the messages of condolence and sympathy which poured into Washington after the death of President Lincoln, inscribed, "The Assassination of Abraham Lincoln, late president of the United States of American, and the attempted assassination of William H. Seward, secretary of state, and Frederick W. Seward, assistant secretary, on the evening of the 1th of March, 1865." The book is embossed with the name of John M. Thayer, governor of Nebraska from 1887 to 1891, who was serving at the time of the impression of the volume in 1867 as senator from Nebraska. The value of this collection is enhanced by the fact that only one hundred copies in this particular binding were printed and distributed to members of congress and to various organizations which had contributed messages of sorrow.

The proposed parsonage and social center to be erected by the Wesley Foundation of Nebraska will, when completed, furnish a long-needed community house for the Methodist students at the university, declares Rev. Dr. Harry F. Huntington, Methodist student pastor. Lots have been purchased between Fourteenth and Fifteenth on R street on which it is planned to begin construction soon of the parsonage, the first unit of the project.

The parsonage will probably reach completion in 1924 but the social center may not be finished until 1927. Of the $50,000 necessary for the work, $25,000 has been raised by a campaign. While student centers such as the one planned for Nebraska are found at many state universities, the most notable example is at the University of Illinois at Urbana. Until the work here is finished the new parsonage will be utilized because of proximity to the center of student activities.

DOANE GIRLS IN GRIDIRON CONTEST

the inter-class affair. According to the reports of the Doane players, they would not have the slightest hesitancy about challenging any other girls' team.

But for the present they are willing to play inter-class games rather than not play at all, and if the enthusiasm keeps on growing, it won't be long before each of the four classes will have a team, and there will be regular games played at stated intervals.

So you see, even if the girls don't claim any kin to the first two lines of the "institoot" yell, they might be induce to claim as theirs the last two—

"We're not tough and we're not rough,
But, Gosh! we are determined."

"Bringing Up Father" Cartoon Musical Comedy Coming to the Orpheum This Week.

The latest gloom destroyer and novelty attraction, "Bringing Up Father On Broadway" will be the next entertainment at the Orpheum Theatre, October 12th and 13th. From all accounts the offering looms to the fore as one of the best seen hereabouts in seasons, based on the famous cartoons of George McManus. The play, which is in two acts and five scenes and was written by John P. Mulgrew, introduces all the beloved characters who figure in a series of side-splitting adventures and situations. The supporting cast consists of nearly forty capable artists. Matinee Saturday.

New York Winter Garden Show "Spice of 1922."

Rich in color, comedy, artistic numbers and radically different from the usual run of musical shows, "Spice of 1922," exactly as presented at the New York Winter Garden with the original cast and scenic investiture, will be the attraction at the Orpheum Monday and Tuesday night, Oct. 15th and 16th. The company of one hundred people and the mammoth scenery makes this the largest production on a transcontinental tour. Included in the cast are Brendel & Bert, Georgie Price, Sam Hearn, Arman Kaliz, Florence Browne, Alice Ridnor, Johnny Berkes, Martha Throop and twenty other important principals.

Besides assisting in the staging, supplying Julian Mitchell with some new ideas, making the sketches for his printing and arranging the color schemes for both scenery and costumes, Ed Wynn, "The Perfect Fool", wrote the book, lyrics and music of his new musical riot coming to the Orpheum theatre, for two nights commencing Wednesday, October 17th, with a matinee on Thursday.

Trixie Friganza Headlines New Bill Opening at the Liberty Monday.

Trixie Friganza, one of vaudeville's most popular headliners, beloved and enjoyed by all, is coming to the Liberty Monday, to reveal the contents of her new "Bag O' Trix." Miss Friganza, during the past summer, has devoted her time to motion pictures, making her debut in the "Tish" series. Miss Friganza each year keeps her material up to and including the top-notch for timeliness and topical popularity, she always has clever songs, a spicy bit of repartee and new stage tricks that endear her to every theatre-goer. Other Orpheum acts appearing on the big bill are "The Canary Opera," a unique and beautiful musical novelty; Little Pipifax & Co." fourth complete story of "Her Dangerous Path" and news weekly. Music by Babich and his Orchestra. Coming Thursday the Ten Northern Collegians, Harry Breen and other Orpheum offerings.

This Is Corn Carnival Week, Big Shows at the Rialto, Lyric and Colonial.

You can start laughing now, and you won't stop for a long, long time! Jackie Coogan will keep the Rialto theatre in an uproar this week in his latest picture "Daddy." Nothing so fascinating ever screened, "Hollywood" the feature attraction at the Lyric this week shows the amazing adventures of a screen-struck girl who tried to "get in" with the stars of a thousand pictures assembled in one superlative cast. "The Woman with 4 Faces" which appears at the Colonial this week is a melodrama of the polished kind, with plenty of thrills and heart throbs, but no rough edges. All programs will be embellished with good programs of short subjects, music and added attractions.

Charles Ray, whose stardom on the silver screen has made him an idol wherever pictures are shown, has deserted the films for the legitimate stage and will be seen at the Orpheum theatre, Lincoln, for two days beginning Monday, October 22nd, with a special matinee on Tuesday. His first stage starring vehicle will be "The Girl I Loved," adapted for the stage from the poem of James Whitcomb Riley. Every member of Ray's supporting cast has been chosen for a particular type and according to all predictions this will be an attraction that shall delightfully survive for no little time in the minds of Lincoln theatre-goers.

Film Features

"DADDY."

Jackie Savelli—Jackie Coogan.
Paul Savelli—Arthur Carewe.
Helen Savelli—Josie Sedgewick.
Cesare Gallo—Cesare Gravini.
Eben Holden—Bert Woodruff.
Mrs. Holden—Anna Townsend.
Impressario—William Lewis.
Valet—George Kuwa.
Mildred—By Herself.

Jackie Savelli was the little baby son of Paul and Helene Savelli who had separated because of Mrs. Savelli's false belief that her husband was untrue. She took the baby to some aged friends of hers by the name of Holden. After a fruitless search for his wife and baby, the father, Paul Savelli, goes abroad to win distinction as a European violinist. During the years of his absence, the baby grows into boyhood on the Holden farm, his mother dies and the Holdens, coming upon adversity, lose their place and become inmates of the poorhouse. The boy, unwilling to be a further burden on their aged hands, runs away, like Dick Whittington, to make his fortune in the city.

Many adventures await Jackie in the big town. His unusual genious for the violin brings him in contact with Cesare Gallo, a broken-down maestro who now earns a scant living by playing for heedless passersby on the streets. Struck with the ability of the body and by his manly, juvenile charm, old Gallo takes the boy to his attick home and becomes his pal and protector, teaching him, meanwhile how to play the violin with technical skill.

Finally Paul Savelli returns in triumph to America. Gallo, rapidly sinking determines to hear him once more, and see him again, because they had been friends years ago. But Savelli, hurriedly passing into the stage door entrance on the night of his concert didn't recognize his old friend whom he unwittingly insulted by offering him a coin. And then Jackie leads the heart-broken maestro home again, and it is not until later that the old music master greets his old friend Savelli, and Savelli does not recognize the boy Jackie to whom he takes such a fancy as his own little son, either. A lot of things happen before the happy reunion of father and son and eventually the Holdens.

"THE WOMAN WITH FOUR FACES."

Elizabeth West—Betty Compson.
Richard Templer—Richard Dix.
Judge Westcott—George Fawcett.
Jim Hartigan—Theodore Von Eltz.
Judson Osgood—Joseph Kilgour.
Morton—James Farley.
Warden Cassidy—Guy Oliver.
Ralph Dobson—Charles A. Stevenson.
The Boy—Gladden James.
The Mother—Eulalie Jensen.

Elizabeth West is a clever crook and second story worker. She climbed into the window of a hotel, stole some jewels, threw them to a confederate waiting in an automobile below, and then joined in the hue and cry of the chase, but she is recognized by a detective and arrested despite her protests.

In court the next day she is tried and acquitted, for her beauty has impressed itself on the minds of a majority of the jury. Judge Westcott is annoyed at the verdict, and reads the girl a lesson which she listens to nonchalantly. As she is leaving, Richard Templer, prosecuting attorney for the state, enters, glances at her curiously, and then discusses with the judge the need of running down the leaders of a band of traffickers in deadly drugs.

Templer tells the judge that the control of the drug industry is in the hands of five men and that these five men have signed an agreement. Templer's plan, therefore, to break up the ring is to get possession of this agreement displaying these signatures.

The judge is not willing to take the responsibility of issuing a warrant for a search, so the district attorney decides to resign his office and carry on his fight in some other way. Templer enlists the aid of Elizabeth. It is through her that he learns that Jim Hartigan, the greatest safe cracker in the country is in solitary confinement in San Quentin.

Elizabeth's part of the scheme is to get Hartigan out of prison. Dressing like an old woman of eight, the girl interrupts the warden's drunken slumbers, and implores him to let her son Jim enjoy the comparative freedom of the other prisoners. The warden readily consents to give Hartigan as good a chance as the others. The next day while the imprisoned men are playing ball in the yard, an aeroplane swoops down over the prison. Jim, knowing this is for him, grabs the dangling rope ladder, and is drawn upward out of the prison yard.

And then all of the excitement begins, for this is just the first step that Templer and Elizabeth take to get the agreement with the signatures of the five men they are looking for.

"HOLLYWOOD."

Angela Whitaker—Hope Drown.
Joel Whitaker—Luke Cosgrave.
Lem Lefferts—G. K. Arthur.
Grandmother Whitaker—Ruby Lafayette.
Dr. Luke Morrison—Harris Gordon.
Hortense Towers—Bess Flowers.
Margaret Whitaker—Eleanor Lawson.
Horace Pringle—King Zaney.

To Hollywood came Angela Whitaker and her granfather, Joel Whittaker. Grandfather had been ordered west for his health, and Angela came along to see if she could get into the movies. But she neglected to say anything about such an ambition before she left her Aunt Margaret, her grandmother, and a "steady," Lefferts at home.

After days searching for work, Angela returns to the hotel discouraged only to hear grandfather say that he has been "in pictures" all day. Angela is delighted for this means a prolonged stay in Hollywood, and they move to a bungalow to a court uptown. It is here that Angela meets Horace Pringle, a young scenarist, and author of a picture story. "Beware, the Avenging Hand." Almost at once he recognizes Angela as a born star for his production, so he haunts the path of a movie magnate with cards bearing the inscription, "Beware the Avenging Hand" which sinister inscription reduces that individual to a state of nervous apprehension.

By this time Joel has become rather a swagger and gay old sport and is regarded as a regular fellow by the boys and likewise by some of the girls.

And then, Aunt Margaret, Grandmother Whitaker and Lem hear a rumor of what is going on, and decide to go and protect Angela and grandfather against the movies, and when they get there—well, that's another story entirely.

ANSWERS TO Movie Fans

Dear Movie Editor—I will not bother you with many questions today. Where could letters reach Calire Adams, Theda Bara and George Walsh?

Have you the cast of "Once to Every Woman"?

Thanks for the picture of "our Agnes" and don't bother with the rest of the pictures. I shall try my luck with them. Faithfully, I am a fan, ROSE, Wilber, Neb.

Address Miss Adams at the Brunton Studios, Los Angeles, Calif. Theda Bara doesn't give her address now, since she is not working in pictures. I think you would be able to reach her in care of Goldwyn, Culver City, Calif., however, since her husband, Charles rBabin, is a director for that company. Address George Walsh at the Goldwyn Studio, Culver City.

The cast for "Once To Every Woman" is "Aurora Meredith," Dorothy Phillips; "Mathew Meredith," William Ellingford; "Mother Meredith," Mrs. Margaret Mann. "Patience Meredith," Emily Chichester, "Virginia Meredith," Eleanor Field, "Phineas Scudder," Robert Anderson, "Mrs Thorndyke," Mary Wise; "Juliantimo," Rodolph Valentino, "Mrs. Chichester Jones," Rose Gore, "Mr. Chichester Jones," Dan Crimmins, "Duke of Devonshire," Frank Elliott.

I couldn't possible send you the other pictures you asked for, because I didn't have them myself. Hope you are more successful with the stars.

Dear Movie Editor. I am after some information. Will you please tell me the age, color of hair and eyes, height and address of Mary Astor, Sigrid Holmquist, Dorothy Dalton, Agnes Ayres, Gloria Swanson, Eleanor Boardman and Alice Terry?

Not long ago I saw in the paper that Sigrid Holmquist was shot. Was she killed?

Will you please send me a picture of Agnes Ayres, Sigrid Holmquist or substitutes. Thank you,—BETH

I've mailed you the only picture I have on hand at present, and it doesn't happen to be one of your favorites.

Mary Astor is twenty-one and has dark hair and eyes. She's a little over five feet in height and would get letters mailed to her in care of Famous Players-Lasky, New York City. Sigrid Holmquist, the Swedish Mary Pickford, is like her American namesake as it were, a blonde. She's in the early twenties and five feet three in height. Address her at Famous Players-Lasky, Hollywood, Calif. Dorothy Dalton, Agnes Ayres and Gloria Swanson all receive mail at the same studio. Dorothy Dalton was born in 1894 withbrown hair and blue eyes. She's five feet three in height, and Agnes Ayres is five five. Agnes has brown hair and hazel eyes. She's twenty-seven years old. Grolia was born the year of the World's Fair in Chicago. She hasblack hair and blue eyes and is five three in height.

Address Eleanor Boardman in care of Goldwyn, Culver City, Calif. Eleanor is twenty-five and has brown hair and gray eyes. She's five four in height. Alice Terry is an inch over five feet tall, and twenty-seven years od. She has auburn hair and gray ees. Her hair looks light in her pictures, because she always wears a blond wig on the screen. Address her in care of Metro Pictures Corp., Hollywood, Calif.

Dear Movie Editor: I am coming back after a prolonged wait, and I expect you know me.

First, please tell me the address of Charles Jones, Frank Mayo, Barbara Bedford and William Farnum and William Hart.

How long has William Hart been in pictures, and also Barbara Bedford? Please tell me something about them.

How old is Leo Maloney and Josephine Hill, and how long have they been making two reel pictures for Pathe?

What is the cast for "Without Compromise" and "The Cradle of Courage?"

Is Tom Mix making "The Lone Star Ranger?" I have seen the last half of the book in pictures with William Farnum in the lead. How does it happen that another picture is being made?

Who were the girls who played the leading roles in "The Heart of Texas Ryan" and "For Big Stake."

What is the cast for "Fighting Blood?"

Who is "Cheyenne Harry?"

Do many Mexicans work in pictures, or are they mostly "make-up"?

What nationality is Noble Johnson? What part will he have in "The Ten Commandments?" Thanks for space. Would you mind sending me some pictures? Your friend, ARTHUR, Elk Creek, Neb.

Arthur, you neglected to sign your last name this time for pictures. I think I remember it, because I remember your personality well, but I'm not sure, so I can't send you any pictures today.

Address Mr. Jones at 1954 Crasena Drive, Los Angeles, Calif. Frank Mayo lives at 7018 Franklin Ave., Los Angeles, and Barbara Bedford 5269 De Longpre Ave., Hollywood, Calif. William Farnum prefers to have his letters sent to the Fox Studio, Hollywood, Calif., and William Hart is with Famous Players-Lasky, Hollywood, Calif. Mr. Hart has been in pictures about ten years. He organized his own company in 1919. He was born in Newburgh, New York, and when he was just a young boy, was taken west by his parents. He grew up on the plains of Dakota and Idaho, and learned to ride a horse like an Indian and shoot with either hand. He got his first small chance on the stage in a New York production of "Hamlet." He made his first screen appearance as a wto-gun man in a western picture. He's six feet and one inch tall and weighs 190. His eyes are blue and he has black hair.

Barbara Bedford has only been in pictures a little over three years. She made her screen debut in "Deep Waters," a Maurice Tourneur production. Miss Bedford was born in Prairie Du Chien, Wisconsin and educated at Lake View. She has dark hair and eyes and is ive feet six inches tall. In private life, she is Mrs Albert Roscoe.

Leo Maloney is thirty-five years old, and Miss Hill was born in 1835. Don't know just how long they have been under contract with Pathe, several months.

The cast for "Without Compromise" is "Dick Leighton," William Farnum, "Jean Ainsworth," Lois Wilson, "David Ainsworth," Robert McKim; "Samuel McAllister," Tully Marshall, "Judge Gordon Randolph," Hardee Kirkland; "Doctor Evans," Otis Harlan, "Bill Murray," Will Walling, "Nora Foster," Alma Bennett; "Tommy Ainsworth," Eugene Pallette; "Cass Blake," Fred Kohler; "Jackson," Jack Dillon.

"The Cradle of Courage" cast: "Square Kelly," William Hart, "Rose Tienney," Ann Little; "Tierney," Thomas Stantschi; "Mother Kelly," Gertrude Claire; "Jim Kelly," Francis Thorwalk; "Lieut. Riley," George Williams.

"The Fighting Blood" cast: "Gale Galen," George O'Hara; "Judy Wilcox," Clara Horton; "Raggs Dempster," Arthur Rankin, "K. O. Kelly," Kit Guard; "Ajarah Stubbs," William Courtright; "Spence," M. C. Ryan; "Nate Sharpio," Albert Cooke; "Mrs. Wilcox," Mabel Van Buren.

I can't give you the leading ladies in "The Heart of Texas Ryan," and "For Big Stakes." It's been six years since the first picture was released.

Yes, Tom Mix has made "The Lone Star Ranger." It is true that William Farnum starred in the picture several years ago,—by the same company too. Tom Mix is sad to be just the ideal type for the hero, and they probably couldn't resist the temptation to feature him in the story, too. Mary Pickford, you know, made "Tess of the Storm Country" twice.

Roy Stewart was "Cheyenne Harry" in "The Westerners." Is that who you mean?

If the "Mexican" has a leading role in the picture, you may be very sure he is a leading man "made up," unless it should be somebody like Ramon Novarro, but the Mexicans you see in the "mob scenes" in pictures are no doubt real Mexicans, who are playing as "extras" for two or three dollars a day. There is a real Mexican settlement close to Los Angeles, —and then you know it's not a long trip down to Mexico from Los Angeles, so it's not hard to get "local color" for a Mexican scene.

Noble Johnson is an American, born in Colorado. He is not one of the featured players in "The Ten Commandments," and I have not yet received the completed cast for the picture, so I can't tell ou just what his role is until later.

Dear Movie Editor: I am just a new fan, and have never written to you before. I enjoy reading your letters very much. I have a great many questions to ask you. Will you please tell me the age, weight, height and color of hair and eyes of Charles Jones, May McAvoy, Harrison Ford, Ann Forrest, Rodolph Valentino, Constance Talmadge, Milton Sills, and Tony Moreno?

Is Tony Moreno married? Do you think Mary Miles Minter will ever get back on the screen? Did Roscoe Arbuckle ever get back on the screen?

What does it require to get on the screen? How much do you have to weigh, or does it make any difference? What color eyes and hair do you have to have?

Will you please give me Tony Moreno's address? I am your fan, BOBBY, Tecumseh, Neb.

I'm glad to "shake hands" with you, Bobby. I'll have to put you on the waiting list for pictures.

Charles Jones was born with brown hair and gray eyes, nearly forty years ago. He lacks a quarter of an inch of being six feet tall, and weighs 173 pounds. May seems small compared with Charles. She's an inch under five feet in height, and weighs only 94 pounds. She has blue eyes and brown hair and is twenty-two years old.

Harrison Ford has dark hair and eyes. He was born in 1894 and is five feet ten inches tall and weighs 160.

Rodolph has black hair and eyes. He's twenty-eight years old and weighs 154. He's an inch taller than Harrison. Milton Sills was born in 1881, and has brown hair. Tony Moreno is another dark complexioned man. He's five feet eleven inches tall and thirty-five years old. He was a bachelor for thirty some years, but he was inveigled into marriage about a year ago by a widow, Mrs Danziger of Los Angeles. Address him at the Los Angeles Athletic club, or in care of Famous Players-Lasky at their Hollywood studio.

Ann Forrest is twenty-six years old. She's a blond, five feet two inches tall, and weighs 104. Constance Talmadge was born in 1900 with golden brown hair and brown eyes. She's five feet in height and weighs 120.

Mary Miles Minter has no screen contract at the present time.

Mr. Roscoe Arbuckle's comeback was not a success, so he's contenting himelf with appearing on the vaudeville screen at times, running a restaurant occasionally and doing a little directing.

The requirements of the screen are many including beauty, brains and personality. Personality is one of the greatest assets in a screen career. Of course dark eyes photograph better than blue or gray, and light hair gives a sort of "halo" effect that can't be obtained with a dark haired subject. Regular features, and prett teeth add a lot, from the cameraman's view, but "make-up" can do a great deal too. It depends upon what kind of a player ou want to be, as to your height and weight. Some characteh actresses can be tall, and a great many comedians are fleshy, like Babe London, but if you want to be a bathing beauty, you must be slender. It's much easier to put on extra weight than it is to take it off.

And remember, it's not the easiest thing in the world to get on the screen in the first place, and after you do have an opportunity to play in pictures, it often means years of hard work before you are advanced to stardom. Think of the many motion picture players you see on the screen, and have seen on the screen for years in the cast of pictures, who have not yet obtained the privilege of being called a star.

In reality, it is not nearly so romantic and thrilling to be a movie star as it looks like it would be. They work hard and have long hours. When they are not working before the camera they are studying their parts—there's not much play about it.

Dear Movie Editor: Will you kindly tell me the name of the actor who played the role of the "Chevalier" in "The Orphans of the Storm?" Isn't he playing in pictures anymore, I never see him. Is he married? I thought he had one of the most attractive personalities I have even seen on the screen. How old is he? —THANK YOU.

Joseph Schildkraut was the "Chevalier de Vaudrey" in the Griffith picture. He is a recruit from the New York stage, and is now playing opposite Norma Talmadge in "Dust of Desire." Yes, there's a Mrs Schildkraut. Joseph is twenty-seven. He went to California to play the leading role in the Goldwyn picture, "Master of Man," but he decided he was not the type for the role, so he signed up with Miss Talmadge.

Dear Movie Editor: I am coming to you for a little different information than you usually are asked to give, and you may not be able to give it to me, but I hope you can. I am much interested in the "Aesop's Fables," that run at the theatres once in a while, and I should like to have you tell me, if you can, how the drawings are made, and who is responsible for them. I think they are the cleverest comedies we see. I will be very much obliged to you for any information you can give me about them. Yours sincerely,—MRS. M. F.

The Aesop's Fables, "Sugar Coated Pills of Wisdom," are the work of Paul Terry, a young cartoonist, who formerly did cartooning for a newspaper syndicate. Mr. Terry, himself, outlines each fable. He employs seventeen young men to help produce the pictures. He is able to make one a week. It often takes as many as 4,000 drawings to make one picture 500 feet long. As many as 200 exposures are necessary to make a cat fall off a cliff, and a man often works hours making the wink which is to go on the cat another man is drawing. Another artist may spend a day making a fly ride a bicycle around a corner.

The drawings are done on tissue paper, then transferred to celluloid in ink. The celluloid sheets are then placed over stationary backgrounds and photographed onto the films. Speed is regulated by the number of pictures. If a figure is to dive through the air very fast, fewer pictures are necessary than when the same figure is to move slowly.

Each wiggle of a cat's tail that we see in the Fables, and every wink or lift of an eyebrow, has perhaps taken an artist hours to work out, but few of us realize that fact, when we are enjoying the funny capers of Mr. Terry's clever animals.

Dear Movie Editor: Why do we never see Francis Bushman and Beverly Bayne on the screen anymore? I always admired them so much, and thought they made such a good team. Have they left the movies altogether. I saw Francis' son, Ralph Bushman, on the screen, but I don't think he is nearly as good looking as his father.

Is Victor Potel married? And dear Editor, would you please tell me if there is a Carew, an actor, and a Carew, a director, or if they are the same man. I've seen so much about a man named Carew in pictures, and I'm sure I've noticed that same name as a director in pictures. Please explain it to me. Are they related,—if they are two different men? And that's all for this time.—ALMA.

Francis Bushman and Beverly Bayne have been touring on the vaudeville stage for sometime past, but they did make a picture, not so many months ago. It is called "Modern Marriages."

There is a Mrs. Potel.

There are two Carews, an actor, and a director. Arthur Edmund Carew is the actor. Just now he's playing with Norma Talmadge in "Dust of Desire." He was born in Trebizond, Armenia, and educated in Constantinople, and is not related to Edwin Carewe the director, who has a final "E" on the end of his name.

Screen Siftings

Paul Parrott had his nose broken and several teeth knocked out recently in an auto accident. He was returning from a deer hunt at El Segundo.

Riley Hatch has been added to the cast of "West of the Water Tower," Glenn Hunter's first Paramount picture which is now in production at the Long Island studio, under the direction of Rollin Sturgeon. Mr. Hatch will play the part of "Cod Dugan," the pool hall proprietor. Other players in the picture are May McAvoy, Zasu Pitts, Anne Schaef, Ernest Torrence, George Fawcett and Charles Abbe.

Charley Chaplin is appearing without a mustache for the first time in his screen career. He plays the role of a comedy butler in "He Temporary Husband" which John McDermott is directing for First National, and since no self-respecting butler ever wore a mustache, Mr. Chaplin sacrificed his for the sake of his art.

Arthur Edmund Carew, who recently played the role of Svengali in the screen version of Trilby, has been cast as an Arab chieftain in Norma Talmadge's latest production, "Dust of Desire," which is being made for First National release.

Jimmie Adams has been learning the oil business, from the ground up, or down, rather. He has been on location at Signal Hill, Long Beach, where 485 oil derricks loom up in the landscape, for his latest two reel Christie Comedy, "Done in Oil."

Take Your Troubles to Minerva

Is the Harem Plan of Restricting Wives Safer After All Than the Modern Method of Freedom? — Question of How Much Liberty Husbands Should Permit Their Wives, and the Contrary, is Opened—One Reader Says The Average Humans Are Psychologically Incapable of Taking the Risk.

Generous or Foolish?

Is the husband who permits his wife to receive favors and attentions from other men generous or foolish? Is he giving her the privileges she should have, in this free modern age, and does a greater understanding and love come through such unrestricted relations? Or is the husband throwing the wife into temptations which may be too strong for her and is this endangering the home?

And when the wife adopts a liberal attitude and says "I want my husband to enjoy the companionship of other women. I want his love given to me freely, and for him to prefer me to other women, not to stay with me because he is forced to do so"—is she courting diaster? Or is she holding her husband's love through that method of giving him free rein? Are men and women psychologically capable of taking such risks? These questions are presented in the following letter.

Dear Minerva: I have been married three years and I love my husband, home and baby dearly. But I do get restless and feel unnecessarily tied at home, and to my husband. For my husband has very old-fashioned ideas. All the other young women of my acquaintance are privileged to enjoy the friendship of other men. When couples go out together, they change partners for the evening, which relieves the monotony of always being with your own husband, and gives you an opportunity of having interesting friendships together or swim, and sometimes one with other men. They also play golf couple will go and dance while the others go to a show, and such things. All harmless and jolly.

But my husband is a hopeless prig He says that after a man and woman marry that there is no place in their lives for the friendship of others of opposite sex. He regards the innocent liberties of modern young people as "license" and says it is dangerous and unnatural. He always stays right with me when we are in in a group and we are kidded a lot about it. He doesn't enjoy swimming in the least but will go in and shiver around rather than let me go in with other men who do enjoy it and are good swimmers.

It isn't so much that he is jealous but that he just thinks it is a mistake to allow such mixing up. He says when you marry you put such frivolous thoughts behind you. I cannot see why you should. I always enjoyed palling around with men, more so than chumming with women And although I love my husband dearly I don't enjoy being sentenced to his companionship all the rest of my life.

Please give me your opinion. Am I in the right or wrong? ELMA.

A. I believe the ideal condition would be for the husband and wife to so thoroughly understand each other that whatever amount of companionship and friendship with those of other sex was desired would be all right. In this ideal conception of married life, of course, there would be no gossips to miscontrue incidents, no pettiness to magnify trifles, no weaknesses subject to exploitation.

But humans being as they are, I don't know just how far liberties of friendship with other men and women may be wisely carried. I would very much like the opinion of others on this topic. Tell me what you think about it. Mr. and Mrs. Young Married Folks, and also those of an older, more experienced age.

Answering a Bachelor Dream.

"Scotch Bachelor" invites criticism I am not sure that I have any to make. So rare and beautiful is the nobility of such a soul!

He advances so many wonderfully beautiful thoughts that any thinking person can not digest them all in a short time.

To begin, he is quite a physician and a master psychologist, and is well worth listening to as a polished reformer, of that never ending sex problem that has bothered refined people since the beginning of time.

"Just me" helped me to answer that question of motherhood: Not two-thirds of the girls who marry are wishing even to become mothers at all. Marriages are made with all sorts of ideas in view.

We are living in a very changeable age That probably was the normal instinct at one time, if it was, we are abnormals now. And I speak from experience as a practical nurse. If you could hear the piteous wail of married women that it has been my privilege to listen to, you would know that "Scotch Bachelor" speaks with great authenticity, and many of these women in question would willingly change for half so virtuous a life partner as he is educated to be.

As a class men do not understand women or there would be less exploiting; neither do women understand men. Hence so many unhappy marriages. So much false modesty has prevailed in past ages is the reason. People do not understand or make out of an engagement what God really intended it for.

"Bachelor" makes one very liberal statement that might lead a little away from the true path. That is: Allowing every social freedom of the unmarried. He assumes absolute virtue of course, on the part of both. In such cases it is alright. But please allow me to cite a circumstance that I know more about than I care to for my own peace of mind.

A handsome cultured girl married a high-salaried business man, ten years her senior who took her to a city to live, where privileges of the married and unmarried are accepted in common. He allowed her all reasonable privileges of going with nice men, and he did the same if he chose to. His business hours take a great deal of his energy and some of his good disposition. There are two children in that home now, seven years apart. He demands motherly attention (as he has a perfect right to) on her part, doesn't want them, especially the youngest, committed into the hands of a nurse girl or nurse very often. She silently rebels when criticism is visited upon her. She doesn't like to work very well, had rather play the piano—all she had to do in her singel state She secretly told me the failing of going out with other men was: Seeing their better behavior, less domineering, sweeter, lovlier dispositions caused her to so thoroughly analyze her own husband, that she was so dissatisfied with him, and were it not for her children she would break her marriage vow.

Now will "Scotch Bachelor" explain this away. And does he think, taking people on the whole, that they are psychologically capable of assuming that risk. I thoroughly agree with him if people are certain of themselves, that great benefit is derived in those social liberties.

Let me say to those girls who were writing, "No sissy for me." The time may come when you will wish you might exchange for a "sissy." Instead of criticising "Scotch Bachelor" let us wish for more such men as he. You have not stopped to think what just a few evenings in a home of your own would mean with such a husband in it. Some of you will find men who will be out at night neglecting you. Then will come the sad awakening with many silent hours for reflection.

The real trouble is that such men as "Bachelor" seldom marry. Like I've been told: "Why don't you marry and show us an old maid can exemplify a perfect and never failing love. You are looking for too much perfection and youll not find it.

Thinking people all know that individual love is one of the highest activities of the mind. And they also know, that it is only one of the essentials to complete a happy life. Love is seldom found in elemental supply, usually in combination—endless combination. The pretty, emptyheaded boy or girl, who thinks it exists only in fancy of mind, will discover when the beauty fades, that it all was a dream and nothing real.

In closing let me congratulate "Scotch Bachelor" for daring to have printed what he believed to be right. "AVELEE."

The Sunday Spirit.

Dear Minerva: I very much deplore the loss of the Sunday spirit particularly among young folks of today and wonder what can be done about it. Last Sunday when we stepped out of church, after listening to a sacred service of inspirational order, our ears were profaned by the wild honking of many autos loaded with golfers, picnickers and revelvers of all sorts, young people shrieking with laughter and openly regarding Sunday only as a time for gaiety and pleasure.

We do not have Sunday theatres in Lincoln but we do have Sunday revelers. Our neighbors on both sides make a practice of card playing or dancing on Sunday evening. They gather in groups of friends for Sunday night lunch, which we suspect is often punctuated by spiked drinks and then they spend the evening shrieking over cards or dancing to the victrola music.

It seems to me that even if people have no respect themselves for Sunday quiet that they could have more consideration for others. What do you think, Minerva? MRS. BACKNUMBER.

A. As a matter of good manners only, aside from any personal religious opinions and church associations, everyone should certainly show a certain amount of regard for Sunday. Not only are hilarious motorists and card players in offence, but the parents who permit their children to play noisily on the streets on the Sabbath day.

In this day of all sorts of mechanical music contrivances, many people are far too thoughtless of neighbors in grinding out music all day long. Phonographs and mechanical pianos are turned on and left playing from early morning until late at night. Card playing is approved by many really religious people and yet there are many who have no religious connections whatever who disapprove of card playing on Sunday. Those who believe in it should at least play unobtrusively and quietly in order not to offend those who are opposed to this Sunday pastime. We are none of us free from consideration of others, no matter if we do live in a free country.

Lay Cornerstone of City Hospital

With simple ceremonies, the corner stone of the new Lincoln General hospital was laid Tuesday morning, the presence of members of the hospital board and representatives from the schools, civic societies, and clubs of the city. The main address was given by Dr. A. L Weatherly, former pastor of All Souls' Unitarian church, now of Iowa City, in whose thoughts the great need of a hospital was first conceived and who, with four or five others, have worked through the years toward the realization of their dream.

Dr. J. J. Hompes, president of the Lancaster medical profession, spoke briefly of the spiritual significance of the hospital. Dr. W. T. Elmore of the First Baptist church pronounced the invocation and the speakers were introduced by Mayor Frank Zehrung. Mayor Zehrung, Rev. Weatherly, and O. J. Fee, secretary of the board, spread the mortar for the stone and it was swung into place to "America" sung by the audience.

Wesleyan Affairs

Miss Pearl Fosnot, '17, who was also graduated from the Wesleyan school of expression writes from Behludin, China, where she spent her vacation in the mountain resort built and used by foreigners from Chengtu. Miss Fosnot is a teacher in the Methodist day school at Tzechpw, Szechwan.

Miss Fosnot has given readings in Chinese and English for her friends in China. She has recently purchased a folding organ for use in her services of worship. The funds for this were contributed by members of Miss Fosnots' sorority at Wesleyan.

NEW METHOD OF REDUCING FAT

A news item from abroad informs us that the American method of producing a slim trim figure, is meeting with astonishing success. This system, which has made such a wonderful impression over there, must be the Marmola Prescription Tablet method of reducing fat. It is safe to say that we have nothing better for this purpose in this country. Anything that will reduce the excess flesh steadily and easily without injury to the stomach or the causing of wrinkles, and without the help of exercising, dieting, or absurd greases and salves, is a mighty important and useful addition to civilization's necessities. Just such a catalog of good results follow the use of these pleasant harmless and economical little fat reducers. We say economical because Marmola Prescription Tablets (made in accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription) can be obtained of any druggist the world over or from the Marmola Company, 4612 Woodward, Ave., Detroit, Mich., for one dollar a case, which is a decidedly economical price, considering the number of tablets each case contans. They are harmless.—Advertisement.

Oily skin

How you can correct it

An oily, shiny skin is not only unattractive in itself—it is especially liable to infection from dust.

You can overcome this condition by using, each night, the following treatment:

FIRST cleanse your skin by washing in your usual way with Woodbury's Facial Soap and luke-warm water. Wipe off the surplus moisture, but leave the skin slightly damp. Now with warm water work up a heavy lather of Woodbury's Facial Soap in your hands. Apply it to your face and rub it into the pores thoroughly. Rinse with warm water, then with cold. Then rub your face for a few seconds with a piece of ice.

Within a week or ten days this treatment will bring about a marked improvement.

Get a cake of Woodbury's today, at any drug store or toilet goods counter. A 25-cent cake lasts a month or six weeks for this treatment and for regular toilet use.

HOOLIGAN, I AM GOING TO APPOINT YOU MY VALET. I HOPE YOU'RE GOOD AT SHAVING. WHENEVER A VALET CUTS ME I ALWAYS HAVE HIM EXECUTED.
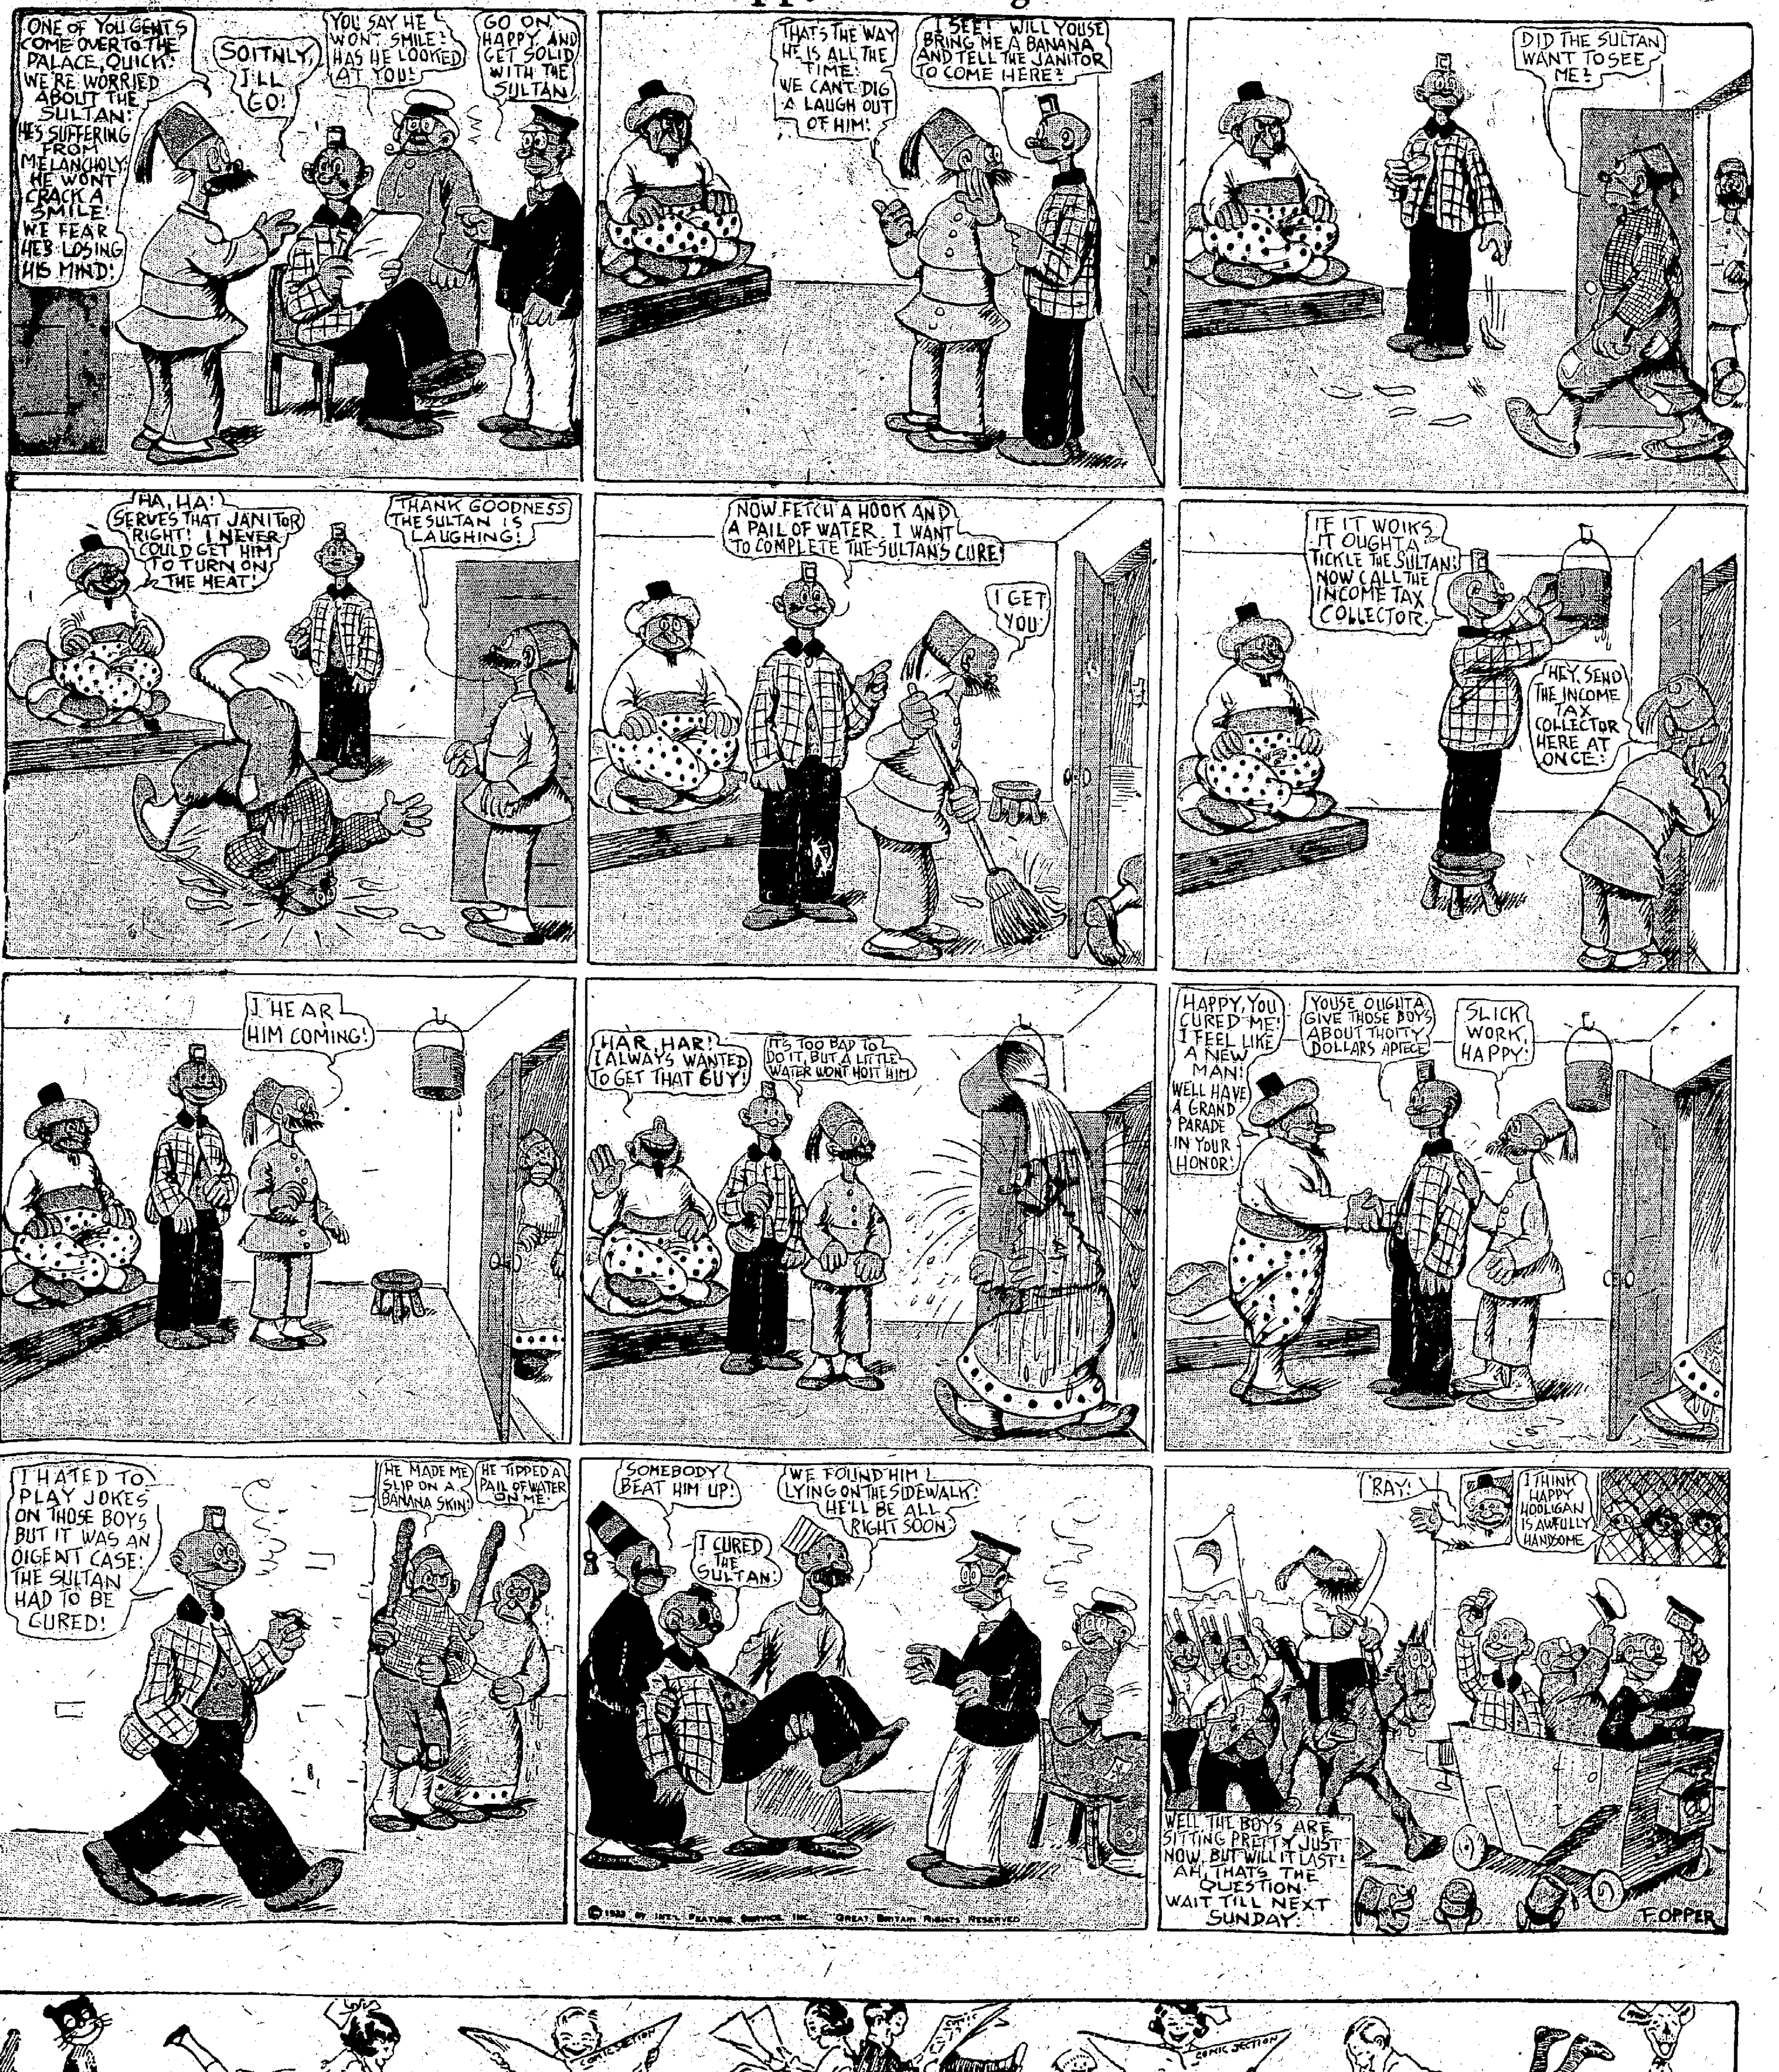
HAW HAW!
HO HO!
HAR HAR!

Happy Hooligan



ONE OF YOU GENTS COME OVER TO THE PALACE, QUICK! WE'RE WORRIED ABOUT THE SULTAN! HE'S SUFFERING FROM MELANCHOLY! HE WON'T CRACK A SMILE! WE FEAR HE'S LOSING HIS MIND!
SOITNLY, I'LL GO!
YOU SAY HE WON'T SMILE? HAS HE LOOKED AT YOU!
GO ON, HAPPY, AND GET SOLID WITH THE SULTAN.
THAT'S THE WAY HE IS ALL THE TIME! WE CAN'T DIG A LAUGH OUT OF HIM!
I SEE! WILL YOUSE BRING ME A BANANA AND TELL THE JANITOR TO COME HERE?
DID THE SULTAN WANT TO SEE ME?
THANK GOODNESS THE SULTAN IS LAUGHING!
NOW FETCH A HOOK AND A PAIL OF WATER. I WANT TO COMPLETE THE SULTAN'S CURE!
I GET YOU!
IF IT WOIKS IT OUGHTA TICKLE THE SULTAN! NOW CALL THE INCOME TAX COLLECTOR.
I HEAR HIM COMING!
HAR, HAR! I ALWAYS WANTED TO GET THAT GUY!
IT'S TOO BAD TO DO IT, BUT A LITTLE WATER WON'T HOIT HIM
HAPPY, YOU CURED ME! I FEEL LIKE A NEW MAN! WE'LL HAVE A GRAND PARADE IN YOUR HONOR!
YOUSE OUGHTA GIVE THOSE BOYS ABOUT THOITY DOLLARS APIECE
SLICK WORK, HAPPY!
I HATED TO PLAY JOKES ON THOSE BOYS BUT IT WAS AN OIGENT CASE! THE SULTAN HAD TO BE CURED!
HE MADE ME SLIP ON A BANANA SKIN!
HE TIPPED A PAIL OF WATER ON ME.
SOMEBODY BEAT HIM UP!
I CURED THE SULTAN!
